As the Terrace Turns

Many Club members are mentioned in retired Punahou teacher Brad Yates' new book, Fuel the Fire. Yates had taught and worked with many of our OCC athletes, and discusses his work and contacts with Debbie Lambert, Mike Stock, Peter Balding Jr. and others. It's nice that OCC athletes are making notable achievements and are able to help others Fuel the Fire.

Janice and Tom Harrer survived the two March birthdays of Justin, 2 and Hannah, 5. These were celebrated at OCC, a combination of tug boat and tea party, depending on your age and interest.

Bonnie Town said nobody wants to hear about her St Clement Vestry Retreat Dinner, but the 18 of them were here, had dinner, and felt (re)treated.

Maid of Honor Kia Andrea hosted the rehearsal dinner at OCC for the wedding of her sister KayKay. It was a huge party of 40, with guests coming from Boston. The wedding was held February 20.

It will all be over by the time you read this, but tune in again next month to hear about Baby Poppinga's April vital statistics. He/She was honored at a baby shower -WHICH WAS A SURPRISE- for Karrie and Brian Poppinga in late February.

Sue Tetmeyer, our newly elected Board member, helped to put on the International Wine & Food Society dinner with the help of Chef Philip. The cuisine was "extra special" and Sue thinks members would be advised to know that the Club can really put out special foods and menus when you make these arrangements with them.

Eva Rochlen was written up in Swimming World magazine in March as the Age Group Swimmer of the Month. Eva won many gold ribbons last summer in local and national competition.

Claudia M. Backlund, daughter of Fred and Mary Bell Backlund of Spokane, Washington, and Laurence F. Morehead, son of Leota and Hugh Hill of Newport Beach, California, wed at sunset on the OCC beach on February 1. The groom arrived by outrigger canoe, accompanied by a traditional conch blower, and the ceremony was conducted in the center of a heart of orchid leis laid on the sand.

Following the ceremony, friends and family from the mainland and Hawaii enjoyed a signature OCC buffet, planned to perfection by Liz Ventura.

The bride and groom moved to Newport Beach after the wedding.

Karrie Poppinga enjoyed her baby shower at the Club.

Hannah, 5, and Justin, 2, Harrer celebrated their birthdays on March 2. Yes, they were both born on the same day.

Claudia and Laurence Morehead

Jensen and Scrabby Lipton visited their family, Lt. and Mrs. David Dart and grandson, Nicholas Keali'i, stationed in Rota, Spain. The group trooped to Gibraltar and Tangier, Morocco enjoying three different countries in 24 hours.

Outrigger Swings to Music of 30s and 40s

By Gloria Keller

Swing's The Thing held at the Outrigger Canoe Club on March 6 was a smashing success. Approximately 250 members and their guests, many dressed in the style of the Swing Era, were offered a complimentary glass of champagne as they entered the Club.

The extra large dance floor covered a good portion of the Hau Terrace where The Monday Night Band (17 strong) were seated facing the dance floor and the Koa Lanai. Because of the special sound system created for this event the swing music reached all corners of the Club to the delight of the guests. The vocalist was Tisha Love, a Club member, and could she sell a song. WONDERFUL! Tables were covered in white cloths throughout the club and a simple black vase with two calla lilies adorned each. A crystal ball circled above the dance floor adding to the magical mood of the evening under the stars. The Martini Bar did a brisk business prior to the service of the strolling supper buffet created by Chef Pirscher and his staff. Having the staff dressed up made it festive too.

I would like to share a few comments I received:

Nell Sawyer: "We appreciate all the effort and detail work involved in organizing this outstanding evening. The music was great and very danceable, the food was all one could hope for."

Ann Lawson: "The band was great and did not blast us out of our seats. Tisha Love was a treat. The Chef did a wonderful job, the food was absolutely delicious and there seemed to be plenty. We thought we'd be the only OLDIES but GOODIES there. WRONG, our age group came and loved it!

A personal MAHALO to the entire Entertainment Committee for their hard work not only on this event but for all the work and time they gave this past year. A special mahalo to Elizabeth Lacy, Ann Martin and Cindy Mahoney for co-chairing this event.

