Island Style Luau

By Deborah Peck

awaiian magic descended on the Outrigger Canoe Club at this year's 89th annual Club Luau. Our Island Style Luau was a smashing success. More than 550 people enjoyed an evening of traditional Hawaiian food, tropical flowers, music, hula and aloha.

We were very fortunate this year to have the Brothers Cazimero who thrilled the crowd with their outstanding performance. It was the highlight of the evening. Palani Vaughan joined them on stage for a couple of songs, and what a treat to see Scrappy Lipton sing "Shells" with them.

Other entertainment included Arthur Lyman and his xylophone and Stewart Kawakami and his group Stew and Poi, in addition to Rodman Muller and his fabulous fire dance, always a favorite.

Everyone loved Mike Cote and Jesse Brown, winners of the 1997 Ukulele Stand Up Shootout contest. What talent.

Cathy Ostrem and her keiki hula dancers lit up the night with their performance, and Baby Dave Rochlen wowed the audience with his dancing.

Each year, the Entertainment Committee strives to make our annual Club Luau better than the previous year's, always a challenging task. Months of planning were required to put together this grand event. We couldn't have done it without the efforts of many people, too numerous to mention.

We want to thank Henry Ayau, our emcee extraordinaire throughout the event. We couldn't have done it without him.

Thank you also to Jeff Zimmerman, our Entertainment Committee chairman, who worked tirelessly to help make our luau such a success.

Special thanks to Margaret Puder who helped transform the Club into a tropical paradise. Her creativity and hard work are responsible for the beautiful decorations and flower arrangements.

Another big mahalo to Don Figueira and Liz Ventura and the rest of the staff for all their efforts in coordinating this event. You're the

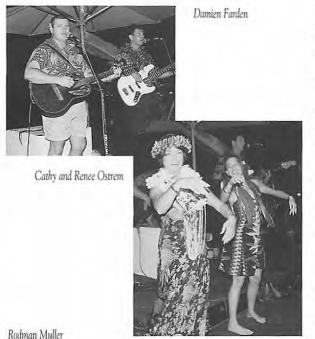

Thank you to all the great musical entertainers and dancers who truly made our luau so memorable.

Mahalo to the imu crew and to Kaleinani Brown and the flower sellers. And last but not least, thank you to the many people who contributed their time and effort in making our Island Style Luau the best ever. We hope you enjoyed it as much as we did. We look forward to seeing you at our next event.

Attending the bridal shower for Elise Stassi were, front, Shannon Boyd, Sara Ackerman, Elise, and Eleni Pflueger. Standing, Mrs. Derek Wood, Maryjo Schull, Diana Snyder, Jennifer McTigue, Colleen Heyer, Mrs. Kenney and Dicey Brinck.

Dr. Tina Tom hosted a study group of 20 who call themselves the South Shore Dental Study Group. They meet every other month (on the South Shore?) and talk about health care interests.

Shay and Julie Yarbrough hosted a wedding shower luncheon for friend Corrine Takahashi. Shay was one of the bridesmaids and the hostesses outdid themselves with the table centerpieces. They were hurricane type tall vases with live fish, corals, sand and shells.

Wedding bells for Norm Skorge and bride Joy Ito. They held their rehearsal dinner at OCC on the 29th of August and were married on the 30th. The rehearsal dinner, which Norm said had "all kinds of people from out of town" was a lobster feed, 31 of them. Congratulations to the bride and groom who are now at home in Kahala.

Christian and Bob Peterson vacationed in Kona and went to North Kohala and kayaked the North Kohala water ditch. It was built 95 years ago of hand hewn stone blocks and they went through seven tunnels, one 1,800 feet long, under flumes and water falls. Very scenic, they say.

Alice and Terry White are the brand new parents of Logan Alexander, much to the happiness of patient grandparents, Ernie and Baba Kea White. The couple now lives in Orange County.

And speaking of new grandparents, Tim Guard says his grandson, Tyler, was born on September 19 with a canoe paddle in hand. Proud parents are Matt and Allison Guard.

Michael Brinck and his fiance Elise Stassi were in the islands for the wedding of Mia Kresser.

Diana Snyder entertained at an elegant luncheon bridal shower for Michael's bride, Elise. The couple returned to San Francisco where they will be married on New Year's Eve.

When Jo Rosehill plans a party, you know everything will go perfectly. This time it was a very special surprise birthday party at the Club for husband Amby's birthday and his retirement as a judge. More than 80 friends and family members from as far as England, joined in the surprise, which was a complete surprise.

