OCTOBER 1995

President, Family Dine at Outrigger During VJ Day

By Marilyn Kali &
Gerry DeBenedetti

September 2 was like any other Saturday afternoon at the Outrigger Canoe Club. The Hau Terrace was set up for the last big Steak Fry of the summer. Favorite Hawaiian entertainer Jay Larrin was tuning up on the Terrace. The first sitting in the Dining Room was sold out. Typical Saturday night, right?

Club President Wendell Brooks and his wife Gloria arrived about 5:30 for cocktails and dinner with former president Peter and May Balding and Jack and Leslie Mattice. The Hau Terrace and MDR were virtually empty.

Liz Ventura was the manager on duty. A little before six, she was approached by a guest member and asked if she had any tables available for dinner. She said, "no, all our tables are taken."

When asked, "even for the President?" Non-plussed Liz replied, "President of what?" Our typical Saturday night was no longer typical!

Liz quickly found not only a vacant table, but a favorite ocean-front table for our distinguished guests.

One of the Secret Service agents who had preceded the President's arrival had been given a guest membership by OCC member Derek Wood. He had enjoyed dinner at the Club the previous night and had recommended that the First Family eat at the OCC, rather than at Michel's restaurant next door, as scheduled. Shortly after six, a number of people in the President's advance party started to arrive. Kalakaua Avenue was cleared of on-street parking in anticipation of the President's arrival.

The rumor of the President coming to dinner started buzzing around the Club. The tizzy gained momentum as diners for the Main Dining Room and Saturday Steak Fry began arriving.

"By about 6:15, it was more or less confirmed that the First Family would be coming," said Wendell Brooks. "By this time there was a small army of Secret Service agents, public relations personnel, very serious looking Army officers carrying brief cases, security officers with hand held metal detectors and at least two commando types in dark uniforms with jackets that appeared to cover flack vests and perhaps some other weaponry.

"One of the commando types carried a case that looked like a double tennis racket bag, probably with some artillery. Later I learned that one or more agents had been stationed on the roof of the Club. The poor guys were sweating like crazy.

"The Secret Service agents were mostly dressed in sports coats and slacks. They cased the Club, trying to look somewhat casual. One agent bent over and the flap in the rear of his sport coat parted revealing a set of handcuffs on his belt. His revolver was probably under the skirt of the coat.

"Everyone was wired for sound with portable radios plugged into their ears," he added.

At 6:30 p.m., President Clinton arrived in a suit and tie. His first stop was the KANE, where he emerged several minutes later wearing a blue aloha shirt and an orchid lei. His face was very sunburned.

Members and guests rubber necked and positioned themselves for a good look or a hand shake. The President apparently likes to mingle and did so freely as he walked toward the Dining Room.

Devon Guard came out to the Terrace and announced that she had in fact received a Presidential hand shake.

Liz led the President to a table on the Makai-Ewa corner of the Dining Room Lanai under an umbrella. Upon finding out that this was a private club and not a restaurant, he asked for a little history about the Club.

Liz then summoned Wendell Brooks from the Terrace as the President asked to meet the president of the Outrigger. Wendell and Gloria went into the Dining Room and greeted the President.

At about the same time, Mrs. Clinton, Chelsea and her friend arrived.

"We extended a welcome to the family on behalf of the Club," Wendell recalled.

The President drank Corona beer while working the crowd and visiting with his entourage.

They all enjoyed one of our fabulous summer sunsets.

Jay Larrin was asked to play two special requests, America the Beautiful and Amazing Grace. He sang Amazing Grace in both English and Hawaiian. He also delivered his usual fare with a few improvisations about the President. And he played many Smokey Mountain tunes in honor of the President.

Fel was the waiter of the evening according to Liz, and was a great choice because he is so relaxed and even tempered.

According to Fel, the Presidential party ordered spring rolls for an appetizer. President Clinton had chicken curry, and Mrs. Clinton ordered a salad, minestrone and an artichoke. Chelsea and her friend had a vegetarian dish of stir fry with tofu.