Read your current Outrigger magazines to keep updated on coming events that are being planned by your Entertainment Committee. 1999 is shaping up to be full of many functions to attract our membership.

Reyn's Fashion Show Back by Popular Demand

Members who recall the sell-out Reyn's fashion shows from a few years back will be delighted to know that the event is back and better than ever this year.

On June 12, just in time for dad's day shopping and in honor of Reyn's 50th anniversary as a Hawaii company, OCC will host the Reyn's Father's Day Fashion Show and Luncheon.

Featuring our own OCC members as models, including men, women and keiki, the show will unveil the newest Reyn's aloha wear prints and the much-anticipated Reyn's kidstuff! line.

Mike Janus, Reyn's COO and vice president, says the market for quality keiki wear has been expanding steadily, while the supply of locally-made clothing for kids hasn't quite kept up. Hence the famous aloha-wear manufacturer's commitment to an entire line just for kids from infants to age 12. From infant rompers to seven new dress styles for girls and an expanded boys line to include shirts made in all the prints currently available for men, the Reyn's kidstuff! line brings the trademark Reyn's look to a smaller scale. The popular Back East label will also be featured as part of the Reyn's kidstuff! line.

Call the Koa Lanai for reservations, 921-1444.

Guests were swinging on the floor and in the aisles.

2nd Keiki Annual Karnival

Outrigger's second annual Keiki Karnival, will be held Friday, June 11 (King Kamehameha Day) from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. It's free to all participants (with a few optional materials charges) and no reservations are necessary.

Created especially for kids 12 and under, the Keiki Karnival will once again transform the Club into a wonderland of fun-in-the-sun activities, educational crafts, games and contests for OCC's mini members and their families.

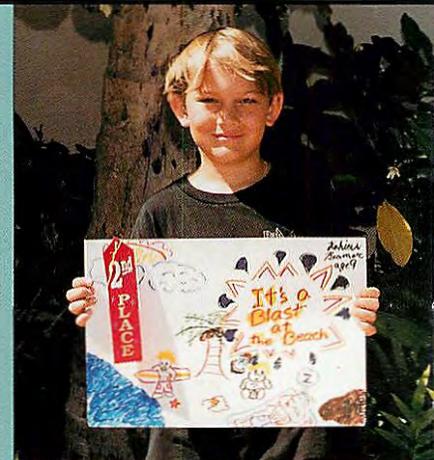

Beat the heat with the complimentary Shave Ice station and the Dunking Booth...both were runaway hits last year!

Also making a command reappearance are the Watermelon Eating Contest and Sand Castle Building Contest, while budding artists will be able to challenge each other in a drawing contest. There will be a "Tattoo Parlor," lauhala and coconut frond weaving and water games, plus lots more surprises in store from the creative minds on your Entertainment Committee.

To keep the keiki fueled up for all these exciting activities, there will be a special brown bag lunch.

Outrigger Volleyball

By Doug Rigg & Tom Madison

Led by ageless tournament MVP Jon Stanley, the OCC Masters ran the table with a perfect 8-0 mark in capturing the Master's Title in the Haili Tournament in Hilo, March 25-27. In a division comprised of players 35 years and up, the OCC team, averaging more than 50 years, did not allow more than nine points in any game, and had an average margin of victory of 15-6.

TC Gray and Randy Shaw were selected to the All-Tournament team. Others members were Rob Durand, and Bill Lawson.

Overall, the Outrigger was represented by three teams at the tournament, with all of the teams placing within the top five. The "A's" placed fourth in a field of 24 teams. They lost a three-game match in the semi-final round with a 17-15 score in the third set. Despite having to deal with a road crowd and controversial officiating, each team member conducted himself like a gentleman.

Jimmy Kalaukoa was named to the All-Tournament team, and Punahou juniors Parker Smith and Doug Johnstone showed collegiate potential with their stellar play. Other team members were Alan Lau, Rick Humphreys, Brad Stewart, Tom Harrer and Steve Corbelli.

