Published by the Outrigger Canoe Club for Members and Guests at Home and Abroad

OCC 2nd in Paiaaina and 3rd

Outrigger Canoe Club opened the 1999 Oahu Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association Regatta season by finishing second in the Paiaaina Regatta on June 6 at Keehi Lagoon and third in the King Kamehameha Regatta on June 13 at Kailua Beach Park.

More than 1,500 paddlers representing 12 OHCRA clubs participated in the 35 events.

Lanikai won both races, outscoring Outrigger 83-65 in the Paiaaina Regatta, and winning the Kamehameha Regatta with 73 points, followed by Kailua with 66 and Outrigger with 58 in the AA Division.

OHCRA added three new events this year, the boys and girls 15's and a mixed 14 and under, and changed the senior men's and women's race from an open event to a regular event, meaning that crews cannot paddle in a regular event and the senior race as they had done in the past.

The Girls 13 won the first race of the season for Outrigger in the Paiaaina Regatta. Front, Sally Torkildson, Amy Lawson, Jen Tokin and Elizabeth Stams. Back, Coach Mark Rigg, Kai Bourne, Ali Rigg and Steph DeWeese.

As the Terrace Turns

If you are reading this before the 4th of July—read this first. For approximately the 20th year, at the Macfarlane Outrigger Canoe Races on the beach at Waikiki, you will hear Club member Guido Salmaggi sing the National Anthem before the races. Guido says he has probably missed only one race in the past 20 years, and in total, he's probably sung the National Anthem about 5,000 times. He sings for all kinds of sport openings, both here and in Florida, where he resides part of the year.

Stationed in Hawaii in World War II, his job was to entertain the troops in the Pacific. One of his fellow entertainers was Carl Reiner. After the war he returned to his home in Brooklyn NY, where he was an opera producer. In 1963, then concert director of the Honolulu Symphony George Barati, invited him to come to start up the opera company in Hawaii.

In Guido's words "I jumped at the chance." In 1959 he began his long career in Hawaii in a variety of jobs with the musical scene, sometimes for the City & County, sometimes in the restaurant business, and he is perhaps best remembered for his service from 1967 to 1989 as the Vice Counsel of Italy in Hawaii. He is currently a member of the Friends of Italy Society of Hawaii.

At the OCC he was a frequent guest of Nadine Kahanamoku, and she urged him to join 39 years ago when the initiation fee was $250.

During this summer visit he will be here for three months, so if you can't make the opening event at the canoe race, you're sure to find Guido at the Club, visiting guests at OCC for cocktails and pupu on April 16. They had a Tahitian show performance, lots of friends, and a big celebration!

Co hosts Patti Gesser and Doris Harrison entertained the final meeting for the year of the Assistance League at a lunch for 70. This was their change of officers and summer vacation, and they love lunch at OCC.

Aloha no Vera Forbes. She is returning to non-resident status and going to San Diego. She had dinner with about 15 friends of long standing, friends of both her and her husband, the late Doug Forbes.

The Pan Pacific and South East Asian Women's Association, formed in Hawaii 75 years ago to promote the interests of women and the family held their annual meeting at OCC for 30 people, hosted by Pat Buckman. They meet every other month, and every three years hold an International Meeting here.

Baby Dave Rochlen hosted a corporate sales meeting at OCC in May. Attendees came from Oahu and Maui, reported excellent food and a good meeting. The Young Entrepreneurs Organization meets monthly at different sites, and was hosted by Stu Simons at their May dinner meeting. Membership is limited to those under age 40 with $1 million in sales. They have chapters around the world, and international representatives were at this meeting, to be impressed with our site and service.

Good friends Mary Foster and Betty Sterling were treated and honored at a birthday gathering by Anne Swanson at a lunch for 15.

Read Aloud America has avid advocate Jed Gaines reading at Barnes & Noble once a month. He can be reached at readaloudamerica@lava.net. His volunteers held their thank you dinner for 10 in the Koa Lanai. These are good people who read aloud in the public schools.

Gerry DeBenedetti has taken to reading aloud to the Hana Maui School 5th graders. When she goes to Hana to visit son and daughter in law Grant and Beth Senner, she reads to both of their classes. Her May visit was to observe the Senner's birthdays and to help work on their new house. It was sanding and painting and lifting and toting and baking birthday cake.

Nalani Blaisdell-Brennan graduated from the John A. Burns School of Medicine in May. She was awarded the Healthcare Foundation's 1999 Humanism in Medicine Award, which recognizes "compassion, sensitivity, respect and cultural competence in the delivery of care to patients and their families." Family and friends celebrated with a dinner party for 85 people in the OCC Koa Lanai. Nalani begins her residency at Kapiolani Women's and Children's Medical Center in pediatrics/adult psychiatry/child psychiatry.

