E. T. Chase	Victor Kahn
Edric Cook	M. M. Eells
William Barnhard	Neal Iversen
Harold Lishman	Thad Ekstrand
A. R. Tulloch	William Baird

FOOD AND SERVICE QUESTIONNAIRES

The Committee appointed to endeavor to improve the service and quality of food and drinks was delighted at the response from the questionnaires mailed to about 1,000 regular members.

More than four hundred responded, giving many fine and constructive suggestions. Many, not only filled the questionnaires fully but, wrote letters in addition. Your Committee now has an excellent cross section of opinion, ideas, suggestions and in some cases—gripes.

The Committee is working on a final summary and will give a full report together with their suggestions to the Board of Directors for action to further improve our catering operations.

This report will be given at the Annual Meeting. The Committee thanks the membership for their response which shows much interest in the Club's success.

Our Sympathy

To Mr. Albert Acquistapace, husband, and Mrs. Milton Blim, sister, of the late Mrs. Merchelle Norton Acquistapace who passed on, Thursday, January 23, 1958 at the age of 55. She was a constant attendant at the Club with her husband and her many friends will miss her pleasant and friendly presence.

EDWIN N. MCCLELLAN

FDR'S WAIKIKI "WHITE HOUSE" - 1934

by EDWIN NORTH MCCLELLAN

First American President to visit Waikiki Beach where he lived "at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel . . . the White House for two days," reported the New York Times—From the Pink Palace he viewed the Outrigger Canoe Club, the Coral Beach and the B. Pacific, with their many aquatic activities—He would liked to have paddled an outrigger canoe, rode the surfboard as did his sons Franklin and John, but Fate said: —And in his mind were pictures of his ancestors as they sailed on ships past Diamond Head and Waikiki Beach into Honolulu Harbor, just as he had.

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, with his sons Franklin and John, arrived Honolulu aboard the cruiser Houston escorted by the New Orleans, from Hilo, on July 26, 1934. As the two cruisers steamed around Diamond Head an Aloha Flieg of Army and Navy planes, greeted the Commander-in-Chief. Off Waikiki Beach a fleet of fifteen outrigger canoes mostly from the Outrigger Canoe Club, and hundred sampans, surrounded the Houston and New Orleans and escorted the President to Pier Two.

DUKE KAHANAMOKU HEADS ALOHA FLEET

Aboard a large double outrigger canoe arranged to appear as a royal canoe of the First King, was Duke Paoa Kahana-moku, World Champion Swimmer, in whose bronzed body probably flows the blood of the King he represented. He was clad in the part of ancient Hawaiian royalty symbolic of Kamehameha the Great. His paddlers were aliis costumed in accordance with ancient custom, wearing malos and feather capes.

AN UNPARALLELED "ALOHA"

At Pier Two over sixty thousand enthusiastic Islanders of many races, greeted President Roosevelt. A Marine Guard of Honor was there. So was the Royal Hawaiian Band, hula maidens, singers and high officials. The Band played Hawaii Pono, Aloha Oe and Na Lei o Hawaii. High civil and military officials boarded the Houston with official aloha greetings.

FDR LANDS IN PARADISE

About 9:15 a.m. the President disembarked. He wore a lei. After official honors were rendered FDR started a "Round the Island" tour. Stopped at the Nuuanu Pali, watched a hukilau, visited the Mormon Temple, Kemoo Pineapple Plantation, Kahuku Sugar Plantation, lunched at Schofield Barracks where he reviewed troops and watched the Army planes spell out "F.R." in the blue heavens.

WAIKIKI "WHITE HOUSE"

Finally, the Presidential Cavalcade moved out to the Beach at Waikiki where the President relaxed in his Royal Suite of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel which, the New York Times explained, would be "the 'White House' for two days" and where President Roosevelt would, in the lovely Garden of the Hotel, "discover another Fairyland of Greenery, with acres of ground expertly landscaped to utilize the indigenous botanical specimens of the Islands.

HOOKUPU, LUAU, PAGEANT

On the night of his arrival, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was royally honored and splendidly entertained by Governor Joseph B. Poindexter and people of Hawaiian ancestry, at Washington Place, official residence of the Governor, a former home of Queen Liliuokalani who had been with her ancestors for seventy years.

