

WHY NOT REVIVE WATER SPORTS

The other day on the beach at the Beach Services Office, I heard a conversation among a group of our younger members. The talk was about the time several years ago when the sport of water polo was introduced using surf boards for the players. This sport was an exciting and arduous game which brought out the best in skill in the use of the surf-board and good sportsmanship. The cry was, "Why can't we start a polo team like that?" Yes, why not? There are plenty of skillful surfers, full of energy and willing to play, if they can find a coach. There is plenty of competition as the Hui Nalu, the group at the Tavern and the Beach Services would all no doubt enter teams in competition. The spectacle is most interesting, fast and exciting to the spectator and the tourists would love it. We can remember Panama Dave, Ernsteberg, Colgate, all the Kahanamokus and a host of other skilled surfers out there in front of the club battling for goals with that polo ball. Speed, skill, stamina and strength were needed and these were all displayed with great gusto. How about it you older fellows, Duke, Serge, Sam, Sally—you fellows who know the rules, know how to train the boys, why not get in and organize a group. Sally Hale says he will act as a registrar, will get his group to help place the buoys and assist in every way, if a team or teams are organized. Any volunteer coach or any prospective player, see Sally Hale at the Beach Services.