The Honolulu Bridge Club enjoyed the beauty and hospitality of the OCC for lunch and bridge in February. Karen and Dick Lanke are the fine teachers of the Bridge Club. Members of the club meet each Thursday at the St. Louis Community Center from 9 a.m. to noon for a most rewarding time of supervised play. Mr. and Mrs. Lanke teach groups throughout the week, according to Floye Adams.

Shirley McKown hosted a bridge luncheon for 12 on April 28. Honorees were Lucille and Daniel Wong who had both achieved their Life Masters designations in duplicate bridge. Guests were other duplicate players who had helped the Wongs win enough master points to reach the requirement for the award, most in team competitions (yes, duplicate can be a team sports) here and on the Mainland.

Shirley is also chair of the Outrigger Duplicate Bridge Club which has a game every Monday at 12:30 at the Club. Members are invited to bring a partner and enjoy an interesting afternoon of duplicate with a congenial group of bridge players.

May was host month for Fred Hemmings Jr. Fred took Swedish student Anna Lindau on a tour of the Club. They met last year at the surfing competitions in Biarritz. At the same time, Fred hosted Eduardo Arena. Eduardo, one of the founding fathers of surfing in Peru, and Fred originally met in 1968 at a surfing presentation in Puerto Rico. The following year, Eduardo hosted Club Captain Peter Balding at the Peruvian meets.

Fred and Eduardo visited the Board Room to see their trophy. One of the largest trophies in the glass case, it is the Frank Clark Cup for the Best Amateur Surfing in a Big Canoe. The OCC annual surfing championship plaque lists Eduardo Arena, Eva Segovia and Fred Hemmings Jr. (Steersman), 1974. While the perpetual trophy dates from 1910, further competitions have not been held.

Kimberly Allin graduated from Duke University in May, and will be working for Andersen Consulting. She is home for the summer.

Irene Butterworth is the chair of the AAUW Educational Foundation Committee. She recently met with her group of 20 for a luncheon and their speaker was the recipient of an $11,000 grant to assist her with her studies of documentary film making. Irene wants all OCC women to note that those with an AB degree can apply for these higher education funds to assist with graduate studies.

Retired headmaster Joe Pynchon continues to host each year the La Pietra Senior Girls for their graduation breakfast. Since 1967 they've been gathering together (50 strong) to have breakfast and then go over to the school for their graduation rehearsal. He calls it the "Last Breakfast", and says although he doesn't go anymore, his aloha for the girls will always be there.

Birthday # not specified was celebrated by Jack Larsen who had wife Dr. Chonita Larsen and 12 friends helping him observe.

Not shy about revealing her age, Mabel Hagen, an active 93 hosted a Daughters of the Nile lunch for 35 in May. This group is affiliated with the Shriners, who do good deeds for handicapped and disabled children throughout Hawaii and the Pacific. Mabel says this activity keeps her going, and she is looking forward to 94 in October. Imua!

Club Luau set for August 28

If you haven't made your reservations, don't wait any longer. Outrigger's 91st Annual Club Luau on Saturday, August 28 is going to be the best ever.

Luau chief Henry Ayau has assembled his crew and will cook the pig Hawaiian style in an imu on the Club beach.

The Entertainment Committee is working hard on the decorations.

And oh, the entertainment!

Stew Kawakami's Stew and Paea will perform from 5-7 p.m., followed by Kanilau's Hawaiian Spectacular from 7:30-8 p.m. At 8 p.m., be prepared for a treat with Theresa Bright. And closing out the evening will be the hottest group in town, Pure Heart.

Luau reservations are being taken at the Front Desk or by calling 923-1585.

Don't miss out.

4th of July Schedule

Don't miss the fun on the 4th of July as Outrigger Canoe Club hosts the 56th Annual Walter J. Macfarlane Regatta at Waikiki Beach followed by Club Party from 5-11 p.m.

Tickets for the Club Party are on sale at the Front Desk for $1. Life, Senior, Regular and Intermediate members are entitled to four tickets per member. All other members (Nonresident, Guest, Reciprocal and Juniors) are limited to two tickets. Only cars with valid OCC parking decals will be allowed to park in the garage on July 4.

Here's the schedule:

6th Annual Non-Run Fun Festival Monday July 26

By Don Eovino

Attention all you non-runners. Have you been avoiding running all year? Do you feel guilty watching all the fit athletes sprinting out of the Club running around Diamond Head and Kapiolani Park. Do you avoid conversations about being fit, getting in shape, and the latest exercise fad?