The OCC Open team lost very close matches during pool play to the teams that finished first and second overall. They placed fifth, defeating AEIOU in their first game and then losing to Local Motion, a team made up of UH men's volleyball alumni Aaron Wilton and Silvan Leoni. The OCC team was led by the spiking and jump-serving of Alika Williams and Troy Hotz, and anchored by veterans Jon Andersen, Marc Haine, Tony McInerney, Danny McInerney and Danny Alvarez.

The Outrigger junior volleyball program is going strong this year with five boys and girls teams. The boys 18 & under team, coached by Scott Rigg and Tony McInerney, is made up of players from Kamehameha, Punahou and University High School.

The boys 16 & under team, coached by Bill Johnson, is made up of players from various schools. A boys 12 & under team will be coached by UH Wahine Volleyball coach Dave Shoji. All these teams will be going to the Junior Olympics, set for early July in New Orleans.

Chris and Beth McLachlin are coaching a girls 18 & under team which will be competing in a junior tournament in Davis, California.

Bill Lawson is also coaching a boys 12 & under team competing in USVBA tournaments in Hawaii.

The United States Volleyball Association (USVBA) Nationals will be from May 29-June 5 in San Jose. Outrigger teams will be preparing by competing in upcoming local USVBA tournaments in Hawaii.

The schedule for the beach volleyball season has not been set yet. See the Volleyball board downstairs by the Men's Locker Room for more information.

Other events throughout the year that found a lot of OCC runners enjoying were the: Ford Island 10K, the Great Aloha Run, the 1st OCC Biathlon, the Turkey Trot, the Diamond Head Duet, and several other weekend races.

Special Categories were selected from the running committee to apply to the runners. Outstanding Participation were those who had participated in some events throughout the year. Outstanding Achievement were those who we call our core group who are serious runners, can be counted on regularly, and running is a way of life. The third category is for the runner who particularly this year excelled above their normal level of running and improved to the point of being a standout runner in 1998. All these runners received stylish red OCC Key Lanyards, quite the fad now for those interested in making a fashion statement. They also received a corresponding certificate created by Candes Meijide-Gentry.

The special awards for the night went to two worthy individuals. Most Inspirational Runner of the Year went to Ruth Munro. She won 1st place in every race in her division that she entered last year including first in her category in the Honolulu Marathon.

The next award went to our co-chair for this year: Rookie of the Year-Candes Meijide-Gentry. She unselfishly volunteered for all the races during the year, helping organize, recruit, assist, strategize and participate. All during a year when she graduated from UH, completed the Marathon, and ran for Miss Oahu (which she won in 99.)

Hats off to the new Running Committee Members: Co-Chairs Don Eovino and Candes Meijide-Gentry, Jon Hunter, Bob DeWitz, Gerry DeBenedetti, and Terry Fields.

The evening concluded with the honor of recognizing those who finished the Honolulu Marathon. All Marathon runners received a porcelain coffee latte mug inscribed with Honolulu Marathon 1998 and the OCC logo. Your finishing time is a testament not only to your ability, but to your drive, dedication, sacrifice, discipline, ability to heal, and perseverance. The last quarter of the year focuses on this event with lead up runs, week-end buddy runs, and finally the event.

The year end banquet was an opportunity to share the year's experience in one beautiful evening at the Club and enjoy the buffet on a relaxed Sunday night.

The new Race Calendars for the year were displayed, new rosters distributed as well as a summary of the new year's events outlined by the Running Committee. The summary is available for viewing in the tunnel downstairs, and the race calendars are posted in the Men's and Women's Locker Rooms as they have been for the past 15 or more years.

Any Club member of any ability, any age, or any experience is welcome to join in any of the running events. An effort is made to accommodate as many people as desire to participate. Call any committee member if you have questions.

New running committee members are Candes Meijide Gentry, Rookie of the Year, and Don Eovino, co-chairs; Ruth Munro, Bob DeWitz, Jon Hunter, and Terri Fields, Most Inspirational Runner.

The Running of the 28th Oahu Perimeter Relay— 134 MILES AROUND THE ISLAND

By Don Eovino

There are two running events in a yearly calendar that define the spirit and endurance of the long distance runner. One is the Honolulu Marathon. The other, the Oahu Perimeter Relay, calls for a similar type of runner.