At the luau or native feast, FDR sampled strange foods, like chopped octopus, suckling pig, chicken in coconut milk which had been cooked in the imu. A poi, breadfruit, limu or seaweed, kukui nut kernels, pineapples, pieces of sugarcane to chew, and more.

An Hawaiian entertainment was staged on the lawn under a full moon. There was a hookupu or gift-giving ceremony at which FDR received many presents. A beautiful feather cape was placed on the President's shoulders by Colonel Custer.

Hehu Iaukea who sat beside FDR and explained what was going on. "President Roosevelt is our *Alii*aimoku, he is our Great Leader!" chorused the many Hawaiians present.

DUKE TEACHES PRESIDENT'S SONS TO SURF

At seven o'clock on the morning of July 27, 1934, the President left his hotel to inspect Pearl Harbor. However, Franklin Jr. and John Roosevelt remained at Waikiki to have a fling at surfing. "The President's sons . . . took time off this morning from the Pearl Harbor visit . . . to sample Hawaii's most famous sport, surfing, in company with Duke Kahana-moku, the world-renowned Island swimmer," wrote the New York Times man. However, they were expected at Pearl Harbor in time for luncheon at the quarters of Rear-Admiral Harry E. Yarnell. Franklin Jr. and John donned their bathing-suits and, with the Duke steering, rode Waikiki Surf in an outrigger canoe. After half a dozen rides they returned to the beach where the Bronze Duke of Waikiki gave them surfboard in-

HOTEL-CLUB NOTES

The effort on the part of the Tongg interests to swap Waikiki Beach properties in order to build another hotel seems to have been squelched by our Board of Supervisors. This is all to the good and will serve to save the beach for posterity.

At the recent Fashion Show of the Hawaiian Association of Sales Representatives held at the Reef Hotel our good member Tom Reiner appeared with the lovely female models as a model. No, gals, he was not garmented in step-ins and falsies. He appeared in the dress of the well dressed young man for underwater swimming, spearing and photographing.

W. D. Dudley Child, Jr. has been elevated to the presidency of the Inter-Island Resorts and Inter-Island Travel Service. Another case of the younger generation taking the reins. Good luck on the assumption of your new duties, Dudley!

Barracudas are claimed present in the Kaiser lagoon—but not to be alarmed about. For me—I'll take a shark any time. These can't be barracuda—or Tom Young was wrong in his book "Shark" when he said that "the shark is blame for many of the crimes committed by the barracuda."

On Jan. 19, the new addition to the Hawaiian Village Hotel was opened with appropriate Hawaiian ceremony. Dadd Bray officiated with prayers and Hawaiian chants. This is a $1,500,000.00 13 story 132-room hotel. Future plans call for a 22-story 1500-room hotel already on the planning board.

The scotching of the Tongg effort gives new impetus to the plan to re-align Kalakaua Avenue. If this re-aligning can be carried out it will be one of the greatest booms to Waikiki ever carried out. Let's get behind this move.

Bob Allen is rapidly assuming top post in Island transportation. He has just added the famous Yellow Cab Company franchise to his already bustling, hustling transportation operations. Bob puts the same drive into his biz as he does into his polo.

Speaking of polo—we are assured of another thrilling season at Kapiolani Park. Three mainland teams have been engaged in the matches during May, June and July. They are: Chicago or Boca Raton of Florida, a Detroit team and the Firestone team of Dallas, Texas. Local teams will comprise the Maui team and a strong Oahu team.

Outrigger Canoe Club
Gentlemen:

Enclosed is my check for $57.30 in payment for services to me while I was in Honolulu. I greatly appreciate your courtesy to me and wish to thank you at this time for helping to make my stay in Honolulu a pleasant one.

Yours very sincerely,

HENRY C. GERNAND, M.D.

Thanks! Glad you enjoyed Hawaii and the O.C.C.