Then we have the event for you—The Annual Non-Run Fun Festival. Show up in casual clothes and non-running attire, join all your friends registering for the event, obtaining a non-running number you pin on your shirt, and when the starting gun goes off, go out and eat.

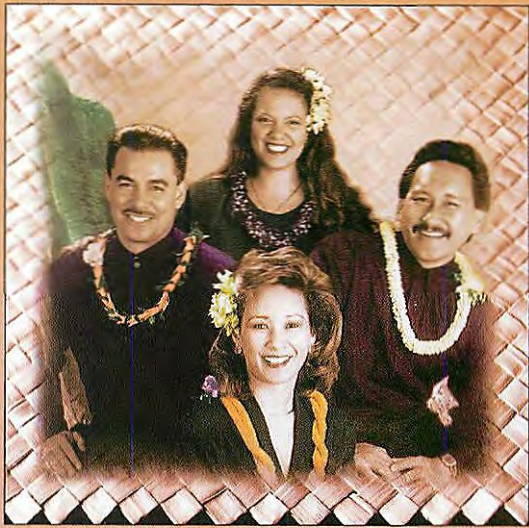

Each aid station is set up by a popular local restaurant. Between aid stations are head, neck, and shoulder massages designed to get you through this grueling event.

Rolando Sanchez (Salsa Hawaii) will provide music to move you along. Drinks will be available by script. Silent and public auctions will provide prizes such as Neighbor Island trips, gift certificates for restaurants, teeth bleaching, and other interesting items.

Race registration is at 6 p.m. and the last person on the course will be removed at 9:45 p.m. All participants will receive a colorful, quality, non-run, non-finishers t-shirt embossed with the picture of the non-run character and the logo's of the sponsoring restaurants.

Returning will be Compadres, Sunset Grill, Beau Soleil, Da Big Kahuna, Michelle's, Ninniku-Ya Garlic Restaurant. New restaurants to sample will be Cafe Monsarrat, Brew Moon, and Don Ho's Island Grill. Iced Teas will be provided by Jody Yip - Miss Shangrila.

20th Annual Open Ocean Invitational Swim

By Chrissy Lambert Rhodes

It was another beautiful day in paradise for our 20th Annual Open Ocean Invitational Swim. Once again we were able to have the swim during a window of opportunity with the weather and conditions being good.

Although some of the swimmers reported that "it was like a washing machine out there", we got lucky because we never got hit with the usual Mother's Day swells and box jellyfish. The long course was approximately two miles, starting from Sans Souci Beach, Ewa, rounding a buoy off of Kapahulu Groin and returning to the Club, rounding the second buoy. There was an optional one mile short course for those 50 years and over, rounding a buoy from the beach and returning to the Club.

This year we seemed to have attracted a lot of younger swimmers, the youngest being an eight year old girl. At the other end of the spectrum, our oldest swimmer was 69. We had a handful of our Club members win in their respective age groups: George Crandlemire, Bonnie Eyre, Uli Klinke, Ernie Leskovitz, and Diane Stowell. Congratulations to all.

Many thanks to our Swim Committee and Club members who contributed their time and effort to make this year's swim possible. We could not have done it without all of you. We look forward to seeing you all again on November 28 for our annual Castle Swim.

KITCHEN Renovation news

The Koa Lanai, our main dining room, will be closed right after Labor Day, September 6.

Kitchen renovation blueprints will soon be displayed in the Lobby, and plans are proceeding to tear up our kitchen and install new equipment to make the working life of Chef and his staff the better to serve you.

Reminding you:

- Food & beverage service will be available seven days a week.
- All service will have to come out of the Snack Shop, because we will not have our major dishwashing equipment.
- Plastic/paper service will replace china.
- Hau Terrace menus will be modified.
- Club BBQ will be every Friday and Saturday, 6-9 p.m. in September.
- No major parties or events can be scheduled until after the kitchen renovation is completed, so keep reading The Outrigger to keep informed.

Management is making every effort to keep us comfortable and fed, and welcomes your suggestions and/or questions. If you have any comments or concerns, put them in writing in the mail slot in the Lobby, and if they are of general interest to all, we'll answer them in the magazine.

Summer Surf Camp, Surf Contest, and Surf Movie

By Terri Needels, Surfing Committee Chair

The Surfing Committee has designed a full array of summer surfing activities for juniors and adults alike. The committee is especially excited about the new Surf School Camp, a week long intensive surfing clinic taught by professional surfer Hans Hedemann and his Surfing School. Any level of surfer from complete beginner to advanced or competitive surfer is welcome.