OCC Chef William Teruya described this as the cooking highlight of his career. He said the entire time he was cooking, the President's dietitian took notes of every single ingredient that went into the meal (and with curry that isn't easy), and the Secret Service agent looked on, supervising the entire operation.

Chef Teruya was so glad he hadn't retired yet! He wouldn't have missed this for the world. He and his assistant Lang were grinning from ear to ear, both so excited and thrilled with the experience. Afterwards, Chef Teruya came into the Lobby and shook hands with the President as he exited the Club.

Liz said she was going to scold the bus boys because they hadn't poured the water yet, and then she discovered that the President had his own steward, and they had their own water supply.

Even a presidential trip to the lua was a national security event, but one that enabled more members and guests to shake the President's hand during the round trip.

About mid-way through his dinner, the President asked Liz to ask Wendell to come to his table again, which he did.

"Mr. and Mrs. Clinton raved about the setting and view and expressed their appreciation for the opportunity to have dinner at the Club. We exchanged small talk and I again indicated that the Club was pleased that they could enjoy our facilities. They were both very charming and, I believe, truly enjoyed the experience," Wendell said.

Meanwhile, the Hau Terrace and Beach were awash with press and Secret Service agents who were enjoying the Steak Fry and cool libations. There were cellular telephones everywhere.

On his way out of the Club after his three hour visit, President Clinton graciously signed autographs, shook hands again, and stopped to talk to Chef and the Front Desk receptionist. When told, "Welcome to the Outrigger", he responded, "It is a privilege to be here."

In a second group, Mrs. Clinton exited, also shaking hands and greeting people and posing for pictures.

The next sound was a helicopter overhead, where the Clinton's were whisked from Kapiolani Park back to Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station where they were staying.

It was quite a night for OCC members who had an opportunity to see, and in some cases, shake hands with the President of the United States of America.

In addition to the President, we also hosted 1960 Olympic Decathlon Champion Rafer Johnson that night who was dining with friends on the Hau Terrace.

"In the early '50s, I raced against Rafer in the Rainbow Relays in the 100-yard dash," Wendell recalled. "We finished on the same day, but he was somewhat out of sight at the finish."

Other Club members, including former President John Goss, hosted VJ Day parties at the Club that night.

The President was in Hawaii for the VJ Day celebration. Events were held at the Arizona Memorial, Wheeler Air Force Base, and the Waikiki Shell; there were boat parades off Waikiki and a performance by the Blue Angels.

All in all, it was quite a night.

Liz took pictures of the President and First Family but someone stole them from the maitre'd stand. We have Gerry DeBenedetti to thank for these photos. She was down in the Board room working when she heard the commotion and ran to her car to grab her camera. If you took any good pictures shaking hands with the President, leave copies at the Front Desk and we'll print them next month!

By the way, did you wonder who paid for the President's dinner and that of the Secret Service and press? Well, it was that hard working, Secret Service guest member sponsored by Derek Wood. Thanks Derek! ☺

John Goss and Charlotte Yates celebrated VJ Day at the Club. They were classmates at Punabou when the war broke out on December 7, 1941.

As the Terrace Turns

Terry Foy can't say enough about Dining Room Manager Liz Ventura. Terry recently hosted a business dinner meeting for her company. There were 25 guests who were impressed with the OCC site, food, ambiance. Terry says Liz was most gracious and "above and beyond the call." Terry is convinced there is no better place to have special events and dinners than the OCC. . .

A sold out crowd of members and their guests filled the Dining Room and were treated to a magnificent show featuring the fashions from Emporio Armani on July 26. Four female and one male model informally wandered through the Dining Room and Terrace area wearing the Fall/Winter fashions from the well-known designer.

Future fashion shows are planned at the OCC for early November with an evening dinner show, December 1 with the annual Princess Kaiulani holiday show, and late January with the Cruise/Sportswear show.

Juan Segovia was married to Jamie Marie Groos of Costa Mesa, California on May 28. The wedding was an outdoor one at Fort MacArthur in San Pedro. Outrigger members in attendance were his sisters Eva and Andrea Segovia, Anne and Gail Stringer, Peter Radulovic. Jamie is a registered nurse at Hoag Memorial Hospital. ☐

Kandell Awarded John McMahon Surfing Trophy

Jr. 'Rigger Keith Kandell was awarded the John McMahon Perpetual Outstanding Junior Surfer Trophy for 1995 for his surfing skills, good sportsmanship and his scholarship.

