FORECAST

Issued by the BOARD OF DIRECTORS

FORECAST — Ed Greaney, Chairman; Norman Godbold, III, Harvey Wilson, Pat Wyman, Traylor Mercer.

DIRECTORS

R. Q. Smith, who in business life is president of Pacific Chemical & Fertilizer Co. and chairman of the board of the Pacific Guano Co., a PC&F subsidiary in California, has left on a two to three-month business trip.

Martin Anderson, vice president of the club and partner in the law firm of Anderson, Wrenn & Jenks, also has gone to the mainland and expects to be gone for a month.

This leaves Ward Russell, club secretary, as the ranking officer in charge. Ward is executive assistant to the president of Hawaiian Telephone Co. and well-known Republican Party figure. By the time the Forecast is out, he probably will have announced his candidacy for the Territorial House.

At a recent directors meeting, Smith reported to the Board that he had received a phone call from John Avent who said he and his associates were making plans for an elaborate club on the present Outrigger site. Avent suggested a possibility of the Outrigger working with them.

He requested a meeting for a further discussion on this subject, and Smith advised him that when his plans were more concrete—which Avent indicated could be six months from now—the club would be happy to meet and discuss the matter with him.

BURTON HOLMES

Burton Holmes, "father of the movie travelogue" and one of the founding fathers of the Outrigger, died on July 22, 1958, at Hollywood at the age of 88.

Mr. Holmes, who urged creation of the club in March of 1908 a month before it was organized, first visited Waikiki in 1898 and made the first movies of Outrigger canoeing and surfing. Ten years later on March 3, he returned aboard the Siberia and urged a canoeing sports club at Waikiki. He was one of the Outrigger's founding fathers and his passing leaves very few associated with the beginnings of the club.

The lean, bearded lecturer died during his sleep at his Hollywood home, which was once occupied by the matinee idol Francis X. Bushman. Mr. Holmes had been in retirement since 1950 and in failing health for months.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratford Lord Whiting welcomed their first child, a son, on July 21 at Queen's Hospital. Stratford Lord Whiting II weighed in at 7 pounds 15½ ounces and was named after his father. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Berg are the proud maternal grandparents and the paternal grandparents are Mrs. F. H. N. Whiting and the late Mr. Whiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herzog of Prospect Heights, Illinois, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Waggoner at the club during their visit to the Islands. Mr. Herzog is general sales manager of Accent International of Chicago.

A group of friends joined Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Burgess for cocktails and dinner at the Outrigger on Aug. 1, before attending a performance of "Carousel" at the Honolulu Community Theater. Honored guests were

Mr. and Mrs. James Ferguson of Piedmont, California, and Colonel C. H. Donnelly of Washington, D.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Derr (B. A. Darrow) are the parents of a girl, Stephanie Ann, born July 22 at Kapiolani Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Porter Head (Bobo Darrow) have returned to the Islands with their infant daughter, Brenda Leilani. Billy is registered as a senior at the University and is on the football squad.

Mrs. Wiley F. Cairns (Patricia Darrow) received her degree from the University of Tampa and will teach in the Miami area, while Wiley finishes his senior year at the University of Miami.

Buddy and Dick are partners in another promotion firm in Australia and have associates in Manila—so they're really building up a "Pacific circuit" for name entertainers.

They have ventured from the mortgage business (Global Enterprises is another Ackerman-Conklin production) into show business — quite a switch.

Bob Anderson and Ed Frank have moved their Merchants Delivery Service to imposing new quarters on Cooke St. They have also incorporated the fast-growing business.

Malie Lutz and Duke Kahanamoku celebrated birthdays the end of last month. Duke is 68, but a lady's age is "off the record."

Vic Kahn is off to Europe for a two months' vacation. First stop is Amsterdam. Seems like our globe-trotting investment analyst just got back from Hong Kong. Oh, to be a carefree bachelor.

A former Outrigger member vacationed in the Islands last month. He is Robert H. Bolman, who came to the Islands upon graduating from Stanford in 1927 and worked for Bishop Trust until returning to the mainland in 1936. He is now vice president of the Bank of California and manager of its Oakland branch. His wife, Edith, and daughter, Sylvia, accompanied him and made their headquarters at the Halekulani Hotel.