Members interested in any of the following surfing activities need to remember that the Beach Desk has a new policy regarding usage of surfboards by juniors under 15 years of age. Only a limited number of OCC surfboards are available for checkout. Parents must sign a written waiver to permit juniors under the age of 15 to check out boards.

Hans Hedemann Surf Camp

Session 1: Monday, July 26 through Friday, July 30
 Session 11: Monday, August 2 through Friday, August 6, 1999
 Time: 9:00 am to 11:30 am
 Location: Outrigger Canoe Club
 Experience Levels: Beginner to Advanced
 Equipment: Provided by Hans Hedemann Surfing School & OCC (soft boards for first timers are available)
 Cost: $200 per session (One week of daily instruction) Paid directly to the Hans Hedemann Surf School

Pro-Surfer Hans Hedemann a world champion surfer with 17 years of competitive experience on the World Professional Tour, and experienced surfing instructor, has agreed to offer his well-known surf school camp at the OCC for the first time ever! Hans has taught thousands of people how to surf and is known for making your surfing experiences exciting, memorable, fun, easy, safe, and a success.

Surf school camp participants will be grouped according to experience and ability level. Juniors and adults alike are both welcome. Groups will be kept small to ensure good instructor-surfer ratios and for safety.

Beginner's Level: Beginners will be taught about the equipment, the waves, reefs, currents, winds, falling safely, selecting waves, and how to catch and ride a wave.

Intermediate Level: Surfers

with some surfing experience will learn the skills involved in making turns on the wave, taking off at the peak of the wave, duck diving and how to ride larger waves.

Advanced Level: Advanced surfers will be taught how to execute advanced surfing maneuvers seen in contests such as roller coasters, tube riding, 360's, and aeriels. Advanced surfers are encouraged to bring their own boards.

The instructors are trained, touring pros certified in water safety.

All participants will also be given a certificate of completion and a special surf school camp surf short or rash guard shirt. For an additional cost, water photos will be made available.

How to Register: For more information and to register, pick up a registration sheet at the Front Desk of the OCC. Questions? Contact Terri Needels, chair of the Surfing Committee at 254-6114 (evenings).

Join the Surf Camp or Saturday surfing clinic at the Club.

Division awards will be presented to the first three places in all divisions at the annual Surf Movie and Awards Presentation Night. Leave your name, address and phone number at the Front Desk or on one of the sign-up lists posted in the Locker Rooms. We will be waiting for the surf forecasters to predict a solid south swell and will notify you by telephone approximately 4 to 5 days prior to the event.

Saturday Summer Surf Sessions

Want to hit the water regularly this summer to improve your skills or just to learn the basics of surfing? Join us Saturday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. during the summer. OCC Surf Team riders and volunteer surf coaches will be available to provide instruction, assistance, and encouragement to those interested.

Juniors and adults welcome. As there are only a limited number of boards available, please sign up in advance or bring your own equipment.

Sign up for the Annual OCC Summer Surf Contest

The waiting period for the exciting Summer Surf Contest begins July 3 and goes through August 7. The contest will take place on a Saturday. There will be divisions for men, women, juniors, and for canoe surfing as well as board surfing. All junior competitors will receive medallions to recognize their efforts the day of the contest.

Surf Movie & Surf Contest Awards Presentation

Please join us on Monday, August 9 at 6:30 p.m. for the Surf Contest Awards Presentation, followed by a surf movie in the Koa Lanai.

You will be treated to an epic surfing movie on a huge screen with surround-sound OCC style. Prior to the event we will be presenting awards to the winners of the various divisions of the surf contest. We will also be recognizing the accomplishments of the OCC Surf Team riders who have been competing all year.

Surf Team Members Wanted!

Juniors and adults of all ages and ability levels are being recruited to compete for the OCC Surfing Team. It is a great way to improve your surfing, surf in uncrowded conditions at a variety of spots, to make new friends, and to represent the Club. Short-boarders, longboarders, and boogie-boarders needed. Leave your name and phone number at the Front Desk or contact Terri Needels at 254-6114.

Aaaaahhh, Armani!

By Aubrey Hawk

Tables on the Koa Lanai were draped in white linens to showcase the elegant fashions at the Emporio Armani Ala Moana Outrigger Canoe Club Fashion Show and Luncheon on May 1. A near sell-out crowd of 105 members enjoyed Emporio Armani's stunning Spring/Summer '99 collection in an informal fashion show featuring eight ladies (including a few mother-daughter pairs) and two gentlemen, all Outrigger Canoe Club members, as models.

Armani's regional manager, Allison Speer, flew in from San Francisco for the event. She was so impressed with the show and the setting that she hinted Armani may want to do a "command performance" evening event at the Club.