Puamana and her group, including Irmgard provided the music. The gournet buffet prepared by the chef was fantastic and included beef Wellington, mini lamb chops, smoked turkey, plus everything anyone could want. Congratulations to the Dining Room staff and Chef and his staff.

ebrated their 67th wedding anniversary at the Outrigger on September 6. They were joined by a few family members. Their daughter and niece, Noella Kanoelani and Kanoelani Sherwood came from California to honor Arthur and Grace.

Bruce and David Potter and their sisters, Betty Gail Alford and Jane James, hosted the Golden Wedding anniversary party for their parents, Prudy and Bob Potter at the Club on August 9. The 123 guests included both local and mainland family and friends, with 40 coming from the Mainland.

Bill Bugbee has moved his family back to Del Mar, California after being away for three years. Bill and wife, Cyndi moved with their two children Brittany Leilani, 6, and Chase Hiikau, 4, to Washington, D.C. in 1994 following Bill's graduation from his residency as an orthopedic surgeon at UCSD Medical School. He did a one year fellowship in hip and knee joint replacements. Next, they moved to Fayetteville, Arkansas for two years where he entered private practice. Tired of the humid summers and the threat of tornadoes, they decided to return to California. Bill is now teaching residents at Thornton Hospital, doing research and again doing knee and hip joint replacements.

Their families are happy to have them back in California so Brittany and Chase can grow up being spoiled by their grandparents, Tom and Linda Bridger, along with Bill's mom Nancy Bugbee and Howard and Eileen Bugbee.

September is anniversary and birthday month for Valerie Davis, so she and Rick celebrated by going to England and sailing back to New York on the QE2. This was a voyage of nostalgia for Valerie as she first came to the U.S. on the original Queen Elizabeth.

As part of "Get Organized Week", Gerry DeBenedetti and her associate donated their skills to the Alger Foundation's Ke Akia Ho'ona project in Waianae. Designed for low-income, first time homeowners, the eight families that recently moved into their first home were offered a workshop on home organizing, filing, garage storage and, believe it or not, how to open the mail.

There is a right way to do that, ask Gerry. 9

The Soul of Surfing is Hawaiian

By Gerry DeBenedetti
This is the title of a new book, just out, by OCC member Fred Hemmings Jr., and available at a savings to Club members on November 22, at OCC between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

There will also be a display of vintage boards and surf memorabilia. For you new timers, Fred was the World Surfing Champion in Puerto Rico in 1968. He traveled with Duke Kahanamoku as a member of his surf team and went on promotional tours.

Fred, a former member of the OCC and ODKF Boards, will have an autograph signing on Saturday, November 22 as a benefit for the Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation and the OCC Surf Committee, with funds to be used for surfing grants.

Here are some provocative quotes from the book:

Number Threes: I can close my eyes and envision with great joy long sessions of riding 6-8 foot summer swells at Number Threes, with nobody out but a few friends...The long right slide is no ka oi...In the early sixties, Number Threes was home break to many top athletes from the Outrigger Canoe Club...Ronnie Sorrell, Petie Balding, and the late, great Tommy Haine...my brother Butchie, Gilly Halpern, Paul MacLaughlin, Tim Guard...I was very low on the pecking order in those days...

Death in the Waves: Death stalked me on a few occasions during my reckless days of riding big waves. You really never think about dying on a bad wipe out. You are too busy fighting to survive.

First Break:...if you asked "how big are the waves?" the answer would be "First Break." You would know exactly what the surf was like...First Break was reserved for the "Big Guys."

Gotta have this book? Then come to OCC on November 22 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. and get your Christmas shopping done early. You want to give this book to your old surfing buds, those who have moved away, and definitely, the next generation, so you can tell them "when I was your age..."

Hard cover is $29.95 and softcover is $19.95. These are being made available to OCC members for $25 and $17. A portion of the proceeds will benefit the ODKF athletic grant program and the OCC surf programs.

There will be no sales in the OCC Logo Shop, and no mail order sales through the magazine, so you must be present on November 22 or get a surfer friend to come do your shopping for you.

This is definitely a one time only opportunity. For more information, leave your name and phone number for ODKF at the Front Desk.

Reciprocal Clubs

By Valerie Davis

Note: Fourteenth in a series of Reciprocal Club Reviews, this month features the New York Athletic Club.

This is one of our most popular clubs—both in usage by OCC members—and by their members visiting us. This club was founded in 1868, when it sponsored the first indoor U.S. track meet and is still very involved in track and field, winning the national team championship in 1991 in both indoor and outdoor track and field.

I recently was in New York City and had dinner at the NYAC. The facility is very large, 24 floors in all, and is hotel-like in atmosphere. The location is excellent, right on Central Park South, a few doors away from the Plaza Hotel and Fifth Avenue, with all of its shopping and museums.