The trophy was presented at Surf Movie Night at the Club on August 7.

This is the first time since 1990 that the Surfing Committee has awarded the trophy.

"It's been a while since we had a junior surfer who has met the criteria for the trophy," said Mark Jackola, chair of the Surfing Committee.

"Keith has finished in the finals of every surfing contest this year, he has exhibited good sportsmanship and assisted others on the team, as well as carrying a 3.2 grade point average at Punahou," Jackola added.

The trophy was started in 1976 in memory of John McMahon, a Winged "O" who was the guiding light of the surfing program both at the Outrigger Canoe Club and in the State of Hawaii.

John was one of the original innovators and organizers of the first major surfing contest anywhere in the world, including the Makaha Surfing Classic. He contributed a major portion of his time toward instituting an active Surfing Committee in the Club, a committee which kept the sport of surfing an important element of our athletic program.

A Club member for 23 years, McMahon passed away in 1976. ☺

Fitness Center Does R&D for New Rowing Machines

By Todd Bradley

Last month the Fitness Center received two new Concept II, Model C, rowing ergometers, to replace our original Model B Ergometers. Concept II manufactures rowing machines that are the worldwide standard. These ergometers are used both as a training tool for Olympic paddlers and for hospitals, rehab and therapy centers.

I have been working with product developer Mark McAndrews at Concept II, on the testing, research and development of a new adapter for these new ergometers that will make them ideal training tools for paddling outrigger canoes.

The adapter turns the rowing machine into an outrigger canoe paddling machine. It uses the same paddling handle and seating as you are familiar with in outrigger canoeing, combined with the smooth water like resistance of a real canoe. This adapter is becoming a very important part of this year's paddling program.

Come and give it a try.

Some of the new features of the Model C Ergometers are:

- Canoe Paddling Adapter
- Quieter redesigned flywheel
- Easier resistance settings
- Performance monitor with more features, including a Heart Rate monitor.

Rowing is a highly efficient form of non-impact aerobic exercise which works all the major muscle groups through a greater range of motion than running, cycling, swimming or skiing.

As with all Fitness Center equipment, the fitness trainer will be happy to show you how to use these great new fitness tools. ☺

Andersen & Lockwood Win Club Tournaments

By Stevie Li

Summer volleyball was at its best with the top teams competing in the annual Duke Kahanamoku Volleyball Championships on August 19 and 20 at the Club.

The most competitive tournament of the summer heated up in the final with Adam Lockwood and Jon Andersen defeating Kanoa Ostrem and Stevie Li. UCLA's national champions Stein Metzger and Brian Wells had a strong finish at third place.

Hugh Foster Jr. is back in the islands and he teamed up with Alika Williams for fourth place. Alika will be playing for UC Santa Barbara this year. Chris Crabb and Dean Hirahara tied with John McDermott and Danny McInerney for fifth place.

In the Club Doubles championships on August 12, Andersen and Lockwood defeated

Hargon Holland and Tim Walston for the title. Finishing third were TC Gray and Ray Heitzman, with Chris and Kevin Crabb, fourth. ☺

Distinguished Native Hawaiian Storyteller Makia Maloto to Shine at Stew-Rice Night, October 30th

By Mazepa Costa
Historical Committee

Storytelling has been a treasured tradition in all cultures, for almost as long as people have been talking.

In cultures without writing—notably in pre-European-contact Hawaii—the oral tradition assumed major significance, often resulting in extraordinary feats of memory and a remarkable body of unwritten literature. Through chants Hawaiians retained their history, genealogy, and cultural traditions.

Wisdom of the navigators, the many kinds of kahuna, and the kupuna was transmitted vocally. Is it any wonder “talk story” is part and parcel of so much we love and enjoy in Hawai‘i.