After an exquisite luncheon, each guest went home with a gift bag including a 15 percent- off gift certificate and a large sample of Armani's new perfume. There was also a drawing for a $500 gift certificate...lucky Lei Tamura, guest of daughter Cherlyne, was the winner.

The Swap Romp

By Don Eovino

What a wild, exhausting, competitive and muddy event did 12 OCC members find themselves in for when they arrived Saturday morning at Kaneohe Marine Corps Base obstacle course at 7 a.m. May 1.

OCC entered two teams of six members each, as men's masters and as a women's open. The competitors had to run the Marine's obstacle course, which was filled with numerous mud pits and belly crawls in tank tracks.

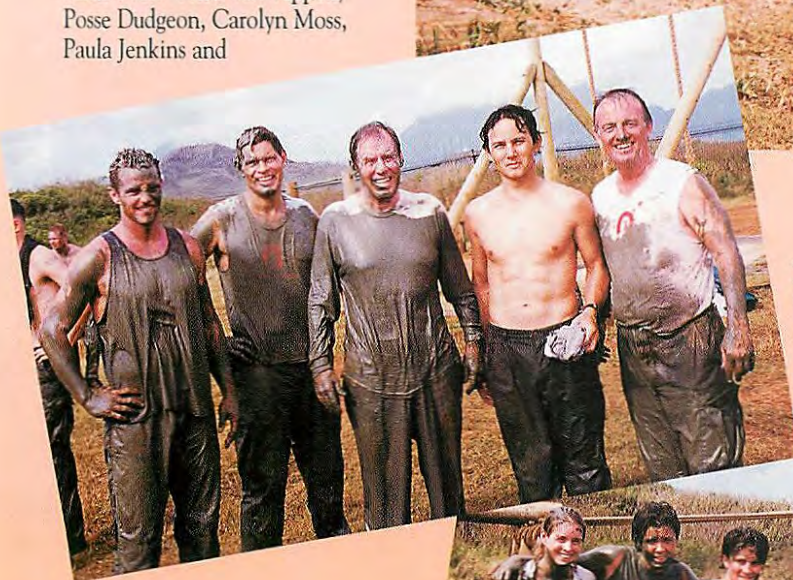

Wearing long pants or hiking boots, the racers joined 128 other teams on timed, one minute, starting intervals. Once on the course, runners were shot with fire hoses to add additional weight.

The first obstacle was scaling a nine-foot wall. Gino Merez, Tommy Damon, and Mike Field leaped over the wall in a single bound. Don Eovino, Bob DeWitz and Jim Stahl needed a little more help. The girls banded together and strategized how to assist each other over. Thea Von Appen, Posse Dudgeon, Carolyn Moss, Paula Jenkins and

Covered in mud were Posse Dudgeon, and Terry Field.

Jen Bosset listened while race captain Terry Field instructed them on obstacle running.

In addition to the obstacles, mud pits and beam walking, were the difficulty of running out through the sand along the beach and back, a distance of over five miles.

Each team had to finish together, which put pressure on the slower runners. The event was an annual event for the military which recently opened the event to the public.

The women's team took third placed at 1:26, and the men's masters took third place a 1:07. So much for our national state of military preparedness, the finishers were covered head to toe in military mud and took longer to wash off than it did to do the race.

The Evolution of the Knowledge, Experience and Lore of Hawaiian Outrigger Canoe Racing and Its Related Equipment

By Tay Perry

I have been associated with this sport for a period of 50 years. In this association, I have come up with some observations that describe the vast expertise of those connected with Hawaiian canoeing which evolves over a period of time.

I am using a fictitious paddler to illustrate my points. In the following observations, I am referring to the paddler in masculine terms even though these qualities will apply equally to either gender.

Since the earlier years of paddling are the most dynamic with respect to acquired knowledge, I have broken down the knowledge periods as follows. The following describes a typical "lifer" in Hawaiian outrigger canoe paddling. Please pardon me if some of this is done with tongue-in-cheek.

First Year

Our paddler is anxious to learn, very awkward, and often feels inferior to the other paddlers. He listens closely to the coaches and tries hard to perfect his abilities. He is a sponge for knowledge.

Second Year

He has learned quite a lot since his initial year of paddling. He is not as awkward in his technique as he was the prior year. He has picked up a lot of the names of canoe parts and maybe has learned how to count to three in Hawaiian. He is beginning to find out the importance of "blending" with the rest of his crew. He still is aware of having to learn a lot more about the sport.

Third Year

Our paddler now feels much more experienced and is a stronger, more efficient paddler. His technique has improved with two years of being coached and now he feels he needs less coaching. He also is starting to notice some of the shortcomings of his paddling peers.