Charlie Humme is recovering from a stroke at Queen's Hospital and expects to be moved to the Children's Hospital rehabilitation center. Understand he is doing well but still couldn't have visitors when the Forecast went to press.

Buddy Ackerman and Dick Conklin have ventured into the entertainment promotion business, called Headliners, which is bringing singer Billy Eckstine to the Civic Auditorium next month.

"Aloha Nui Nui... and don't forget to call..."

Golden rule days are here again . . . and here's another Golden Rule for Island youngsters who go away to school . . . Don't forget to call home regularly. And here's a tip . . . Nights and Sundays it's cheaper. (Only $5.25 plus tax for 3 minutes to seven western states nights and Sundays Station-to-Station.) No matter where your school's located, it's only seconds away from home by transpacific telephone cable. Why not arrange with Dad to get a telephone credit card for your own use?

THE TUDOR PERIOD

An Open Letter To Mr. Tudor:

This open letter is to show a small form of appreciation by the staff of the Forecast.

Our appreciation for your kindness, your cooperation, and your sincere willingness to help. But firstly, this letter is being written to thank you in this most informal way for the wonderful job you have done as the new manager of the Outrigger Canoe Club in the short time that you have been with us. Much is to be said about the innovation made in the entertainment, new menu in the dining room, and the Hau Terrace.

I am sure that many of the members of the Outrigger Canoe feel the same way and were they all able to voice in this letter there will be an unanimous round of applause and a bravo, well done.

One of the things, I may say, that has most impressed me, as an individual, is the professional manner in which you have handled the club and its membership.

The short time that you have been with us has proven emphatically that you being named as our new manager was a stroke of luck mingled with genius.

Mahalo, mahalo nui loa,

P.S. May your stay with us be long, prosperous and enjoyable.

OUTRIGGER PADDLERS WIN TITULAR CANOE REGATTA

LIHUE, Kauai — The Outrigger Canoe Club of Honolulu, coached by George Downing, scored 36 points to capture the 1958 Territorial canoe racing championship at Nawiliwili Harbor.

An estimated 2,000 persons braved high winds and rain to take in the 10-event program which honored John D. Kaupiko, Sr., veteran Hui Nalu coach and canoe racing enthusiast.

The OCC paddlers placed first in four events and also finished in second place four times. Two other OCC crews finished in third place in their respective events.

Waikiki Surf, which took the men's senior six two-mile blue ribbon event, was second in the team standings with 24 points. Kai Oni followed with 18 and Kai Opua of Kona, Hawaii, was third with 8. Following were Kauai and Lanikai with 7 each, Healani 6, Hui Nalu 3 and Hui Kalia 1.

Waikiki's winning crew in the two-mile race was made up of Dutchy Kino, Moses Perkins, Conrad Canha, Rodney Botelho, Blackie Makaena and Blue Makua. The winning time was 15:02.3.

Outrigger's victory gave Downing's club its fourth straight canoe championship this year.

All times turned in established records for the course. This marked the first time Kauai has held the Territorial championships.

The OCC Canoe Team at Kauai during the Territorial Races.

The races were conducted by the Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association with Paul Jones in charge of the race committee.

Awards were presented last night at a banquet at Kauai Inn.

The results:

Boys 13 and under, $\frac{1}{4}$ mile—1. Kai Opuu. 2. Outrigger. 3. Hui Nalu. 4. Healani. Time: 1:46.5.
 Women novice, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile—1. Waikiki Surf. 2. Outrigger. 3. Healani. 4. Lanikai. Time: 5:04.2.
 Boys novice, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile—1. Kai Oni. 2. Outrigger. 3. Waikiki Surf. 4. Kauai. Time: 4:33.2.
 Boys 15 and under, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile—1. Outrigger. 2.

Kauai. 3. Kai Oni. 4. Hui Kalia. Time: 4:22.0.
 Boys 17 and under, 1 mile—1. Outrigger. 2. Waikiki Surf. 3. Healani. 4. Kauai. Time: 7:11.0.