Central Park's horses and buggies await you out front and there are two subway stops nearby.

New York is vastly improved over the last time I was there. The subways are clean, hardly any graffiti anywhere, and the people were even polite. Times Square has had a serious facelift, and is, in fact, still in a remodeling period—all for the hetter.

The high ceilinged lobby of the club was a beehive of activity, with many people checking in at the reception desk. The hotel has 218 guest rooms located from the 14th floor up, and at a variety of prices. Singles without shower have a current rate of $73.00 and with a shower $100.

Other single rates are as follows: queen or twin, $131, and deluxe, $155. The rates for two people in the room start with the queen or twin category and are priced at $145.00; deluxe - $169. One bedroom suites range from $195 for single occupancy on up to $300 for two people.

Compared to the rates in New York hotels, and especially those in the surrounding area, these rates are extremely reasonable. All rates are subject to New York State and City taxes, plus a 15% guest surcharge. As usual, all rates are current when the article was written, and are subject to change without notice.

There are several dining options starting with room service every day except Sunday, although continental breakfast is available on Sunday. The main dining room is on the 11th floor with a magnificent skyline view of Central Park and is open for breakfast, lunch and dinner. This room is closed on Sunday except for continental breakfast and is also closed on Monday except for regular breakfast. A suit and tie are required at all times in the dining room.

The Tap Room, located on the second floor, is a little more casual, and is open for lunch Monday through Saturday, and dinner Monday through Friday. The Tap Room Bar is open until midnight Monday-Friday, and until 8 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. There is also a cocktail lounge in the lobby area, open from 4 p.m. to midnight Monday-Saturday.

The club has a gym on the 6th floor encompassing the entire floor and has a track on top of it.

Floor seven is devoted to squash courts and the swimming pool is on the third floor. Also on the third floor are saunas, steam rooms, masseuse and a sun room.

The fourth floor is devoted to women—their lockers and a fitness center—while the men's lockers are housed on the fifth floor.

The 24th floor has a solarium with a golf practice net, judo room, and handball courts. There is also a barbershop, beauty shop, billiards room, card room, gift shop, various banquet and meeting rooms, and a fencing room in the basement. A complete home away from home.

Credit cards are accepted.

There is a 15% surcharge, and guest cards are required. Stop by the OCC office for more information and to pick up your cards before you leave.

Chris Crabb Awarded Prestigious Winged "O" Award

At the annual Club Luau on September 20th, Chris Crabb was announced as the newest member of the Winged "O", the Club's highest athletic award.

Chris creates a unique addition to the Winged "O" group, as last year his wife, Paula, received the award. Thus, the Crabb's are the first husband and wife team to ever receive this athletic honor.

The Crabb family is well known for its outstanding athletic achievements. Chris has been an All-American Volleyball player for approximately 15 years, bringing home a dozen national championships for the Club. He has paddled for the Club on various crews. He has also served on the Volleyball, Surfing and Tennis Committees.

"The OCC is loaded with exceptionally talented athletes," said Ron Paula Crabb congratulates husband Chris on being named to the Winged "O".

Extra Innings

The OCC softball team opened its Fall season with a thrilling 13-12 victory over Maharaja. After trailing 6-0 in the first inning, OCC answered back with five runs of its own, highlighted by a Bill Kilcoyne three-run home run. Jim McAluney, returning from shoulder surgery that kept him out of the entire Spring league, crushed a two-run home run in the 5th inning.

Head Coach Jim Gaddis lined three shots down the left field line to give him a three-hit game. Kilcoyne, McAluney and Brian Hoernig also had three-hit games. Clayton Chee, Jim Cavanah and Jon Whittington each had two hits. Keith Letman pitched a complete game with Henry Ayau handling the catching duties.

"Per capita, we have more superior athletes than most major athlete clubs. A club member who receives this prestigious (athlete) award can be stacked up to most world class athletes.

The Winged "O" committee continually watches for outstanding athletes that over a period of time (at least 10 years), stand out above the others. They are also tracking those dedicated members who unselfishly contribute their time and energy in supporting the efforts of the Club's athletic programs."

Chris Crabb qualifies in all areas of the Winged "O" criteria and is a welcome addition to the group. ${\cal O}$

Completely renovated and in mint condition. To celebrate the grand re-opening of the Colony Surf Hotel, we invite Outrigger Canoe Club members to recapture Waikiki's golden era for only $175 per night for hotel guestrooms and studio co-op units. Offer good through March 31, 1998. Call (888) 924-SURF for reservations.

Holiday Reservations? Be Courteous

Everyone is very comfortable at the OCC Dining Room. It is the perfect place to entertain. Atmosphere, good food, wait staff who are attentive, yes, yes and yes.