COMMANDER IN CHIEF
UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET

My dear Mr. Steere:

On February first, my tour of duty in Honolulu ends. Upon my arrival in 1955, the Board of Directors of the Outrigger Canoe Club made me an Honorary Member of that fine club for the duration of my tour of duty in Hawaii.

This is to advise you of the real pleasure I have derived from the use of the Outrigger Canoe Club and to express again my appreciation of the signal honor your board extended to me.

I leave with sincere regrets but with fond memories.

Respectfully,

MAURICE E. CURTS

Admiral, U. S. Navy

We are sincerely sorry to have you leave. We hope some day you will renew your association with the O.C.C. In the meantime Aloha nui loa!

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your help with our Christmas Seal Sale this year.

As you know, our Association is entirely dependent on the annual Seal Sale for funds to carry on each year's work. The purchase of Seals is entirely voluntary—we believe that one should be permitted to make his own choice as to when, where and how much he wishes to donate.

Therefore, the space you gave in your publication to the Christmas Seal message was invaluable in keeping people aware of the campaign. Thank you so much.

With all good wishes for a healthy, happy New Year.

Sincerely yours,

Diego Suarez, Madagascar;

Dear Ernie;

This town is situated at the northern end of Madagascar. We go from here to Zanzibar and other east African ports, then for a visit to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Typhoon Gloria hit us in Hong Kong. The trip has been uneventful otherwise.

Doug Johnston

The following postal mailed from Messina on Jan. 13 arrived on Jan. 20. Much better service.

Dear Ernie;

This is Taormina, Sicily. Be sure to include it on your travels when you retire. That's Mount Etna in the background. We have been down in the Indian Ocean, visited Mauritius, La Reunion, Madagascar and British East Africa. Went through the game park in Nairobi, Kenya. Had a 300 mile safari into the bush in Ethiopia, spear carrying natives and all the trimmings, flew down the Nile valley to Cairo, then to Athens, Rome and Nice. I picked up a Volkswagen in Germany, drove down through Italy—will be back in July.

Mr. Ted Magill,

Outrigger Canoe Club,

Dear Ted,

Thanks so much for your letter and for so kindly arranging cards for the Morgans and the Gordons who will be visiting Hawaii on February 24th; it is most kind of you and I do hope I was not too out of line in asking.

I saw Ed Gordon a few days ago and he advised me the "Cousin" Frank had handed over the Guest Cards before his departure for Switzerland so all is well.

Thanks also for the Christmas copy of FORECAST—but it almost brought tears to me eyes darn you!

Hope you all had a grand Christmas and our sincere good wishes for lots of Good Health and Good Fortune throughout 1958.

Aloha nui loa,

W. WOOLLETT

We hope the Morgans and Gordons enjoy their stay. You were not out of line.

Dear Ted,

My husband and I have been travelling all over the country the last three months and are now in Detroit, Michigan, visiting my husband's family.

We've been in Arizona, spent a month in Mexico (went deep sea fishing there and caught some (over) mahimahi), drove through Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Indiana, Memphis, and now Michigan. We bought a house-trailer and just decided to leave California and see some of the country. It's been quite an experience for me as I have never been east of California.

We spent Christmas and New Year's here in Detroit and it's the first white Christmas and New Year that I have ever seen. The snow is just beautiful but boy is it cold!

My husband has some friends that are members of the Bayview Yacht Club and we were there New Year's eve and I ran into quite a few people that knew Duke Kahanamoku.

We will be in Detroit for a week or so more and then are heading towards Florida and warmer weather.

Would you please have my new membership card sent to this address:

Mrs. Patricia H. Kemeny
c/o Miss Georgina Kemeny

Thank you. Give my aloha to everyone.

Sincerely,

Aloha to you, Pat. All your friends will be pleased to read this letter.

KIRRIITBILLE, SYDNEY, N.S.W.

Dear Mr. Magill,

Many thanks for your kind reference to me your "Forecast" which I duly received and hope to get across to see you one day not too far distant.

I know you will be sure to co-operate with my successor (who has not yet been appointed so cannot tell you his name) as you were always most helpful.

On the 3rd instant I will be leaving Sydney to take over a business in the country some 10 miles south of Sydney, for a year or so after that I intend to take a trip over your way so here hoping you will still be around then.