Stamina is important since seven runners must run 134 miles or approximately 19 miles each. In addition, the runners must start, stop, race, and relax, for five or more hand-offs.

Each runner faces another not so subtle obstacle—that of sleep deprivation. In order to minimize the impact of 112 teams, 784 runners, and 224 vehicles racing around the island, the event starts in the dark on Saturday evening.

The runners wearing reflective vests climb around the saddle in Hawaii Kai, through Makapuu and Waimanalo along the north shore to Kaena Point where they shed their vests and are awakened by the blazing sun baking them from Waianae past the airport to the finish in Kapiolani Park on Sunday afternoon.

Outrigger Canoe Club's running team managed to persuade two teams to attempt this event—a Men's open, captained by Gino Merez, and a Mixed open captained by Katy Bourne.

This race takes a unique personality to participate. The aforementioned obstacles describe a warrior personality. A marathon completion is almost a prerequisite for joining the team. In fact, those who have the most difficulty are those who haven't completed one before and those that have, usually make time and miles for those who didn't.

However, we don't have that luxury of finding 14 individuals with those qualifications who are willing to sacrifice their Saturday night and Sunday mornings, convince their spouse or significant other that this is a worthy cause and in fact usually require them to accompany them somewhere on the course, and still believe they are fit enough to survive 19 miles of this.

So we adapt to the situation and that is what makes our stories so interesting afterwards. Gino's team included Matt Kresser, Beau Giles, Dave Stackhouse, Don Eovino and Vic Hemmy III. Katy's team included Terry Fields, Tommy Damon, Billy Balding, JoAnn Klinke, Bob DeWitz, and Stephan Reinke.

Katy's team had less war stories to tell as everything went fairly smooth after the difficulty of forming the team. Stephan Reinke hadn't run much since he broke and pinned a shoulder six months earlier, but based on his four time Ironman finishes, he rose to the occasion. Bob DeWitz supplied his van outfitted with sleeping bags and cots. Bob ended up cramping a calf and sacrificed his body, ultimately missing the Maui Marathon because of the injury.

Terry Field suffered admirably and completed all her legs. Tommy Damon shined and brought home the baton as he did two years ago. Billy Balding raced and still found time the next day to enter a canoe race as well. Katy pushed herself as always and they finished with a time of 17 hr. 2 minutes, enough for a 3rd place finish in their division.

More stories were in store for Gino Merez's team. The pressure of a last minute cancellation required that Vic Hemmy and Beau Giles would have to do longer legs than they were ready for. Vic and Dave Stackhouse had to stack their legs all in the first half before Kaena Point since Vic had to lifeguard at 9 a.m. the next morning and Dave had to work at 3 p.m. that day as well. Beau Giles had signed up to race the event but had never done a marathon before. In fact, his longest run was the five mile 30/30 relay last October. When asked why he entered, he stated that he was a fast runner, having run the mile in 4:26 in college and currently coaching cross country at Iolani. Little did he know what was in store for him for the next 16 hours. Vic Hemmy was the most enthused runner. We knew we had to calm him down so he could finish all his legs. He was assigned six legs. At 4 a.m. after completing three legs, Vic had burnt out his quads and was done for the day. It seems on his third leg that a runner ahead of him in the dark of Kaneohe kept distancing himself from Vic which ignited his competitive juices. Throwing caution to the wind, Vic sped up his pace to catch him.

With this new pace proving fruitless, Vic turned on a full blown sprint to catch the stubborn figure ahead. Only to realize upon capturing him that his intended victim was enjoying his off-legs on a bicycle. Now Beau would have to increase his legs to make up the short fall as well as everybody else. Undaunted, he pushed all night for all he was worth, and by midmorning both knees had given out, after he finished his assigned legs with some adjustments.

This left Matt Kresser with no slack and since he committed to the race did not deny his teammates his effort. With one long and final exhausting leg to go, Matt took the baton at Pearl Harbor and proceeded over the interchange. Not knowing the course, Don Eovino advised him to drop down to a path instead of going over the bridge. Unfortunately, this proved to be a mistake that took Matt into Hickam Air Force Base.