When making your reservations, plan to keep them.

The OCC Dining Room is willing to hold your table if you are going to be late, but please call and tell them, and give them an arrival time.

If you can't come at all, it is especially important that you call because someone else can have the wonderful table with the view that you are not going to use.

During the holiday season, this is even more important because our Dining Room tables are in great demand, and everyone wants to entertain and join in the Thanksgiving and Christmas and New Year's fun.

Please be courteous. Keep the reservations you make. Cancel them if you have to, and call if you are detained. Everyone, staff and members will thank you for your consideration.

Happy holidays. 9

Arabian Nights Party, January 24

Arabian Nights will be the theme of a gigantic party on Saturday, January 24th so register and reserve your places right away. This is not a "date" affair but is for everyone— singles, couples, all ages. We think the colorful entertainment will please all Outrigger Canoe Club members and their guests. The food will be delicious and exotic, also plentiful and the cost very reasonable. Costumes are optional so if you have a harem skirt, fez, colorful bathrobe or belly dance costume here's your chance to wear it. OCC events have been selling out early so be sure to register at the Front Desk so you won't miss out. 9

Princess Kaiulani Holiday Fashion Show

By Debbie Peck

Ho, ho, ho, the holidays are fast approaching and what better way to ring in the Christmas season than our annual Princess Kaiulani fashion show on Friday, December 5.

Enjoy an afternoon of delicious food and the latest in holiday designs from Princess Kaiulani fashions, a local favorite. The show is guaranteed to include fashions that will appeal to all ages and for all occasions. If you're looking for special gifts, you won't want to miss this popular event.

Doors will open at 11:30 a.m. and the show will begin at 12:15 in the Main Dining Room. This special holiday fashion show is always a sell out so be sure to make your reservations early. Bring your family and friends. We look forward to seeing you on December 5. 19

Fred Steers, President

The Board recommended to the membership that an amendment to the Bylaws be made, by virtue of which the Board of Directors would be increased from 11 to 15, and with Duke as Honorary Director.

Larry Stahr made a crossing from Kaneohe to Molokai riding one ski. Leaving Oahu at 5:55 a.m. he arrived off Ilio Point at 9:05. He returned the same day (October 20), coming on the Diamond Head side. This was a new aquatic record.

The Club published a photo of Honolulu's famous sheriff and surfer Duke Kahanamoku holding High Chief Abner Paki's 148-pound solid koa board. (His own, which he made, is a partly-hollowed board weighing 119 pounds.)

The High Chief surfed on the board at Waikiki circa 1830. Father of Bernice Pauahi Bishop, he was 6 feet 4 inches and weighed 300 pounds. Although it took two men to move the board around at the Bishop Museum, Chief Paki had no difficulty toting it.

A Forecast notice advised members that Donn Beach (Don the Beachcomber) had opened his romantic tree house dining-roomfor two at the International Market Place. (While no longer used, the tree house still is nestled in the tree at the Market Place entrance.)

Outrigger Wins Molokai Race. This year the crew used the reconditioned Kakina, the sleek 38-foot koa racing canoe that produced many outstanding summer victories. One year ago, following a disastrous swamping in record heavy seas, the crew of the 1966 OCC

Molokai to Oahu Team pledged to return in 67 and conquer the channel. They did. Fred Hemmings Jr. steered the entire distance. Cline Mann, the course navigator aboard the escort boat, calculated the speed of the canoe. He determined that at times, the Kakina had sped 9 miles an hour, and consistently exceeded 8 miles an hour.

A notice encouraged members to open all mail and correspondence from the Club. "Do not throw away Club mail unopened. It might be your bill."

Recalling the success of the Club's first Gourmet Dinner, the management considered repeating a "black tie" event early in December.

The Board of Directors announced that all Dining Room

Club Captain's Corner

By Kalani Schrader

If you didn't attend this year's annual OCC Luau, you missed a good one. Henry Ayau, Hawaiian Kaneapua, Kimo Brown, Keahi Robins and the rest of the boys cooked the 500+ pound pua'a to perfection, and along with the rest of the ono grinds, no one went home hungry.

The entertainment this year was awesome as well. The Brothers Cazimero, Stew & Poi, the two keiki on the ukulele as well as all the beautiful dancers from the OCC halau made the evening that much more special. It was also a treat to have Palani Vaughan sing "Hi'ilawe" and Scrappy Lipton do her beautiful rendition of "Shells". Wow Auntie! I never knew you could sing too!

Anyway, a good time was had by all and mahalo for all the hard work by the Entertainment Committee and everyone else who helped put it on.

November is a typically slow month for OCC athletics. The long distance paddling season officially came to an end in October and most other athletic programs seem to take a breather from the summer's hectic pace.