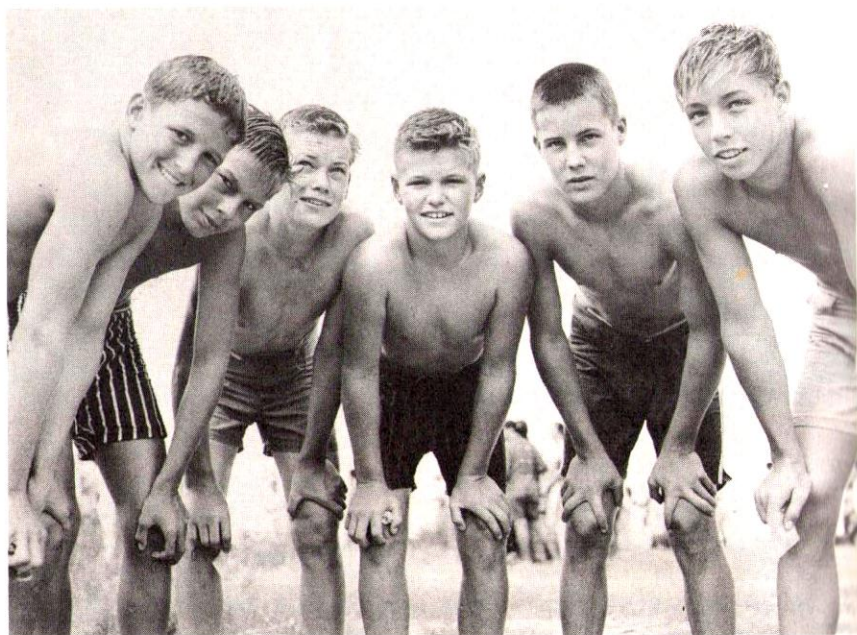

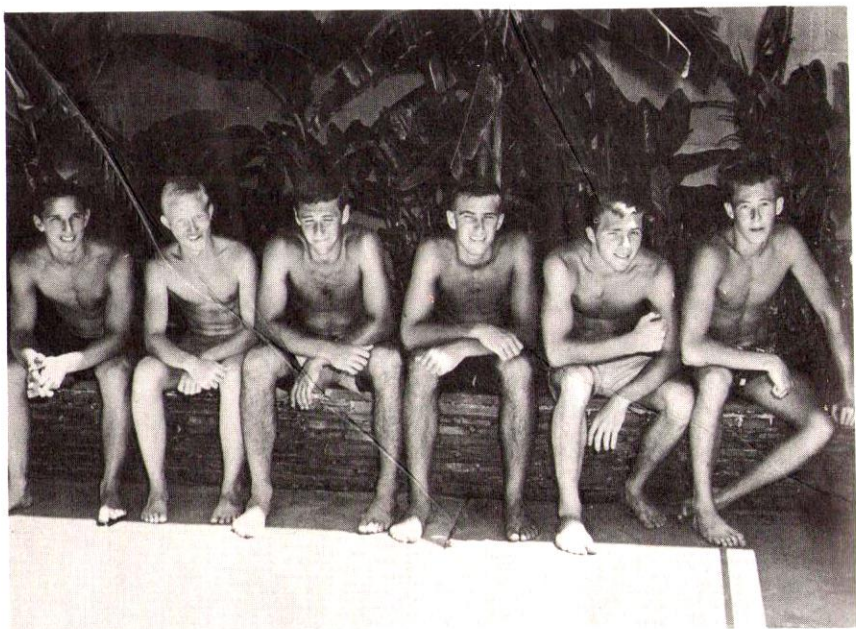

Freshman, 1 mile—1. Lanikai. 2. Kai Oni. 3. Outrigger. 4. Waikiki Surf. Time: 7:04.0.

Men's Senior, 2 miles—1. Waikiki Surf (Dutchy Kino, Moses Perkins, Conrad Canha, Rodney Botelho, Blackie Makaena, Blue Makua). 2. Outrigger. 3. Kai Oni. 4. Hui Nalu. Time: 15:02.3.