Fourth Year

By now our paddler considers himself a seasoned veteran. He is now acutely aware of the defects of his crew-mates, and is often willing to mention them to the offending paddler as well as the other members of the crew and the coach. He is now starting to give his coaches tips and pointers as how to improve the crew performance.

Fifth Year

He wishes that there could be five more paddlers as good as he is, because then they would go undefeated for the season. The inadequacies of the outrigger canoes being paddled, now becomes a subject for concern. Canoe weights, shapes, ama and rigging begin to account for less than winning performances by a crew. If our protagonist is not a steersman or a stroke, performance by these positions is often blamed for poor results. He now wishes to help the coach with his crew and participate in the selection of the other members of the crew.

Sixth through 10th Years

These years are known as the peak period of outrigger paddling knowledge. The grasp of all that is involved will never get much higher than it is during this time period. During this period of participation there is usually little radical change in his level of expertise. Any change that occurred would have probably evolved slowly over the five year period.

He is often consulted by those newer paddlers needing his sage advice. Our paddling personality considers himself an expert in outrigger canoe paddling. He is probably a head coach of his club. He has definite ideas on canoe design and construction. Paddle shapes and design are areas in which he might be consulted.

At this point our paddler may have become involved in intra-club strife because of the difficulties involved in implementing his ideas. The problems usually come up over differences in coaching style, equipment procurement and crew selection methods. The term "Paddletics" has been coined to describe this process. It is during this period that he may have to change canoe clubs or start a new one.

10th through 20th Years

Our personality is now probably in charge of his own canoe club either by having started his own club or having taken over an existing club with the help of some allies. He has invested a great deal of time and probably money in putting together his club. This type of club is exemplified by many of the "one man shows" prevalent in the Hawaii canoe racing associations.

These clubs are often small because of rapid turnover of paddlers who might not be able to accept the non-democratic/authoritarian rule of their leader. They seldom have more than six crews entered in a regatta. These small clubs also often suffer from a lack of top-notch equipment because they lack the large membership base from which to afford the best equipment.

20th through 30th Years

Very often, a paddling person begins to have some doubts about his vast store of universal paddling truths and axioms when he hits the 20 year mark. There have been numerous revelations and improvements in both the equipment raced and the paddling techniques used over that past 20 years. What they did then and what they thought was right then is no longer applicable.

Sometimes it is hard to unlearn what he has learned and he stubbornly sticks to some of his old ideas while the paddling world passes him by. Often during this period he might become disillusioned and start to think of taking up golf, fishing or some other pastime. This is known as the burnout period. Often, at this time, our paddler will take a vacation from paddling activities or quit altogether.

30 Years and More

If he has made it this far, he is probably in it for life. Very often he is regarded by others as being at the peak of his knowledge in the lore and culture of outrigger canoe racing. The paradoxical thing is that, at the time he is being regarded in highest esteem, he, himself, realizes how little he knew about the sport in which his life has been spent. Now he is impressed by not what he knows, but what he does not know. He has probably finally switched almost exclusively to OC-1 paddling.

Conclusion

The outrigger canoeing sport has changed more in the last 10 years than it did in the previous 70 years. Prior to 80 years ago the sport was not organized, nor were there any canoes built specifically for racing that are known of. Nor were we really aware of the paddling techniques that were used in the 19th and early 20th centuries in Hawaii.

Now we are involved with space-age canoe and paddle construction materials, speedy "scientific" designs and ergonomic paddling techniques. It seems in the face of all this technology, that there would be no limit to what might be developed in this sport if there were no limitation to the equipment used.

At this point, I personally, fall back to support our traditional values in Hawaiian canoe design. I believe in supporting the Hawaiian koa canoe as the epitome of Hawaiian Canoe racing in Hawaii. The dimensional specifications of the Hawaiian canoe are not perfection, they were taken from an average of most of the koa racing canoes in existence in 1977.

These dimensions have no relationship to speed or performance except in the imaginations of each of the individual canoe builders of that time. There were no wind tunnels, tank tests or computers used in the designs then.

The 400 lb. weight limit goes back to the very early 1950s when the HCRA became concerned at the structural integrity of koa canoes that were being thinned out to achieve lower weights. Many of them began cracking or breaking up because of the removal of too much material from the hull.

I only mentioned this equipment thing because it is a large part of canoe knowledge and many new paddling people do not know the history of the Hawaiian canoe and why there are weights and specifications.