Surmounting great odds, due to physical handicap, one modern-day Hawaiian storyteller stands out as being exceptional. Join us Monday, October 30th to meet and to be transported/spooked/delighted/and amazed by distinguished native Hawaiian teller of stories Makia Malo.

As a youngster in Papakolea, Makia was fascinated by daytime fireworks at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. At 12, he was sent to Kalaupapa on Moloka‘i, where, as a Hansen’s disease patient, he remained separated from his family for 25 years.

When, at 37, he was able to return to Honolulu, he enrolled at the University of Hawaii. There, although by then blind and without use of his hands, he earned (in seven years) a bachelor of arts degree in Hawaiian studies and two years later certification in secondary education.

As a performer, Makia writes his own material. He has charmed audiences throughout Hawai‘i, in the South Pacific, and in such diverse locales as California, St. Louis, Washington, D.C., Scotland, and Spain. He is the first native Hawaiian to be invited to the National Storytelling Festival in Jonesboro, Tennessee, where (last October) he was the only performer to receive a standing ovation.

Makia’s October 30th appearance will be an OCC Historical Committee Stew-Rice Night Presentation, beginning with no-host cocktails at 5:30 p.m. Following supper at six, the spotlight will be on Makia at seven, in a program of humor, suspense, and great warmth.

The buffet menu will include: OCC beef stew (vegetarian version optional), with rice and poi; fruit, vegetable, and pasta salads; cake for dessert for $12.95. For reservations call the Front Desk, 923-1585.

Prediction—full house! Don’t be disappointed. Reserve early, as reservations will be limited to comfortable seating. ☺

Board Selects New General Manager

At its meeting on August 31, the Board of Directors selected John R. Rader Jr. as the Club’s new General Manager. He was expected to assume his duties on September 16.

Our new manager is a graduate of McKinley High School (Class of ‘60). He attended the University of Hawaii Travel Industry Management School and worked locally as Director of Restaurants and Entertainment at the Ilikai Hotel from 1965-71 and as Manager of Nick’s Fish Market & Red Vest Restaurant from 1971-73.

Mr. Rader has held a variety of management positions in Southern California, including Vice-President and General Manager of the Beverly Hills Country Club. He comes to us from Specialty Restaurant Corp. where as Division Manager he was responsible for six restaurants in the Los Angeles area, including the Odyssey, Los Angeles; The Castaways, Burbank; Ports of Call, San Pedro; The Reef, Long Beach; Luminaries, Monterey Park; and the Proud Bird, at Los Angeles International Airport.

Next month, we’ll feature an interview with our new general manager in The Outrigger.

In the meantime, stop by the Executive Office to welcome him and introduce yourself. ☺

90 Years Ago

In the spring of 1905, a great throng gathered in front of the Moana and Seaside Hotels to witness a Surf Riding Fiesta, "featured by men standing upright on bucking surfboards." Within a year, the sport was a favorite with hotel guests, and two years after that, the Outrigger Canoe Club was formed for young surfers and paddlers on Waikiki Beach.

TIPS from the Trainer

By Sherry Gannaway, Founder Body by You®

Bill Francis is the operations officer for the International Military Affairs Division, U.S. Army Pacific, with a masters degree in counseling and education. Bill is a West Point graduate and was the deputy director for the West Point Sports Psychology Center. We are honored to have Bill share vital information with our Outrigger athletes.

In this issue, Bill will cover the mental aspect of training.

Mental skills are specific mental exercises that can be taught and practiced by virtually anyone. The goal is to improve or develop specific mental skills such as: focus, concentration, increased self-confidence, and control arousal i.e. sweaty palms, rapid heart rate, tight muscle nervousness especially during important competition. Bill says, "without the balance between mental and physical training, an athlete never truly reaches their full potential, no matter how accomplished the athlete. Your mind, thoughts and attitude affect your performance; it's that simple."

We all have the ability to control our thoughts and with practice we increase that control. Since you can control your thoughts, then it would make sense to think thoughts that increase your performance. Just like a muscle, the mind which surrounds the entire body, needs exercise. If you don't use it, you lose it.