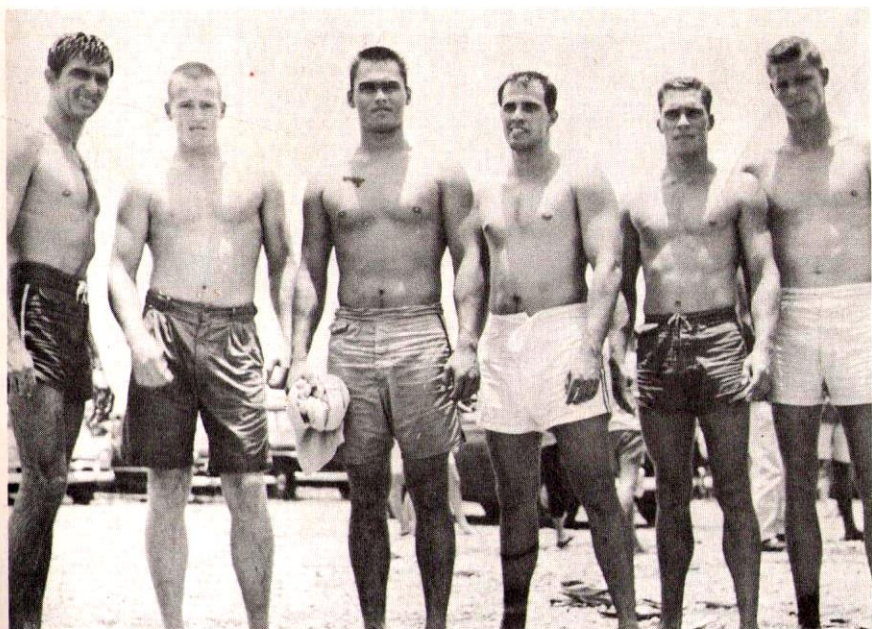

Girls junior, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile—1. Outrigger. 2. Kai Opuu. 3. Waikiki Surf. 4. Kai Oni. Time: 5:44.0.

Boys junior, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles—1. Kai Oni. 2. Waikiki Surf. 3. Outrigger. 4. Lanikai. Time: 11:34.0.

Women's senior, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile—1. Outrigger. 2. Waikiki Surf. 3. Kauai. 4. Healani. Time: 5:14.0.

A SALUTE TO JOHN D.

More than 50 years on and still going strong, "Old Man" John D. Kaupiko was saluted in OCC member Margie Stone's "Miracle Mile" column recently. It is reprinted here courtesy of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

The Old Man, they call him. Old Man John D. (for David) Kaupiko.

They call him that because he's one of the genuine 14 carat old-timers on the beach, and not because he's old. He's been part of the Waikiki scene for half a century.

Right now he's very busy, particularly when the sun starts edging over toward the Waianae area.

That's the hour for canoe practice, and John D. in his orange straw cap is over on the Ala Wai honing his Hui Nalu boys for the Oahu championship tomorrow.

And then his crews will point for the big one, the Territorial championship races at Nawiliwili, Kauai, August 2. This year it's named the John D. Kaupiko Territorial Championships.

The Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association is paying honor to a man who has done the full measure and then some for Hawaii's kingly sport.

For more than 20 years John D. has been coach and skipper for Hui Nalu, a club with no clubhouse but a venerable history.

Many of the canoe coaches throughout the Territory today first learned to assume the "ready-all" under his tutelage.

As one ex-paddler put it, "I think you could say he's a sort of symbol of outrigger canoe racing in Hawaii. You know those kids of his think he's wonderful. They all call him Daddy."

"Well," says John D., as he intently watches his 13 and unders take a fast quarter mile down the canal,

"this paddling sure keeps them out of mischief."

"We give them a real stiff workout every afternoon. Then they get home at night and boom, they hit the sack. They're too tired to go out.

"Sometimes they get a little lazy. Then we tie a tire on the bow like a lei. You've really got to pull when you're dragging that along."

John D. has almost 100 boys in training on the canal. They pay just $1 for the season's racing, earn their own expenses for the big trip to Kauai.