I can tell you a lot about the history of canoe racing in Hawaii, but not much about the best canoe, the best ama, the best non-koa construction materials, the best paddling technique, the best training methods, the best racing strategy, the best course or any of the other variables involved in outrigger canoe racing. All of the above items are a matter of opinion, sometimes supported by performance.

After having mentioned all of the changes above, I will note that the things that have changed the least are the character and personality of the average paddler, the politics of the individual canoe clubs and the operation of the canoe racing associations. In many ways these are the same as they were when I began outrigger canoe racing in 1948.

Cinco De Mayo! Ole!

By Barbara Del Piano

For a few hours one Wednesday evening in May, the Hau Terrace and Lounge were magically transformed into a Mexican cantina when more than 200 Outrigger members and guests gathered to celebrate Cinco de Mayo in grand "south of the border" style.

Many came attired in authentic costumes in brilliant colors straight from the paint brush of Diego Rivera. Peasant blouses with flounced skirts, streamers in bright colors floating from garlands fashioned from bright paper flowers, a vivid striped serape and broad brimmed sombrero all added to the gala ambience.

Hand-crafted Mexican artifacts from Cholo's Mexican Family Restaurant in Haleiwa, along with colorful pinatas, red, green and white balloons, and even the Mexican flag provided eye-catching decorations.

An Entertainment Committee event chaired by Dave Rochlen, the evening was a huge success from start to finish and hopefully will become an annual event.

As a 12 piece band strolled around the Terrace serenading the guests, many a foot could be seen stomping to the beat of the mariachi music.

Margaritas, tequila and Mexican beer were the popular libations of the evening and a sumptuous array of tantalizing authentic Mexican dishes prepared on site by guest chef Maria from Cholo's had hungry party-goers making return trips to the buffet, savoring each delicious bite of the fish tacos, the house speciality at Cholo's, as well as regular tacos, enchiladas, burritos, taquitos and a glorious assortment of tasty side dishes. Each of the main dishes was freshly prepared and brought out from the Club kitchen piping hot.

Muchas gracias to "Baby Dave" and all who made the evening such a smashing success!

P.S. Do you know what Cinco de Mayo commemorates? The popular Mexican holiday recognizes the anniversary of the 1862 Battle of Puebla, in which Mexican troops under General Ignacio Zaragoza, outnumbered three to one, defeated invading French forces of Napoleon III.

May Balding, Marilyn Haine, Leslie Mattice and Gay Austin enjoy the festivities.

Amigo Norm Dunmire

The buffet table was decorated with pinatas.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE MEMBERS - JULY 28, 1939, 4 p.m. RM. 220, DILLINGHAM

BUILDING, HONOLULU, T. H.

There were 42 members in attendance and 77 members by proxy for a total of 119 members represented. A portion of a resolution adopted read as follows:

"WHEREAS the OUTRIGGER CANOE CLUB secured a lease of the premises now occupied by it on Waikiki Beach, Honolulu, T. H., on November 9, 1938 from Hawaiian Hotels, Limited for a term to and including the 30th day of October, 1963, under which lease it is necessary that the present structures be removed by December 31, 1939, thus making it necessary in order to provide the desired Club facilities that a new clubhouse and surfboard lockers be erected and the athletic courts be relocated and constructed." Note: A total of $90,000 was to be raised through the sale of bonds at 5% per annum, interest payable semi-annually. The bonds were to mature on October 30, 1959. These bonds were paid before the maturity date (by 1945) due to WW II and the number of service members who joined the Club and with revenue from the ensuing member activity.

Attention Shutterbugs

It's that time again. Dust off your cameras and pump up those creative juices. It's time to get out and take those pictures. Who knows, you could be the winner of the Outrigger Canoe Club Photo Contest.

The OCC Public Relations

Contest categories and other details will appear in the August and September issues of the Outrigger. But don't wait, start taking those photos now.

New Photography Club

The Outrigger is pleased to announce the formation of a new Outrigger Photography Club. The club was formed to provide a vehicle for OCC members to participate in international photography contests, and promote a supportive learning environment for all members interested in photography. All interested members can sign up at the Front Desk or watch for the announcement of meetings on the various Club bulletin boards, the OCC website, or enclosed in members' monthly bill. The committee will meet once a month, and is open to all photo buffs, regardless of experience. If you have any questions regarding the Photography Club, the current chairperson is Nora Meijide. You can contact Nora at 734-1604 or via e-mail at norameijide@hotmail.com.

Canoe Racing Update

By Courtney Seto, Chair Canoe Racing Committee

By now our regatta season is well under way. So far, we have learned how to respect and take care of our equipment. We have also worked together to get the necessary things done. It's good to see the many faces helping out at various work days. Our coaches have done a good job in teaching our paddlers about their individual and crew responsibilities.