Let's Train

Begin with Positive Effective Thinking. Life's self-fulfilling prophecy is you become what you think you are. The mind tends to dwell on the negative. This negativity affects our self-image, self esteem and self confidence. The self image is your key, your point of reference.

Seeds are planted throughout our lives, both positive and negative. These thoughts mold our self image.

Dr. Roger Bannister is a great example of mind over negative programming. Because of his perseverance in breaking four minutes in the mile, the psychological limitation has been broken. Today, thousands of people have run a sub-four minute mile.

The Three Steps to Positive Effective Thinking

Step one: Become aware of your thoughts and your self talk. Note: self talk is your conversation which reflects your self-image. Carry a note pad or cards and write down all of your positive or negative thoughts.

"I'll never be" or "if I work hard, I can do that," etc. This exercise will make you more aware of your self-talk.

Step two: Write down affirmation statements that counteract all the negatives. "I am a strong and efficient paddler, getting the pull with smooth, strong and effective strokes. I can do this" versus, "I'm not good in big races, I get nervous in rough water."

Step three: Focus on effective thoughts. When you have negative or ineffective thoughts, replace them immediately with the effective affirmation statements that you wrote and practiced in Step Two. This sounds simple, but it's not easy in the beginning. Change may be difficult, but with repetition and practice, it will get easier as your self image, self esteem and confidence grow.

The Three Steps to Goal Setting

Step one: Why is it important?

Without goals daily, both short range and long range, you will never challenge yourself or reach your full potential. The first step is to become aware of where you truly are, i.e.: too confident or too negative. Where are you?

Step two: Where do you want to go?

Where do you want to be athletically, financially, personally, and in all areas of your life? Make a list of short and long range goals daily, monthly and yearly. Review them often.

Step three: How to get there?

Draw a map choosing the best possible path. List all your talents and weaknesses. Talk to people who have been there, who know how to get where you want to go.

In closing, Bill says, "People take and do almost anything to enhance performance. From performance drugs to drugstore vitamins, many are looking for a magic pill. The problem with a lot of these wonder drugs are side effects that could be deadly. Mental skills are simple to understand, take hardly anytime to practice and have no negative side effects. This is the closest Bill has come to a magic pill." ☺

Bill Francis shared information on the mental aspects of training with Outrigger paddlers.

22nd Annual Castle Swim on November 26th

By Arnold Lum
Swimming Committee

The Swim Committee reminds Club members that the Castle Swim will be held on the Sunday morning following Thanksgiving.

Registration will be at the Hau Terrace at 8:00 a.m., and you must have your own membership number to enter. We'll transport swimmers from the Club down to the beach start, in front of the Outrigger Hotel, but your escort, if you want a guide, should plan on being at the start on his or her own power by 8:30 a.m.

The swim is approximately one and one-half miles long, and finishes at the Club's beach steps. Swimmers and their escorts are invited to join us for a complimentary brunch after the swim. A sign up sheet and course maps will be at the Front Desk in November. ☺

ODKF Olympians Say Thank You to OCC

By Gerry DeBenedetti

In August a letter from the Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation went out to the approximately 2,700 OCC members who received an August bill. The letter asked OCC members to think ahead to the 1996 Olympics and give 96 cents a month for the next year to help the potential six or more Hawaii ODKF grantees who are training for the Olympics.

Wow! We've received $7,100 and donations are still coming in. All those who donated to this Olympic fund raiser by the Outrigger deadline are listed below, and you are gratefully acknowledged.

Next month we will list those donors who contributed after August 25. All of the names will appear in the ODKF annual report which comes out in December, and all will receive a special commemorative "gold" coin from the Foundation. You will receive official IRS documentation at the end of the year.

It's never too late to make a tax deductible donation to this campaign. If you misplaced your mailer coupon or are a Nonresident who did not receive a bill, and still wish to donate, please fill out the coupon below and either include with your next OCC bill or deposit the coupon in the OCC mail slot in the Lobby.

Extra Innings

Three heartbreaking defeats have left the OCC Softball team with a 2-4 record, but with two months of action left in league play, hopes are still high.