After waiting for an extra 20 minutes for Matt's arrival, the team sent out a search party. Matt was found ambling along the airport viaduct having reconnoitered the military base for an extra three unwanted and unnecessary miles. Clenching his teeth, Matt handed off to the next runner and after sitting sullenly in the van and with profuse apologies by Don Eovino finally started talking to everybody.

Don and Gino finished up the legs for the team with Gino bravely augmenting his team with a total of 27 miles that day. Thanks to fast runs early on by Dave Stackhouse, Vic Hemmy, and Beau Giles, this team finished in a time of 16 hours, 32 minutes a pace of 7 minutes 20 seconds per mile, not bad considering the travails that attacked them.

Everybody recovered eventually. The event mimicked an outward bound experience. This relay is a phenomenon that brings out the true character of the individual. Fast runners run faster than ever before, sacrificing their muscles, ten-and ligaments as if their life depended on it. The only reward is a few finishers at the end of the line offering a handshake, an ubiquitous t-shirt and a nice medal to wear around your neck for the day.

But more than that is the experience of racing around Oahu in the cool of the night with a full moon overhead, listening to the crows of the roosters before sunrise in Haleiwa, battling the heat of Waianae, exhaustion, thirst, sunburn, sleep deprivation, with the joy of a group of like-minded individuals/strangers. You share a van with the only common thread being the desire to complete one more goal and have a permanent implant in your memory banks of a truly unique running experience.

What If Your Teenager...

What if your child could discover how valuable it is to take responsibility, to work cooperatively in a team, and to take the initiative to learn and grow? More importantly, what if your teen could gain more self-confidence, be more sure of his or her own self-worth, and have greater self-potential?

What if someone told you that your teen could discover this in one week at Winners' Camp? Winners' Camp is a non-profit educational foundation that has been teaching teens all of this - and more - for fourteen years. Graduates of the program have reported that school work is now "a snap," that their grades have "gone way up," and that they have confidence in their own abilities.

Their parents report that they "can see a remarkable difference" in their teen's communication skills, study habits and grades, and that the participants have a greater sense of responsibility in all areas of their lives.

Winners' Camp has been cited by The Conference Board as being "among the most effective business-supported education improvement projects in the nation." Winners' Camp has graduated over 8000 participants and is known as an executive training for teenagers.

This year, Winners' Camp will be held on Kauai at Kahili Mountain Park Retreat, August 2-8, the tuition is $980, and includes accommodations and meals for seven days, Inter-island air and ground transportation, over 100 hours of accelerated learning, course materials, student manual, souvenir t-shirt and camp photo plus a full-day parent integration seminar, and continuing support and follow-up. To request a brochure and application for your family, please call the Winners' Camp hot line at 263-6909 or visit us at: www.aloha.net/~hstwin.

Regatta Season Is Around the Corner

By Courtney Seto, Canoe Racing Chair

The 1999 canoe racing season is fast approaching us. We have already been hard at work gearing up for what should be an exciting year. We have a brand new Force Five to round out our quiver of canoes. The practice canoes have been refurbished to a shine thanks to Jay Dowsett. Ikai-ka Kincaid has the rest of the equipment set to go and Domie and his gang have the trainer waiting to get the first paddler wet.

1998 gave us a close second in states despite fielding only 23 crews. We are all familiar with our men's outstanding championship effort, and our women's program is back on track. We had strong efforts in three major areas even though our Club participation was on the low end.

In 1999, we will keep the momentum rolling. The Outrigger offers what a paddler wants: a competitive Club, a chance to win and continuity. We encourage all members to show their Club pride this year. Remember when the Outrigger had near maximum crews in states and at least two competitive crews in both the men's and women's distance programs? Perhaps we could build on last year's efforts and return to those "big number" days.

Our coaches list is being finalized and schedules should be set soon. David Horner has enthusiastically signed on to be our regatta head coach. We are also fortunate to have both our men's (Kala Judd) and women's (Tom McTigue) coaches back for this year. We are happy to say that, in addition to our experienced mainstays, the "young" blood paddlers are offering to help coach for regatta season.

