

Paddlers Win OHCRA Regatta, 3rd in Kaupiko

Outrigger paddlers captured the Oahu Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association championship on July 20, after finishing third in the John D. Kaupiko Regatta on July 13.

In beautiful conditions at Keehi Lagoon, Club crews won nine races en route to scoring 75 points for the Oahu championship. Kailua, the winner of two regattas this season, tallied 73 points and seven race victories to come in second. Hui Lanakila also won seven races but finished four points back with 69 points. Lanikai, the winner in six previous regattas, amassed 62 points.

"It takes us awhile to get everybody going, get everybody focused. When we finally do, we perform well," Outrigger coach Anthony Hunt told the Honolulu Advertiser. "We're going to try to do better next year. If we could win at the beginning of the year, we'd do it. We try every week, but there's just something about us." Outrigger has captured seven of the last nine Oahu championships.

After the first 16 races, Outrigger was in fourth place, 12 points behind the regatta leader with 23 points. But Hunt said that the upper division programs turned the tide for Outrigger. Six of the nine race victories came from the adults.

The freshmen men started the comeback by winning their race by a second. From there, Outrigger took second in the next two events, before sweeping the junior men's and women's races.

The senior men completed the afternoon assault with a 13-second victory over Hui Nalu. Outrigger actually won 10 races but was later disqualified in event 33, the 55 mixed, after video replay showed the crew had outside assistance at the beginning of the race. The infraction reduced the final margin of victory but did not change the outcome. It was Outrigger's only disqualification of the day.

A Romp Through the Swamp

By Katy Bourne

The OCC Mud Slingers team began the adventure on Saturday, July 26 at 5 a.m. with a call from Captain Clayton saying, "It's raining so hard I can't see, and there's thunder and lightning everywhere. I responded, "Do you truly think it will be called off due to swamp conditions?"

Our team of Linda Fernandez, Jen McTigue, Scott LaRue, Clayton Chee, Matt Kresser and Katy Bourne, took off from a field on Kaneohe Marine Base at 7:30 a.m. prepared for battle.

Jen gave us a pre-race briefing of how her mate Tommy had drilled her on belly crawling under barbed wire which I realized was valuable information when I was told my "sweet — would be shot off if it rose up one more time."

Matt arrived with weather proof motor cross pants, cowboy boots and a bright sparkling white OCC running team top. Amid a field of hundreds of Marines in camouflage attire and military boots, Matt received a barrage of greetings.

Luckily Scott had duct tape to tape the bottom of everyone's pants, leaving Matt to carry all the mud and water his pants could hold. Scott had all the right attire down to the hair cut and cleared his path showing his officers training had paid off.

Linda smiled the whole way in disbelief after crawling into dozens of mud holes and tunnels, running through sand, being catapulted over a 10-foot wall, being shot at, fire-hosed, jumping over logs and ocean swimming with her now 80-pound fancy boots.

Jen found her pace and although she was smaller than anyone out there, she wiggled past the Marines like they were standing still. Her training in the living room under Tom's strict supervision paid off.

Not all OCC running team events are as grueling as the Swamp Romp. Keep your eyes open for upcoming events posted in the Tunnel on the runner's board. All sign-ups are located at the Front Desk. No experience is needed and all levels are welcome. The next big event is the beautiful Hana Relays in September. Don't miss the fun.