Even as a great-grandfather the Old Man looks as trim and fit as when he was swimming in Mainland competition, 1911 and 1913, with a Hui Nalu teammate by name of Duke Kahanamoku.

"This," he smiles, gesturing at the youngsters sprawled along the bank waiting their turn in the battered practice canoe, "is what keeps me up."

When racing season's pau, Hui Nalu becomes dormant. Today the Club of the Ocean Wave has, besides John D., only two other tangible assets.

One is its famous "We Love You, Hui Nalu" song, an almost guaranteed throat-lumper if you've ever heard the alumni on the beach roaring it out in full voice.

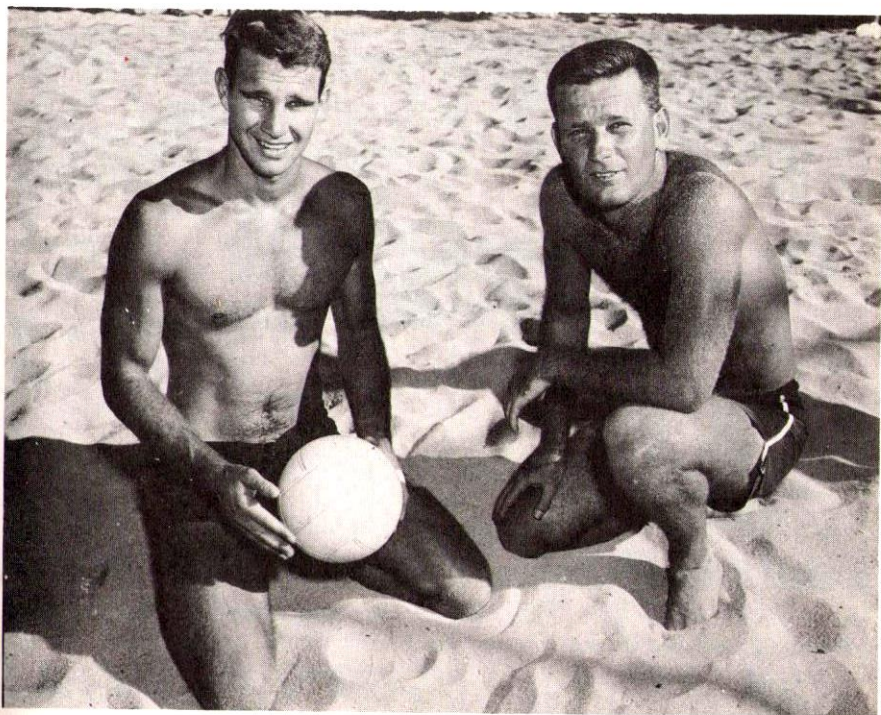

And the other is its sole racing canoe, White Horse. It's the same canoe John D. learned to paddle in back in 1911.

Hui Nalu was formed in 1908, primarily as a swimming club.

"We'd meet at the old Manoa bath house (now gone) and we'd paddle against those big six-foot Hawaiian fellows from Moanalua and Kakaako," John D. recalls.

"If we won we'd get some pineapples, or maybe a chicken or a pig for a prize. That's how racing started."

For decades Hui Nalu and the neighboring Outrigger, formed the same year, kept the sport alive between them. Its present popularity, with nearly 1,000 youngsters in training this season, is only post-war.

NOVICE SIX LEADS PARK LEAGUE

The Outriggers six men novice volleyball team continues to lead the City Park Novice League with five victories in as many starts.

The Outrigger spikers, with numerous victories under their belts in outside competition, play the tough Jong's Express six that is also undefeated, in what sizes up to be a battle for the city novice title.

In all the years, John D. has never tired of the beach. From 1927 to 1940 he ran the umbrella concession.

"I started out with 10 and sold out with 300," he says. "I haven't

CROSS-WYMAN DOUBLES CHAMPIONS

The apparently unbeatable combination of Billy Cross and Pat Wyman have annexed the Outrigger Open Double's Tournament for the third consecutive season.