Committee members are in place and an agenda is set. This year we are stressing that we all be up-front with each other. We hope that all Club members eligible would want to paddle for the Outrigger and we encourage participation.

If you are interested in joining us this season, we would be more than happy to help you with all the necessary paperwork. For the prospective long distance paddler, you will be shown the policies put forth this year to keep misunderstandings about paddling to a minimum. Here are some of the policies we are following in 1999:

No transfers. Once you paddle for the Outrigger in 1999 (regatta or distance), you will not be granted a transfer unless hardship is established.

We will not "hire" paddlers towards the end of regatta season just to fill events for Oahu or State championships.

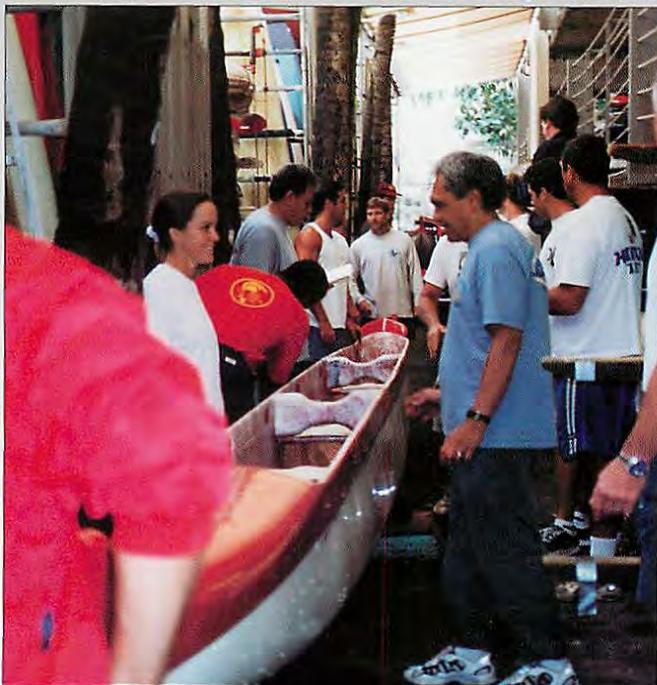

Individual OCC paddlers must submit in form letter reason of grievance before such grievance is to be addressed.

Any questions you may have should be answered before you sign on the dotted line.

In closing, with the pool of talented paddlers the Outrigger has, we should once again be able to produce another competitive season. From our kids program to our upper division paddlers, we all will be counted on to help out.

Are you willing to represent the Outrigger in paddling this year?

It takes a lot of bodies to weigh eight canoes, and paddlers from the women's men's and novice programs were out to assist with manual labor. Photo by Genie Kincaid

Captain's Corner

By Tiare Richert-Finney

I want to thank those individuals who have stepped up and said YES when asked to be the chair of an athletic committee. By the time you read this, all committee chairs should be filled, but those people I want to acknowledge now are Rai Saint Chu, Mixed Tennis and Billy Balding, One Person Canoe & Kayak

I urge anybody with an interest in any of our athletic committees to contact me and volunteer to serve the club. It IS fun.

Paddlers should start putting in time in the weight room, running and cross training.

The Club's slogan for the paddling T shirts will be selected by a contest held on registration day. The winner will have half of their registration fee paid.

We are working on completing the athletic calendar, so all schedules should come to me for coordination and posting. In order to have maximum participation we need to get the word out on our scheduled events.

Lockers Available

Lockers of all sizes are available for rent in both the Men's and Women's Locker rooms. If you're planning to paddle this season and would like a locker, contact the Business Office as soon as possible.

Softball Team Opens Season with Shutout

The Outrigger Canoe Club softball team opened its Leahi Spring League season with a rare 10-0 shutout. After two dismal practices, the team had good reason to be worried about the season opener. The biggest challenge was to field a full team. The team hasn't had to forfeit a game in over 10 years. Mike Miranda and Bill Kilcoyne gathered enough troops via phone calls to fill every position.

