

Daddy Haine Remembered at Annual Volleyball Tourney

Tony Ching thunders a ball past the huge block of Jon Andersen and Jon Hedlund.

On Sunday, August 31, the 9th Annual Daddy Haine 4-Person Draw Volleyball Tournament was held in the green cages of our Outrigger Canoe Club. For those who missed it, it was a day of great digs, thunderous spikes, unbelievable matches, and of course, a little controversy.

While the sun and Daddy's presence engulfed the sand throughout the day, 16 randomly drawn teams of four competed in honor of arguably the greatest volleyball player that the OCC has ever seen.

Mama Marilyn Haine sat proud and watched the new crop of talented volleyballers play hard, one being her son, Marc, who thrilled the stands with his spectacular plays. Unfortunately for Marc and Mama, Marc's team came up a little short in a controversial final that as usual ended in the dark.

It was the team of the ageless Chris Crabb, Arri Jeschke, Kurt Vaughn and Mike Lyons that peaked at the right time to take the trophy home.

For those who took part in the tournament, whether playing or just spectating, pat yourself on the back for another great Daddy Haine tourney. Daddy would have been proud. Until next Labor Day, these courts are officially closed!

All the players gathered in a circle around Daddy's court for a short blessing before play began.