A devastating 19-18 loss to Tutukane knocked OCC out of shot at first place. A week later, the defending league champs, Dream Team, nipped OCC 7-6. Espresso then clipped Outrigger 8-7. All four OCC losses have been by a single run. A break here or there could easily have given OCC a perfect 6-0 record.

There were countless highlights despite the outcomes. Twenty-one hits accompanied the 18 runs. Jon Whittington, Scott Rolles, Jim Gaddis, Brian Hoernig, Henry Ayau and Bill Kilcoyne had multi-hit games. Senior veterans Ayau and Kilcoyne had four hits apiece. Scott and Henry contributed four RBI's each. Scott cracked his first home run of the year, a three-run shot in the first inning.

Pitcher Keith Letman hit his second home run of the year, a two-run shot in the sixth inning, hoping to help his own cause in the 7-6 loss to Dream Team.

Paki Vaughan returned from a surfing trip in the South Pacific to rip a solo home run in the third inning. Randy Schoch ripped two balls to right field to solidify his cleanup role. Pokii Vaughan and Bill Lawson contributed in what proved to be OCC's best defensive effort of the year.

The infield of Hoernig (1B), Whittington (2B), Gaddis (3B) and Jim McAluney (SS) played error-free ball for the first time this year.

A multitude of costly errors and untimely hitting contributed to OCC's 8-7 loss to Espresso. Paki, Scott, Brian, Jon W. and Jim McAluney had two hits each. Jim Cavanah, Rick Piper, Jon Kiner, Letman and Gaddis contributed as well. McAluney and Brian knocked in three runs apiece.

There has been absolutely no letup in desire, intensity or post-game BBQ action. The food is always a winner, especially the catch of the day—akule, papio and oama. ☺

From the Green Room

By Mark Jackola

The Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation and Outrigger Junior Surf Team fundraiser, "Surf Movie Night" on August 7 was a lot of fun with some great friends.

We thank Fred Hemmings Jr. and Ricky Grigg for their support. Hans Hedemann and his family were there and he gave us a brand new video to show. This year we have had the opportunity to see the most recent releases in surf video prior to distribution.

This is what makes each of our movie nights a real value—not the same, seen so many times, tired videos.

We will have a spectacular Winter Video Fest later in the year. Look for dates in The Outrigger.

Junior members have been very busy with the Junior Lifeguard Program. They participated in a four-day program to familiarize teens with water safety, first aid and surf rescue techniques.

The course was given on the North Shore and delivered by Rick Williams, who developed the curriculum at Ehukai Beach. The highlight of the course was the CPR training on the CPR dummies and the jet ski and sled rescues with Teri Auli who, along with Brian Kealuna were the first to develop this type of rescue.

We thank the Hawaiian Lifeguard Association along with the generous donation of the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation and the Mark Foo Trust for making this course possible. ☺

News from the Clubhouse

First round action for the 1995 OCC Match Play Tournament is complete. Results for the ladies are: Judy Maguire def. Terri Lui, 3 and 1; Joie Gopez def. May Borthwick, 2 & 1; Pam Dillingham def. Jeanne Davis, 3 & 2; and Diane Plotts def. Cyrena Bryan, 4 & 3.

On the men's side, Stan Brown def. Peter Dillingham, 6 & 5; Bruce Bolton def. Jim Hammons, 5 & 3; Bob Hogan def. Strat Whiting, 1 up, and Jim Gaddis def. Adney Smith, 1 up.

Eighty-six year old Adney gave 43-year-old Gaddis the match of his life. While Adney buried five or six long putts ranging from 15 to 30 feet to extend the match, Jim managed to lip-out a few tap-ins. The match wasn't decided until the 18th hole when Adney's chipping game foiled him and Jim made par for the win.

Second round matches must be completed before October 20. The finals will be completed by November 21. Results and highlights will be presented in The Outrigger.

The beautiful Kalakaua Golf Course played host to OCC's fourth 1995 Stroke Play Tournament on August 21. A driving rainstorm got a few players nervous prior to tee time but the day turned out to be perfect.

Vic Hawthorne shined on this day with an 81 (net 64) to take Kane Low Gross honors. Pam Dillingham's 90 gave her Wahine Low Gross honors. May Borthwick (73) and Campbell Palfrey (71) captured Low Net honors.