Chris Siegfried and Kilcoyne brought their explosive bats with them going three for three at the plate with three RBI's each. Chris crushed a two-run home run in the third inning and added a long double in the fifth. Kilcoyne banged solid singles in the first, third and fourth inning. The league's 10-run rule stopped the game after five enabling Bryan Hoernig to complete an extremely rare shutout. Hoernig allowed only three singles and a walk. The defense played flawless error-free ball behind him. Starting pitcher Keith Letman was unavailable and backup pitcher Gaddis is still out with injuries. Hoernig has had to come to the team's rescue a number of times in the past few years,

Team Captain and 1998 MVP Jim McAluney was two for two with a walk. Ralph DeWitt returned to the team at first base and contributed two solid singles to right. Other hits came from shortstop Jim Cavanah, third baseman Miranda, second baseman Paki Vaughan and Hoernig.

Volleyballer and last year's playoff star Brian Poppinga has joined the team full time and will play the outfield.

Returning at catcher and crushing balls in practice is Traci Phillips. Aaron Eberhart and newcomer J. R. Turner contributed on the field and will be playing weekly.

Hoping to return to the team besides Letman will be Clay Chee, Rick Piper, Henry Ayau, Jon Whittington, Stew Kawakami, Jake Mizuno, Jon Kiner and perhaps Ryan Haneberg.

OCC has an uphill battle to reclaim the championship it held for three years. Players come and go on business, vacation, paddling practice and injuries. There is always room for anyone interested in joining the team. Game days will vary this Spring on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. All games will start at 5:00 pm. Warmups start at 4:30. The weekly BBQ starts right after the game. Bring something to toss on the grill and join in the fun.

Kanaka Ikaika ONE-MAN CANOE RACING ON THE RISE

By Genie Kincaid

The most popular race on the Kanaka Ikaika schedule, the 8 mile OCC sponsored race from Hawaii Kai to Outrigger, attracted as many as 80 kayakers in the mid-1980s when kayak popularity was at its peak. At that time, one-man canoe competitors were nowhere to be found. In the mid-1990s, the Kanaka Ikaika, a non-profit organization dedicated to the perpetuation of solo paddling, accepted one-man competitors for participation in its racing season. These days the Kanaka Ikaika events are dominated by one-man canoe racers three to one. Polynesians, particularly the Tahitians, use a one-man outrigger canoe as a mode of transportation, steering as they paddle the canoe.

Former Club president Walter Guild was the first in Hawaii to manufacture a user-friendly craft that had a rudder and a steering system in the late 1980s. Since there is no learning curve with these canoes, it wasn't long before these "one-mans" began converting kayakers and attracting 6-man outrigger canoe athletes. In this year's OCC race held January 30, there were a total of 149 one-mans racing compared to 47 total kayakers.

The popularity of the one-man has pervaded OCC where for the past few years, the men's canoe racing program has incorporated the use of one-mans in its training. Guild refutes the notion that Outrigger was simply blueprinting the success of Lanikai Canoe Club which extensively relied on one-mans for training and crew selection.

"If you look at the top 10 crews that finished the Molokai (last year), all use the one-man to supplement their training," observes Guild. There is no mistaking that the rest of the paddling world has discovered the advantages of one-man training in terms of conditioning and water knowledge.

The only downside to the one-man canoe is accessibility. Depending on the make, you can expect to spend $1,700-$3,000 for a new canoe.

For a kid in school or college, that's disposable income of fantastic proportions. Still without tapping into the youth market, the demand for one-mans has not leveled off. Even with six manufacturers of canoes in the state, there is about a three month waiting list for new canoes.

The Kanaka Ikaika season saves the best events for last. The Kaiwi Channel Relay will be run on May 2. Competitors will form two and three person teams on single and double outrigger canoes, and make open ocean changes to race 40 miles from Molokai to Magic Island.

The State Championships in canoe and kayak will be held on May 16 over a 24 mile course from Kailua to Waikiki. Finally, the world champions in canoe and kayak will be determined in the 32 mile Molokai Challenge solo crossing to be held May 30.