The next OCC sponsored event on the calender is the Castle Swim which will be held on Sunday, November 30th. Keep an eye out for registration information for this event and sign up early.

normally is one of the most difficult courses we play, and once again lived up to its reputation. Low scores were difficult to come by.

Meade Wildrick rose to the occasion, taking Men's Low Net honors with a 69. Don Cutting, one of our steadiest performers, took Low Gross honors with an 85.

On the women's side, Terri Lui once again captured Low Gross honors with an 89, while Joie Gopez took home Low Net honors with a 78. These two women always seem to find their way into the winner's circle and really give each other a run for their money.

The fifth tournament was held October 9 at the Oahu Country Club and results will be available in next month's Outrigger magazine.

Unfortunately, this year's Match Play Championships had to be called off due to not enough people signing up to play. We hope to resume it again next year.

Our final Stroke Play event of the year will be held Wednesday, December 10 at the Hawaii Kai Golf Course. Check in will be at 7 a.m. The sign up sheet is in the Golf Folder at the Front Desk. We are looking for a good turn out and hope to see some new faces out there.

Tennis Mahalo

By Gloria Keller

A belated note of appreciation to the Outrigger Canoe Club women's tennis team. The USTA season ended in mid July. We did not win the division, but we played the nine week schedule beginning in May and ending in July. Our matches were played at the Keehi Lagoon courts on Saturday mornings.

The team will be regrouping in early January for the beginning of the HTL Women's League.

Matches are played on Sunday mornings, and as soon as they have finalized the dates, I will post them on the Bulletin Board.

Anyone who is ranked at a 3.5 level and wishes to play on the Outrigger Canoe Club women's tennis team, please leave your name with your phone number at the Front Desk, attn: Ann Martin or Gloria Keller.

Again, mahalo to Ann Martin, tennis team captain, Lucy Black, Carole Sheehan, Laurie Siegfried, Sara Dudgeon, Pebbles Glander, Gertrude Berger, Leilani Maguire and Pam Cameron.

24th Annual Castle Swim on November 30th

By Chrissy Lambert Rhodes

Just a reminder that our annual Castle Swim is coming up on Sunday, November 30. We'll be registering swimmers on the Hau Terrace at 8 a.m. on Sunday morning and transporting them to the start of the race, on the beach fronting the Outrigger Hotel.

If you would like to invite a family member or friend to escort you, that person should plan on arriving at the starting point by 8:30 a.m. The swim is approximately one and one half miles long, back to the Hau Terrace.

Swimmers and their escorts are invited to join us for a complimentary brunch after the swim. A sign up sheet and course maps will be available at the Front Desk in November. We look forward to seeing you all there. 9

Observations of a Wartime Waikiki

By Ernest H. Tommy" Thomas

I June 16th, 1942, I had my first look at Honolulu. The Commanding Officer of the Chemical Warfare Depot at Schofield Barracks met the SS Mount Vernon (The President Washington in war paint) that had been our transportation for a couple of weeks.

We had made a fast crossing from San Francisco accompanied by the Matson Line Matsonia, also in grey war paint. The only other ship in our convoy was a cruiser, which soon after we left California, disappeared over the horizon ahead of us. For protection against submarines our two ships zig-zagged constantly.

Colonel McMillen, our Honolulu host, loaded us into a vehicle which was referred to as a "command car" and had the driver take us through downtown Honolulu and then down King Street to Trader Vic's, which was then on the corner across from the present Concert Hall. He thought the first thing we should eat in Honolulu was coconut ice cream cones. Were they good!

We went by the famous Kau Kau Corner Restaurant on our way down Kalakaua Avenue. Some of the notable spots were: the Waikiki Theater, the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, the Moana Hotel, and a row of rather large buildings extending past the Moana Hotel up toward Diamond Head. There was one night club. On the mauka side, some smaller businesses extended from the Waikiki Theater to Kapiolani Park.

Joining the OCC

Two of the senior officers in the Chemical Office where I worked were members of the Outrigger Canoe Club-Colonel George F. Unmacht and Lieutenant Colonel Ronald Q. Smith. Colonel Unmacht was the first to take me to the Outrigger. We went one afternoon for a swim. It cost me half-a-dollar, because Colonel Unmacht was not, what you would say, athletic. Instead, he belonged to a group of somewhat older Club members who claimed to be members of the "Horizontal Athletic Club" as they became horizontal on the beach on their beach towels. Of course I was too young and immature to be a member, but Colonel Unmacht extracted a 50-cent initiation fee from me anyway. He deposited it in a cigar box which he kept in his OCC locker.