Please excuse this short note but I am a little rushed for time just now and would not like you to think I had forgotten you.

In closing I extend to you and yours good wishes for a Merry Xmas and a Prosperous and Happy New Year. My best regards also to Bob & Barbara Crockett likewise.

Yours very sincerely,
DAVE DAWSON

Note: Mr. Dawson was for years Secretary Manager of Tattersall's, Sydney, and was always most kind to visiting O.C.C. members. Aloha!

NEW YORK 11, N. Y.

Mr. Ted Magill

Many, many thanks for the very beautiful New Year's Eve menu that you sent me with the magnificent photograph of the night-blooming cereus.

After looking over this menu, I cannot begin to understand how you are able to serve such a dinner for the price that you do, even in a club, since in this part of the world dinners like this are pretty much double, if not more, the price. My congratulations to you.

With my best wishes to you and yours for a happy, healthy and prosperous New Year, and hoping that it will be possible to get out to pay you a visit in the not-too-distant future, I am, ever,

Most sincerely yours,

PAUL A. SPITLER

Thanks! the O.C.C. operates the Club dining room for the benefit of its members, not as a commercial enterprise. We are proud of the fine menu and the printer who printed it.

SAN ONOFRE ANOTHER WAIKIKI

Surfboard Riding Gains in Popularity

It is Saturday morning on a cold, drizzly day in January, when most of us are contentedly sitting in front of a roaring fire reading a good book. The phone rings at the home of an engineer, a long-distance call for him from San Clemente.

"Hello, Jungle Joe, there are some lulus running here today, come on down."

"Okay, Opal, see you in a little while."

He walks into the living room where his wife is playing with the children. With a faraway look in his eyes, he says, "I think I'll take my board down to San Onofre today, I hear the waves are running real big."

WORD PASSED QUICKLY

When the waves are "humping up" at San Onofre, the word is passed quickly and quietly via a mysterious grapevine to men in all walks of life, doctors, lawyers, business executives, students, all members of the San Onofre Surfing Club.

Age is no criterion for these devotees of the sport of board surfing, who come from all over the Southland, from as far away as Bakersfield, to participate in their favorite pastime. You may claim trout fishermen are dedicated to their sport, or skiers, or hunters, or skin divers, but surfers are a breed of humans apart from all the rest.

THRILLS DESCRIBED

They will tell you there is no thrill in the world to match the wondrous sensation that you feel when you are skimming along the crest of a giant wave, playing cat and mouse with the frothy foam.

In cold or rain, or even storms you can find these water birds perched on their long slim boards waiting for the next series of swells to reach them.

San Onofre is situated four miles south of the city of San Clemente off U. S. Highway 101. The beach itself and the surf are not visible from the highway, and there is no road sign indicating the location of the surfing colony. An old side road takes you down around the bluffs above the ocean, past the Marine sentry gate and along the dusty, dirty road running parallel with the beach.

The beach used to be open to all visitors and, much to the dismay of the surfers, an influx of sight-seers and picnickers descended upon the peaceful serenity of San Onofre. They left behind them a sea of old bottles and piles of refuse as a constant reminder to all of their presence. In addition, they interfered with the actual surfing by unknowingly swimming directly in front of the oncoming boards.

AGREEMENT REACHED

The U. S. Marines own the property on which the colony exists, it being a part of the huge Camp Pendleton Marine Base. The Marines were concerned with the large crowds and the accident factor, resulting in their being liable.

An equitable agreement was reached between a representative group from the surfers and the Marines by which a surfing club would be established, with a gate to keep all but members out. Each club member signed a statement relieving the Marines of any liability in case of accident or injury.

The San Onofre Surfing Club, now four years old with a present membership of more than 450, is restricted to those individuals who are devotees of the sport. As Dr. A. H. Wilkes, club president and a dentist from San Clemente, says: "Only members are admitted past the gate, but sight-seers may view our colony and our surfing activities by walking from the highway to the cliffs above the beach."