Closest to the Pin winners were Diane Plotts (#2), Pam Dillingham (#8) and May Borthwick (#11 and 13). The ladies completely shut out the men on the par threes.

Gift certificates for merchandise in the Kalakaua Pro Shop were awarded to all the winners.

The next Stroke Play Tournament takes place on Thursday, October 12 at Olomana Golf Links. Check in time is 11 a.m.

The final Stroke Play Tournament will be held on Friday, December 8 at Kaneohe Klipper Golf Course. Check in time will be at 11:15 a.m.

Be sure to sign up for these events. Ask for the Golf Folder at the Front Desk.

The Hawaii Centers for Independent Living is holding a charity golf tournament on November 3 at the Hawaiian Prince Golf Course. The format is a 4-person scramble (Gross= 1/10th Team Handicap). One hundred and forty-four players will be competing. The cost is $400 per team or $100 per individual ($38 is tax deductible). Check in time is 10:30 a.m. Application forms are available in the Golf Folder. ☺

Attending the Surf Movie Night were Ricky Grigg, Jojo Watumull, Fred Hemmings Jr., Chuck Burkett and Tim Kelley.

Junior Surf Team members are Mark Dombroski, Marc Rocheleau, Lucas Rigg, Aaron Ackerman, Duff Janus, Zack Payne and Lifeguard Teri Auli.

Computer terminal stands and hostess stand are on hold pending availability of funds. . . The second Force Five canoe will be delivered in time for the Molokai races. . . The Non Run Fun Run was attended by 400 people. . . Chef Teruya has agreed to delay his retirement until October 31. . . In honor of Ruby Yabiku's 40th year of working at the Club, Ruby and her family have been invited to dinner in the Main Dining Room on July 28. . . Considering the losses experienced in the food and beverage departments, the House Committee will study the mini charge and if necessary, consider increasing it.

Athletic Report—It is not necessary to request Board approval to reuse an already approved design from prior years for an athletic event T-shirt. . . Funds were approved for Athletic Awards at the August 19 Steak Fry. . . It was requested that criteria for the Barry Pritchard Male and Female Athlete of the Year award be forwarded to the Executive Committee for review.

House Report—Criteria on appropriate dress code for members seated on the Hau Terrace, eating from the Sunday Dinner and Seafood Buffets, is under review.

Long Range Planning Report—The committee is continuing to study the survey report and develop an approach to analyze the data by categorizing, prioritizing, financial information, pros and cons, etc. A letter from the President regarding the survey will be mailed to all members in the dues statement.

Public Relations Report—Carol Wilcox was approved as a member of the PR Committee.

Admissions & Membership Report—The following policy was approved: If a candidate for membership is a close relative (spouse, sibling, child or parent) of a member serving on the Admissions & Membership Committee, the member will abstain from voting. . . Membership count was 4,266 as of June 30.

Financial Hardship—Due to the increased number of requests for Financial Hardship, the Board deliberated on members requesting extensions on their hardship status beyond the two year maximum. It was approved that any requests for extension of hardships beyond the two year maximum would be considered on a case by case basis. ☺

Employee of the Month

By Gerry DeBenedetti

With the improbable last name of Huynh, it was a relief when our Employee of the Month asked to be called by her first name, Lang. Lang is a real treasure, having come to Hawaii 15 years ago, and for the last 14, she has been an employee at OCC.

Chef Teruya first hired her as a dishwasher helper where she "soaked up" English, became trained as a kitchen helper and then Chef taught her all his secrets.

Now, says Chef, when he retires at the end of this year, we can just eat Lang's cooking!

Chef says she is so sincere, so dedicated, such an over achiever, and so modest, that it is a good thing we could interview her, because Lang just smiled while all of her virtues were discussed.

Lang's favorite job is to cook for the buffet on Sunday nights. She loves the variety, and doesn't care what the menu is. She can cook Thai, pastas, prime rib, whatever we want to eat. Now that is a good cook.

Thank you for coming to our country and our Outrigger home, Lang. ☺