David Horner has been hard at work keeping on top of his Head Coaching duties. His magnetic personality seems to be able to make people just want to participate. Ikaika Kincaid is overseeing our fleet that not many Clubs can lay claim to: two strictly racing canoes in addition to three Force Fives, one Bradley and six Hawaiian class racers as practice equipment. Paula Crabb spent a lot of personal time and effort registering our paddlers in May.

Many thanks goes to her for making sure our paddlers are legal. Bill Bright, Walter Guild and Gordon Smith have us on track money-wise. Fortunately, they can balance a checkbook much better than I can. That's a good thing because Jen McTigue already has our Maui, Molokai and Catalina reservations taken care of.

busy with various jobs that need addressing (basically the ones that I forgot about). Tom McTigue has numbers this year and Kala Judd had his program and schedule set up early.

NEW BUSINESS: July 4th is our big race. This year we are organizing the regatta preparation differently. Our Novice A & B programs have the opportunity to learn what is involved in coordinating such a prestigious race. Race day logistics have always been something we paddlers have taken for granted. The old saying was "Take pride in your racing." The new saying is "Take pride in putting on your race." Scrappy Lipton has graciously agreed to oversee our efforts in this new format.

Side Note: Congratulations to Gerry DeBenedetti for her winning slogan, "90 Years of Tradition". She gets to paddle for free this year.

That is all.

Outrigger Launches Web Page

By Vicki Reisner

The Outrigger Canoe Club is pleased to announce the development of a comprehensive web page now available for access on the Internet superhighway. The design of the web page is meant to provide:

- Up-to-date schedules for sporting events.
- Race results.
- Club and Membership information.
- On-line reservations in the Koa Lanai and much much more.

Outrigger's colorful web page has been developed by Eric Rhodes and Club General Manager John R. Rader Jr.

Visit the Outrigger Canoe Club on the world-wide web at <http://www.outriggercanoeclub.com>. See our home page screen on page 6.

Board Briefs

Board Briefs is taken from the minutes of the Board of Directors meeting on April 29, 1999. The Executive Committee meeting on May 13, 1999 was canceled due to lack of agenda items.

Treasurer's Report—A recommended course of action on the Club's Building Fund management philosophy will be presented at the September meeting.

Secretary's Report—Four members were suspended for 15 days for being three times delinquent in their accounts.

Manager's Report—The Board approved the Controller having the authority to sign checks which are less than $3,000. . . The manager reported on the Guest and Reciprocal Membership Survey. . . The first phase of the web site development is completed at a cost of $1,546. The site is located at <http://www.outtriggercanoecub.com>.

Admissions & Membership Report—The membership count as of March 31, 1999 is 4,313. . . The committee for 1999-2000 was approved.

Building and Grounds Report—The kitchen renovation project is estimated to cost more than the preliminary estimate in December, 1998. . . The bid package will be sent out by May 15. . . The 1999-2000 committee was approved.

House Report—The manager's goal this year is to make Service Priority #1. This would be employees to employees and employees to members. The goal is to define the quality standards that the Club expects. . . The membership telephone survey being conducted by the University of Hawaii Marketing School will involve 250 Life, Senior, Intermediate and Regular members. . . The 1999-2000 committee was approved.

Athletic Report—T-shirt designs were approved for the Canoe Racing season and the Invitational Swim. . . The Club received $2,500 for the sale of the Holo Malie canoe. . . The motorcycle, shooting, surfing, swimming, golf, softball, fitness center, tennis, paddleboard and one-man canoe/kayak, canoe racing, running and volleyball subcommittees were approved for 1999-2000. . . Approval was given to send three teams to the USVBA national tournament. . . The Board approved a four-week long Learn to Surf Clinic.

Entertainment Report—The Board asked the committee to add monies in the 2000 budget for direct mailing of invitations to members for special events and a separate line item for exploratory events.

Employee of the Month

Our Employee of the Month is soft spoken, hard working, and modest Jose Garcia. He is a utility worker who has been at OCC for one year, and in Hawaii for 10 years. Utility means just that, and you will find Jose doing custodial work on the grounds, in the parking lot, vacuuming, cleaning the Men's Locker Room, helping the maintenance staff, and "sometimes I gotta go with Domie," probably the most fun of all.

David Kuh, Clubhouse Manager, describes Jose as a "self starter, fireball, always working, and helps everybody." He says Jose usually looks for things to do, as if all of the above weren't enough, and is being trained to do special cleaning with environmentally safe products.

When asked if he liked working here, Jose put on a big grin and said "I love this place." That's what we like to hear

Jose Garcia