MANY POPULAR SPOTS

There are many other popular surfing spots along the Southern California coast which are not restricted. Among these are Dana Point off San Juan Capistrano, Malaga Cove near Palos Verdes, Hermosa Beach, Topanga Beach, Malibu, Point Dume, Santa Monica, Salt Creek near Laguna, Long Beach and Windansea near La Jolla. In Northern California the surfing enthusiasts will tell you they have the finest waves of all at Santa Cruz.

The sport of board surfing was first introduced in Southern California in 1907 by George Freeth, considered the mainland's first surfboarder. He was brought here by the Los Angeles-to-Redondo Railway owners from Waikiki to "create an outstanding aquatic attraction in the Southern California area." The sport has grown steadily in popularity until there are an estimated 1,500 active surfers in the Los Angeles area.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

As the sport has developed, so has the chief implement used in surfing—the surfboard. In their infancy in the Hawaiian Islands and here on the mainland, the boards were of solid balsa wood with redwood or pine stripping. The boards weighed as much as 80 pounds and became even heavier when in the water for any length of time. Also popular, up to a few years ago, was the paddle board or hollow board, which was used for just paddling, but could be used for surfing.

The surfboards of today are made of solid balsa wood, waterproofed and protected with a coating of plastic and Fiberglas cloth. Near the tail of the board and on the under side is a "skeg," or fin, usually of solid pine. This rudder prevents a surfer, on a "fast-breaking hook," from sliding to the bottom of the wave and having it "curl" over on top of him and "getting wiped out," as they say in the surfers' lingo. (Surfers never ride a wave straight in toward the beach; they either cut to the right or to the left away from the part of the wave that is curling and about to break.)

35-POUND WEIGHT

The typical board now in use at San Onofre and at other Southland surfing beaches weighs only about 35 pounds and is 24 inches wide and 4 inches thick, with an over-all length of about 11 feet. The board is tapered to a narrow edge at the sides and tail and has a slight "scoop" near the nose. This style of surfboard, developed by California surfers, is used almost exclusively by all "Kamaainas" or expert surfers at Waikiki Beach. You can buy a good board for about $50 or build your own, as most of the surfers do, for a cost of about $50.

The reason San Onofre is such a surfing paradise is that there is a long shelf formation on the shore that causes giant waves to form out and roll a considerable distance before they break. When they do break they are "pounders" but break gradually with long, fast rides possible before the surfer and his board are consumed in the "soup" of the broken wave. Body surfing is possible some days, but it is not recommended by the club members because of the rocky and dangerous bottom.

San Onofre enjoys the reputation all over the world not only as the surfing capital of the West Coast, but also as the Waikiki of the mainland. This latter claim is based upon the Polynesian type of life at the San Onofre surf colony and its great similarity to the color and existence of the beach boys of Hawaii.

A visitor to San Onofre would first note with interest the numerous panel trucks parked along the beach area. Due to the driving distance involved for most of the members to reach their favorite surfing haunt, they cannot commute daily from their homes. Not willing to take a chance of missing a sudden run of big surf, staying at nearby motels, most of the members sleep in their panel trucks or in the back of their passenger cars on specially constructed beds or in their sleeping bags on the beach.

The panel trucks are a work of art, in some cases rivaling the craftsmanship of expensive house trailers. All of them have beds and storage cabinets, while others include built-in built-in stoves, iceboxes, sinks with running water, and closets and curtains.

The San Onofre Surfing Club has many facilities for its members and their families, including separate rest rooms and dressing rooms, seven grass shacks which are used for mid-day siestas and evening luaus, and a surfboard storage rack.

In the early evening, dinner is cooked on open fires on the beach or on stoves in the trucks. After the dishes are washed and put away, the colony gathers around a huge bonfire for an evening of song and dance. Soon melodious plinking of ukuleles and the strumming of guitars interrupt the monotonous sound of the waves lapping against the shore. An occasional impromptu Polynesian dance by one of the girls is met with ear-splitting war cries from the members of the male population.

ALL-NIGHT LUAUS

On weekends these luaus gather momentum and many times last all through the night and into the next day, until the participants are asleep or until a run of big surf brings them back to reality.