Lieutenant Colonel Ronald Q. Smith and his wife, Clara, took me to Sunday breakfast at the Club quite often, and it was through them that I became acquainted with quite a few Club members. One of the breakfasts I attended with them was on the day of the memorial service held for Walter Macfarlane who had been a well-loved Club President.

R.Q. was my sponsor when I became a Club member in May, 1943. From that time until the end of the war, I spent as much time as I could at the Club. I credit the fact that I had reached the rank of Major with my being able to go to the Club after work quite often on week days, and spend time there on Saturday afternoons and Sundays. Rank has its privileges, you know. I would almost always have dinner at the Club and then catch the bus back to Fort Shafter.

Joining the Outrigger Canoe Club in May, 1943 was one of the best things I have ever done. The Club had about 1,500 members, most being business men. Many of the members were away from the island because of the war, although there were some local members who were in the service and lucky enough to be stationed in Honolulu.

Some of the members worked in jobs connected with the military. Bill Cook was working on the Red Hill Oil Storage project; several of the Hawaiian Beach Boys had jobs at the Pearl Harbor Shipyard. Some of the young athletes were enlisted men, but most were officers. Jimmy Pflueger was a Marine and Admiral "Bull" Halsey knew him. One Sunday, the Admiral walked out on the beach and yelled, "Where's that Marine!"

OCC Life in 1943

I learned to surf and play volleyball at the Club. And, starting with the Kamehameha Day canoe races in 1943, I became a member of the Outrigger Junior Paddling Crew. I don't believe I'm exaggerating at all when I say, the Outrigger Canoe Club saved my sanity! I had a very nerve-wracking job. It was one of those with a lot of paperwork, and a lot of telephone calls.

As I became better acquainted at the Outrigger Canoe Club, I became more involved in the social life of the Club. There seemed to be more and more occasions when I would be invited to parties. Weddings, baby luaus, dinners in nice homes, parties in night clubs and, of course, those marvelous parties at the Outrigger Canoe Club, all showed what a wonderful life it must have been in Hawaii before the war.

The wedding parties in big, old Kahala residences were outstanding. There would always be a troupe of rather large Hawaiian ladies playing music and dancing the hula. On several occasions, I asked someone more conversant with the Hawaiian language than I, what some of the words were in some of the songs. I was very surprised to learn that some of the lyrics were, to be frank, dirty. I had wondered why the ladies seemed to be having such a good time.

The absolute best parties at the Outrigger were the annual affairs put on by the Kamaaina Hui. The Hui was a "Club within the Club" which had been organized by some of the Club's leaders to help promote the Club's goals. Many of the Club's talented members were Hui members so the parties included a lot of good entertainment, as well as magnificent food and drink provided by the Club.

Anzai's famous "Anzai's Banzai Punch" was introduced at a Hui party. I was deeply honored by the Hui to be elected its president in 1945. However, one of the greatest honors I ever received was my election as president of the Outrigger Canoe Club in 1969.

Girl Shortage

There was definitely a girl shortage in Hawaii during the war. Most of the local families sent the women and children to the mainland when Japan started making war noises in the Orient, and I believe there was some evacuation of families after December 7th.

The net result was it was very difficult for a young single man to get a date, particularly at the Outrigger Canoe Club. The few girls still around the Club, were not the type who would play the field. They all came from "good" families who were Club members.

To me, the Club had a family atmosphere, as was demonstrated each Sunday by large groups of members of all ages and genders gathering on the grass area. Usually someone would have a ukulele and there would be some quiet singing by a small group. Others would just stretch out on beach towels and talk to other members. Some would watch the volleyball games.

Volleyball Was Popular

Under the astute leadership of seven-term Club president Judge Wilford Godbold, the game of volleyball was definitely not a game of champions—it was a game that everyone could take part in. The senior court; the senior-junior court and the small court were usually filled with players.

Two-player, four-player and six-player games were played.

Wilford knew that the war placed great restrictions on everyone's activities and he felt that volleyball at the Club would provide a means for the members to get recreation. He was right.

Sunday mornings were always filled with doubles matches. Afternoons, after work hours, were always big-game matches. Everyone entering the club was invited (ordered?) to join a team.

The quality of the games may not have met current playing standards, but there was fun, a lot of laughter, good fellowship and recreation. After the war, in 1948, Wilford appointed me Volleyball Committee Chairman, a post I held for two years.

Occasionally, and usually when everyone least expected it, the relative peace and tranquility of the Outrigger Canoe Club would be totally shattered by a fighter plane making an almost vertical dive and then a pull-out right over the Club.

When this happened, volleyball players reported that they had to pull their hitting arm down below the net. We figured that the pilot was just expressing his feelings for being in Hawaii.