Memorial Day Service and BBQ

By Gerry DeBenedetti

The Club will hold its traditional Memorial Day Service on Monday, May 31 at 9 a.m. on the Hau Terrace. Complimentary light refreshments will be served. The Reverend William Kaina, retired pastor of Kawaihahoa Church, will officiate. Leis and loose flowers are welcome. If you have a friend, loved one, or deceased relative you would like to honor, there is a special significance about doing this at Outrigger. We have the sound of the sea providing the most beautiful music, and the Teves Trio, providing the next most beautiful music.

There is a plaque on the end wall of the Terrace, dedicated to the OCC members whose ashes are scattered at sea, but the service is not just for those who are resting off shore. You may share your Aloha and pay your respects for anyone dear to you.

Dress is casual. If you are a paddler, bring your paddle and help escort the flowers out to sea after the service. OCC is nothing if not fraught with tradition, and one started several years ago is to "name" the leis as they are being tossed into the sea.

The paddlers shout out names of Club members or relatives, or friends they know, naming each lei as it enters the ocean. "Here's to Fred, here's to Daddy, this is for Auntie Eva, aloha Clair, here's to Lisa", and so forth. If you have someone you would like "named" as we put the leis into the ocean, tell one of the paddlers, and ask that your aloha be given in the name of ".....".

Then when all the flowers have been dropped into the water and waves permitting, the paddlers try to catch a wave and come whooping and hollering into shore, with those gathered at the Terrace applauding and cheering. What a way to be remembered!

Since Memorial Day is a State holiday, the Club observes the beginning of "summer" by starting our BBQ season, when we have BBQ on every Saturday, and some Monday holidays. We expect a big crowd. Some students will be finished with school, and the weather is usually mellow, and sometimes the sunset is just right for us to have a Green Flash and a rosy sky.

OCC is the only place we know of where sunsets get applause. For those who have never seen a Green Flash, or think this is some made up story, or don't know what we're talking about, there is a picture of a Green Flash in the Bar Lanai area before you go onto the Hau Terrace. We will print a Green Flash article in an upcoming issue with some scientific data for the doubters. Enjoy your Memorial Day holiday, remembering your loved ones with Aloha, and being thankful they have such a nice place to play off shore, and enjoy our wonderful, relaxed OCC summer BBQ with your friends and family.

Paddler Challenges Molokai on June 12

Friends and supporters are welcome to the FOCC beach on the afternoon of June 12 when paddler Tracy Selling, seven-time Molokai crew paddler, will attempt her first solo Molokai crossing in support of Parker Rolles and juvenile diabetes awareness.

Parker is the son of OCC members Scott and Susan Rolles. Tracy is a close family friend who has become a volunteer and supporter for research on juvenile diabetes and wants to help the many children in Hawaii, like Parker, who have this disease.

Tracy wants everybody to know she is a Novice B in this category of paddling, but she has been encouraged by the support and help from OCC members. Scott will be on her escort boat, and Tiare Richert-Finney is her team Mom.

The 38-mile start at Molokai will finish at Kaimana Beach, and take about 5 to 6 hours. They will be calling in to OCC and Club Management will be able to tell you when they are expected.

For those needing more information before June 12, please call Majken Mechling at 988-1000. And, on June 12, you are invited to come down to the beach and say "yay Tracy" as she completes her 1st Annual Molokai Challenge for a Cure.

Employee of the Month

"Miss Aloha", Marie Felton, is our Employee of the Month. She started at OCC in 1987 as a hostess, than a relief supervisor, and is now the supervisor in the Koa Lanai in the evening and for the Sunday Brunch.

She and her husband are very involved with their nine year old daughter's school—Waikiki Elementary. They belong to the PTA, conduct reading programs, and volunteer in many other ways.

They live near the school in the Waikiki area. Marie's husband is a tile setter.

Marie likes how convenient OCC is to her home. She says the Club has been good to her, adjusting her hours to meet her family's needs. She likes the familiarity of the members, knows their likes, dislikes, and preferences.

She also feels the employees are well taken care of. She enjoys the employee picnics and Christmas events.

Marie is a happy go lucky upbeat person and our Miss Aloha deserves to be the Employee of the Month.