The basic dress at San Onofre is the Hawaiian-type bathing suit, or cutoff levis or white pajamas. Shoes are unheard of day or night. Beach towels wrapped around the waist in sarong style are worn by the men in the evening or during the day when their trunks are wet. Out on the boards they will wear almost anything from coconut hats to seaweed leis.

Most of the members have Hawaiian or English nicknames by which they are commonly known. In fact, many members do not know their fellow surfers by any name but Hammerhead or Hi-ho Silver or the Viking.

NEW FRILLS ADDED

To the traditional method of board surfing, the San Onofre boys have added their own frills. Many of the members take their wives or girl friends out tandem, and ride the waves both standing up, or sometimes they will come in on a giant swell with the women sitting or standing on the shoulders of the sturdy men. Another favorite sport is when two boys are riding a few feet apart on a wave, one will jump from his board onto the other and the two Kamaainas will continue tandem the rest of the way on one board.

Most of the members being married, their wives have had to take up this thrilling sport to keep from being referred to as "surfers' widows." Many of them have their own boards, and are quite adept at maneuvering their little planks along the crests of large swells. They all claim there is nothing in the world as beneficial to the female figure as a few hours a day of paddling a surfboard.

Dr. John H. Ball, one of the pioneers of this exciting sport, expressed the sentiments of all surfers when he wrote:

*When old King Neptune's raising hell
And the breakers roll sky high,
Let's drink to those who can ride that stuff
And to the rest who are willing to try.*

structions. Then, the three paddled their boards out to the combers. Ending the airboard adventure the Roosevelt boys pressed hurriedly and rushed out to Pearl Harbor where they arrived in time for the Admiral's luncheon.

DR AT PEARL HARBOR

Admiral Yarnell not only provided an excellent luncheon but also Hawaiian entertainment for his guests. Pretty Hawaiian maids danced the hula and sang songs of Hawaii to the strains of Island music.

After luncheon the inspection of Pearl Harbor, which had started in the morning, was resumed. The President visited the shops, Submarine base, drydocks, Ford Island on which was located the Fleet Air Base and Army's Luke Field. There was no Air Force or Hickam Air Base at this time.

This inspection, which satisfied the Commander-in-Chief, was ninety months before that "Day of Infamy," December 1941.

From Pearl Harbor to dedication of the Roosevelt Memorial Portal at Ala Moana Park, and next, Fort De Russy. Some time during his visit the President called at the Shriners Hospital. He also planted a Kukui Tree on Iolani Palace grounds.

HONORED AT LA PIETRA BY THE DILLINGHAMS

At three o'clock this afternoon, FDR was honored by Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dillingham at their home La Pietra on the slope of Diamond Head, site of the ancient Hawaiian heiau (temple) Papaenaena. FDR enjoyed reminiscences with his Harvard mates, Walter and Harold Dillingham.

President Roosevelt returned to his Waikiki White House for a private dinner. It may have been in this interval that FDR was massaged by a Japanese masseur with the Japanese method of elbow, strong grip, and walking on the body. This masseur told me several times that he had performed such a service for FDR.

President Roosevelt left the hotel at nine o'clock for Iolani Palace where he witnessed a lantern parade by Chinese, Korean and Japanese residents.

"RESTORE THE THRONE ROOM"

On his last day, July 28, 1934, FDR visited the Throne Room in Iolani Palace. He declared that "the Throne Room should be restored to its original condition at the time of the Monarchy."

"ALOHA! FROM THE BOTTOM OF MY HEART!"

On the day of his departure, President Roosevelt stood on the upper lanai of Iolani Palace and made an Aloha Address to the thousands assembled and listening on the radio.

At the conclusion of his address, the President "whirled for the last time through the still gayly decorated streets to the Pier where the cruiser awaited him," reported the New York Times. A tremendous crowd cheered FDR as he stood on the Houston's gangway receiving honors, and later on the bridge.

As the warship passed Waikiki Beach beyond the Reef, FDR, Franklin, Jr. and John tossed their leis into Pacific waters as a promise of early return to Paradise.

F. D. Roosevelt came back in 1944 and lived in a Waikiki War White House.