Surf's Up

When the surf was too good to ignore we would all go surfing. Some would go out in any event, just for the exercise. There is no doubt about it, with Canoe Surf so easy to get to—not beyond any reef barrier—and with easy to catch waves, why not go out? Or, if some single guy had a PanAm Stewardess date—why not take "Duke" or "Dad" (two-man Koa canoes) out and impress her?

One beautiful afternoon I did just that, and, wouldn't you know, I swamped the canoe. We got back to shore OK. The only one who saw us was Bill Mullahey, who never let me forget the incident.

Dining Was Superior

The Dining Room and Bar service at the Outrigger Canoe Club were superior throughout the entire war years. Even with rationing, the Club was able to serve large helpings of very good quality food at very reasonable prices. It wasn't until just a few years ago that I was given an explanation of how Henry DeGorog, the manager during the entire period, was able to do it.

The story was, Henry's father was the Matson Line Head Steward and he would have the Stewards Department ship things, like good steak, to the Club. The story has a bad ending.

Henry's father was supposedly fired by Matson when the facts became known.

The Club had some very good waiters, several having been waiters, and even waiter captains, at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel before the Navy took over the Royal for the submarine crews. The Club also had Anzai as Head Bartender. He was considered by the other bartenders in Waikiki as the top one relaxed during the war to allow tipping. The directors wanted to make all the money they could, and the Building Fund, which was to be used for building a new Club after the war, really did grow. I don't know if the tipping resulted in the good service, but it probably did. I know there were many evenings when I had to stand in line just to get into the Dining Room.

There was a party atmosphere on the Hau Terrace on many afternoons. Chick Daniels and the other beach boys, would sometimes flash rolls of bills when they had a good day. Although our Uluniu Club neighbors were known to object, we sometimes had some good old Hawaiian singing—well lubricated from the bar.

Celebrities Visit

Every now and then there would be some celebrities at the Club, usually some movie star on a USO trip. John Wayne visited the Club on numerous occasions. On Friday evenings, there would be a small dance group playing and the Hau Terrace would be full of members. One Friday evening Edgar Bergen was in attendance, without Charlie McCarthy, and he entertained the crowd by painting, using lipstick, a little face on his hand which he named "Ophelia Pratt", and he did a very clever comic routine. Mickey Rooney, with me as his partner, played a very short game of volleyball one afternoon.

Sailing Popular

Sailing was very popular all during the war, even though it wasn't too easy to get your boat to the ocean. You had to sail from the Yacht Harbor to Kewalo Basin in a pretty narrow waterway and then show your personal LD. card to a sentry.

Duke had a 29-foot S-Boat and because of his skill as a captain, and his uncanny ability to read the water, he won most of the races he entered, even against faster boats. Duke made an effort to teach some of us Outrigger guys how to be good sailors, but in my case I'm afraid it was a wasted effort, although I thought I was pretty good at handling the jib.

Outrigger canoe races continued at Waikiki Beach in a highly modified fashion. There were only three canoe clubs: Outrigger, Hui Nalu and Waikiki Surf Club. Paddlers were few since most of the young people were away from the islands. The normal distance races were held and in addition sprint races were run with the race courses parallel to the beach.

These usually involved Club members who were in the service—such as Officer Crews. I paddled in four separate races in at least two of the regattas. The Kamehameha Day races on June 11th were very popular and the first one held after the war was a ho'olaulea. Our future Club president Sam Fuller was dressed as the number one alii and he had a retinue of warriors, also suitably dressed (undressed?). The winning crews were awarded various prizes by Alii Fuller. I believe the winning Senior Crew received a live suckling pig. I know I was the recipient of a Papaya.

The War is Over

President Truman's voice sounded very calm on the little radio. He said the war is over—THE WAR IS OVER— PANDEMONIUM!!!!!

It is almost impossible to describe the feeling that we had when we got the news. It was intense, whatever it was, and it definitely included happiness and a great surge of the feeling of relief. The element of happiness which was strongest in most of us was the knowledge that we would get to go home. I had been in Hawaii for three years, without any visits to my mainland home. And, of course, throughout the entire war, none of us had any real assurance that we wouldn't find ourselves on a ship headed for some military operation.

Obviously, there was no conceivable value to sitting at our desks so I gave an order, "Lock the classified file cabinets, lock the vault, lock the office door and get the hell out of here".

I headed for the place where I could celebrate the best—the Outrigger Canoe Club.

Pandemonium reigned there too. I had Anzai make me a tall planter's punch, it being before the day of the Mai Tai. While I was drinking that, Major David Kahanamoku asked me to go canoeing with him in his and Duke's Indian canoe. Strangely enough, it seemed like a good idea, so out we went.