Sparked by impenetrable defensive play and a steady offensive, Cross and Wyman nipped Tommy Haines and Mark Auerbach in the finals of the Outrigger's top tourney.

Bobby Daniels and Richard Watkins placed third in the double elimination tourney.

been to the Mainland since 1924. And I've lived right here in Waikiki for 40 years. Sure, I still surf all the time."

Nor does his interest in canoeing ever diminish. He's going over to Maui next month to see if he can't prod the Valley Islanders into forming a club too.

Mr. Don Wagonner gave a surprise birthday party for his wife on Friday, August 22, and had several guests. Mr. Wagonner was especially appreciative of the well-planned party by the Club management. Light pun-puus with cocktails accompanied by the piano music before dinner—a beautifully served plank steak dinner, and the cake and coral center-piece arranged for by the Club, all contributed to a happy evening.

If you are ever in the mood to 'talk food' at the Outrigger, see Traylor Mercer. Traylor is one of our most avid exponents on the subject of cuisine and furthermore, he 'knows' of what he speaks. He is a member of the Honolulu Wine and Food Society, the local chapter of the London Society.

His interesting hobby has resulted in a collection of over 700 recipes from all over the world which he is now compiling in cook book form, to be published under the title of 'Food Cum Laude.'

A sample of the dishes include:

SAUTEED PORK CHOPS

Saute pork chops and remove to serving dish. Pour off all fat from pan except 1 tablespoon. Add 1 tablespoon clarified butter. In mixed fat, cook 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion until soft and golden. Add $\frac{1}{3}$ cup white wine and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Cook wine until reduced to $\frac{3}{4}$ original quantity. Add 1 cup tomato puree and 1 tablespoon beef extract. Continue cooking sauce slowly for 10 to 15 minutes. Correct the seasoning with salt and add 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 4 or 5 slices sour pickle and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Swirl in 1 tablespoon butter, moving pan with circular motion. As soon as butter melts, return chops to pan and heat sauce until it reaches boiling point but do not let it boil. Arrange chops on serving dish and pour sauce over them.

BRIDGE PLAYERS

There is now a Duplicate Bridge Game held every Wednesday Evening at the Outrigger Canoe Club. Mrs. J. J. C. Harvey will be in charge of these games.

For the bridge Players, the Club is offering a dinner for $1.50. The card fee is 75 cents.

Duplicate is a splendid way of sharpening your Bridge game as well as being a fascinating sport. Bring your favorite partner, or come alone and a partner will be found for you.

For further information call Mrs. Verne Hass, 990-129—Mrs. Harold Pulliam, 705-222—Mrs. D. F. Darrow, 94-188 or Mrs. J. J. C. Harvey, 76-519.

CANOE STEERSMAN?

Your Canoe Committee is trying to reconcile records and recollection to arrive at a correct and current list of qualified canoe steersmen. This is particularly important because of new surfing regulations by the Territory, and because of possible liability which may accrue to the Club through the use of its canoes.

All who consider themselves qualified as steersmen are requested to submit their names, together with the extent of their qualifications to the Club secretary. Information should include the size of canoe and the size of surf (e.g. "blowhole." "canoe surf," etc.) in which steersmen consider that they would have full control of the canoe. Names submitted will be carefully reviewed for certification.

Existing regulations for use of Club canoes are under scrutiny to assure that they meet current operating conditions. Upon confirmation these rules will be published. Also, consideration is being given to certifying steersmen in two classes, "Junior" and "Senior," with specific limits as to use of Club equipment in the two categories. Further information on this, and on means by which new steersmen may become qualified will be published in later Forecasts.

BEACH "ROYALTY" — Waikiki is a haven for Middle East chieftains to escape from turmoil. Recently we were favored with the Shah of Iran (our own Gerri Golick was one of his dates here) and last month came the Shiek of Kuwait, none other than Sally Hale under those whiskers. Earl of the Lomilomi King is pointing towards mecca, or something. Sally recently returned from the Hawaiian Dredging & Construction Co.'s Kuwait job.—Photo by "Scoops" Tsuzuki.