Later, George Cook and I and several other friends went to George's apartment, where I had stashed some champagne and we enjoyed that. Later, there was a parade down Kalakaua Avenue. Did we see it? Hell, we were in it! I had the good taste to be in the brass section with the trombones. Unfortunately I don't play the trombone, but I don't believe anyone noticed.

Hana Relays

By Don Eovino

n September 19, 24 OCC runners assembled at the Chart House in Kahului for a pre-race instruction meeting. New faces appeared along with several of the old timers including Jon Hunter, Steve Dunn, Tom German, Fred Hemmings Jr., Joe Teipel, Don Eovino all comprising the ever present masters division.

New faces included Bill Danford, Chris Dawson, Richard Turbin, who ran here at Hana maybe 20 years ago. Several couples ran on a team increasing their running bond: Vik and Tanya Watumull, Peter and Katy Bourne and running their first Hana race were Greg Moss and his girlfriend Catherine Nicols.

Also noteworthy was the appearance of two women who allowed a mixed masters team to compete. They were Jan Newhart and that running tinkerbell Ruth Munro. Both ladies held their own, pressing 10 minute miles for all their three legs, and Ruth at 74 years old carrying the torch for their team after 52 miles through the finishers gate. All the team members assembled for her finish and applauded as she crossed the

Fred Hemmings Jr. was heard to remark "these ladies inspired me" and Fred cracked a seven minute mile on one of his legs.

Our fastest team burnt up the Hana Highway with Tinman women's first place overall finisher this year Catherine Nicols leading the pack. With teammates Katy and Peter, Vik and Tanya, and Dave Stackhouse, they recorded an astonishing overall time of 5:41 which is an incredible 6:34 average over 52 miles.

Unbelievably, this wasn't fast enough to beat Maui's Hot Tamales but we did come in second in the Mixed Open Division and third place overall.

Twain Newhart blistered the notorious leg 13 again this year in a 30 minute elapsed time. Twain is making this his signature event. Twain's team was led by Capt. Greg Moss and finished in 6:25. The Mixed Masters team finished in a little over seven hours. The Men's Masters team was beaten for the first time in five years by two other teams and came in third in their division at a time of 6:34:47.

Tommy Damon made his appearance here at Hana again. He flies in regularly with Aloha Airlines, but on this trip he went around the back side of Hana, past Seven Sacred Pools through Kipahulu to Kula and was in awe of the natural beauty that exists along the backside of Haleakala Crater that few people ever see.

Three vans of OCCers took this way back and were mesmerized by the experience. Massages at the finish line again were highlights of the race along with excursions to the red sand nude beach. Those who staved over in Hana were treated to a fabulous dinner and shared experiences of the race. The next morning they had breakfast and a run to Wanapapa Caves and Black Sand Beach for a final swim workout to burn off the lactic acid buildup from the day before.

The balance of the year brings us three more relays. The 30/30 Relay in October, the Hilo Marathon Relay and the Run to the Sun Relay.

The running team is always looking for new runners so keep alert to the tunnel announcements.

And right around the corner is the Honolulu Marathon's 25th anniversary. Sure to be a big one this year. See you there. Ø

The infield was filled with Gaddis (1B), Hoernig (2B), McAluney (3B), Cavanah (SS), Whittington (LF), Chee (CF) and Kilcoyne (RF). OCC played with only nine players while Maharaja had 10 players on the field and an EH (Extra Hitter). It was a great win for Outrigger.

OCC got clobbered by Matsuno in its second league game. Chee, Gaddis, Cavanah and McAluney had multi-hit games. An array of errors and non-stop clutch hitting by Matsuno determined the outcome early. OCC kept its sense of humor and had a great time despite the loss. The lineup took a twist as opposed to the first game. Letman pitched another complete game. The field was made up with Whittington (C), Hoernig (1B), Paki Vaughan (2B), Gaddis (3B), Cavanah (3B), Chee (LF), Rick Piper (LC), McAluney (RC) and Stew Kawakami (RF).

The OCC softball team will be holding its first-ever awards banquet on Wednesday, November 19th. Check out all the facts and figures from OCC softball in next month's issue of The Outrigger.

Employee of the Month

Leon Eckardt, aka Lee is our Hau Terrace Employee of the Month. Working as a runner, Lee is responsible for silver rollups, clean glasses, salt and pepper, sugar, da kine.

According to an unnamed source, he comes in on time, doesn't get sick, helps out, is ready to come to work when OCC needs extra help, and has been doing that for five months.

He already spent his award money on new shorts and concert tickets. He likes to read, rides his bike, lives in Makiki, and says he is eager to be a waiter. Watch this guy! 9