VOLLEYBALL RULES

EQUIPMENT AND FACILITIES

Courts

Size. The playing surface (courts) shall be 60 feet long by 30 feet wide, including outer edge of lines. The height shall be 20 or more feet and free from any and all obstructions.

Visible lines. All lines and markings shall be well defined in one clearly visible color.

Boundary lines. The courts shall be bounded by lines 2 inches wide, which shall be at least 6 feet from walls or obstructions. The lines on the short sides of the courts are "end lines," the long sides, "side lines."

Center line. A line 2 inches wide shall be drawn across the center of the playing surface, separating the two courts.

Service areas. To mark the service areas, 2 lines 6 inches by 2 inches shall be drawn 2 inches back of each end line and each to be as a continuation of each side line, so as to permit service from anywhere between them and back of the end lines. The service areas shall be a minimum of 6 feet in depth back of the end lines and between the side lines. In the event the playing area does not provide space for such a depth, then the serving area shall extend into the court to whatever distance is necessary to provide such a minimum service area.

Spiking lines for back line players. A 2-inch line shall be drawn across each court from side line to side line, the center of which shall be $7\frac{1}{2}$ feet from and parallel to the middle of the center line.

Net

Size and construction. The net shall be 3 feet wide over all and 32 feet in length when stretched. It shall be made of 4 inch square mesh of black or dark brown No. 30 thread, and be bound, top, end and bottom, with $\frac{1}{4}$ inch manilla rope. A double thickness of white canvas 2 inches wide, shall be sewed to the top and ends of the net. Through the top canvas shall be run a $\frac{1}{4}$ inch performed galvanized aircraft cable (7 x 19) with an ultimate strength of 7000 pounds.

Vertical tape markers. A 2-inch vertical marker tape shall be fastened over the entire width of each side of the net at each end to be directly above and vertical to the side lines.

Height and installation. The net shall be tightly stretched by four corners between uprights which are at least 3 feet entirely outside the courts, and shall cross the courts above the center line. The cable shall be drawn by the use of a tightening device so as to permit as little sag as possible, and the top shall be level and measure at the center of the courts 8 feet to the floor and at the side lines as close to 8 feet as possible. The design of the supporting guys or stands shall be adequate to withstand a working stress of 2000 lbs. in the net cable. The bottom of the net shall be drawn taut by ropes anchoring the lower corners to the side upright. From the top ends it should be braced to a support by 2 cables approximately 45 degrees to the line of the net so as not to interfere with the referee's vision and his ability to keep his head over the net.

Ball

Specifications. The ball shall be spherical and have a rubber bladder with a 12 piece laceless leather case or a rubber case; be not less than 26 inches or more than 27 inches in circumference, and weigh not less than 9 or more than 10 ounces. The leather case ball shall have air pressure of not less than 7 or more than 8 pounds and the rubber case ball not less than 5 or more than 7 pounds pressure. The use of a balanced ball is recommended.

Scoring and Timing Devices

Kind and location. There shall be, as far as possible, a combination score board and timing device, so located that it may be observed by all spectators, players, substitutes, coaches, managers and officials. If no such device is available there shall be manual scoring devices on each side of the court and an electric or manual timing device to time the game.

OFFICIALS AND THEIR DUTIES

All Officials

Kind. The officials shall be a referee, umpire, scorer, timekeeper and two or four linesmen.

Buzzers and whistles. Officials of a game may use sound instruments having the same tone but a different tone from those used in the game on the adjacent courts.

Decisions concerning facts. Decisions by the officials concerning facts are final and not subject to protest.

Official's mistake. When an official sounds his whistle by mistake and this causes a player to stop playing, the referee shall direct a play-over.

Referee

Position of referee. The referee shall station himself on a platform at one end of the net in a position that will give him an equally clear view of both courts and so that his head is at least two feet and not more than three feet above top of net. (Illustrated in diagram of net and referee's platform)

Power to overrule. The referee shall be the superior official of the game and shall have the power to overrule decisions of other officials when, in his opinion, they have made errors.

Decide play and penalties. The referee shall decide when the ball is in play, when it is dead, when a point has been made, when a side is out, when there is a double foul and when
