Macfarlane Regatta is 4th of July Tradition

By Marilyn Kali

The 46th annual Walter J. Macfarlane Regatta, scheduled for the 4th of July at Waikiki Beach, has come a long way since the inaugural event in 1943.

From the original 13 events, the day's activities have grown to 31 races with nearly 1,000 paddlers from 15 canoe clubs, ranging in age from 10 year olds to 70 year olds.

The Macfarlane Regatta is the only wave race in the Oahu Hawaiian Canoe Racing schedule. It is also the only race in which clubs have the option of using fiberglass canoes instead of their prized koa canoes because of the danger posed by surfing the waves.

The Macfarlane Regatta commemorates the memory of Walter James Macfarlane, president of Outrigger Canoe Club, at the time of his death in 1943.

At the time of his death, the Club was planning the regular 4th of July outrigger canoe races, the big event in canoeing each year, and the suggestion was made by Henry DeGorog, then manager of OCC, that these races be dedicated to the memory of Walter "Mac" and be known in the future as the Walter J. Macfarlane Memorial Canoe Races. The idea was adopted and races have been held on the 4th of July each year since.

In commemoration of the life and activities of Walter, the Hawaiian Hotels division of Matson Navigation Company donated a magnificent trophy, a great silver bowl as perpetual trophy to be competed for by the Senior Men's Six Paddle crew.

The Macfarlane family continues to actively support this regatta. In 1972, Walter Mac's sister, Muriel Flanders, donated the beautiful koa wave trophy that is presented to the club that wins the regatta.

In 1980, Walter Mac's grand-nephew, Walter Guild, dedicated a handcrafted koa canoe trophy to his grandmother Muriel Flanders. This trophy is presented each year to the winning Boys 18 crew.

In 1984, Mrs. Flanders donated a sterling silver bowl for the Senior Women and milo bowls for the Junior and Senior Masters Women winners.

The premiere event of the regatta has always been the Senior Men's race. In the early years of the race, the course was 4 1/2 miles and OCC dominated at this distance.

The first winning crew was Thad

Ekstrand, John Beaumont, Tom Arnott, Jim Fernie and Bob Bush and was steered by the legendary Duke Kahanamoku.

Over the years, the course has been shortened, most recently in 1969, to its present 2 1/2 miles. Outrigger has continued to dominate, with 10 wins, including last year, followed by Hui Nalu, with 5 and Waikiki Surf Club and Kailua, 2 each.

OCC holds the record for the distance at 15:08.9 set in 1981.

Bob Fischer, always popular with the ladies, steered Outrigger to victory in the 1943 girl's six race. Members of that crew were Greta Ross, Nita Hayes, Marcia Bowers, Anna Morris and Roselle Robinson.

The Macfarlane race allows open steering, where a club can elect to have an experienced wave steersman replace the crew's regular flatwater steersman.

Big waves can always be counted on to add to the thrill of the Macfarlane Regatta for spectators and participants alike. And a wave can often decide who wins and who doesn't.

There have also been a lot of "interesting" things happen in the races.

In 1950, two Outrigger crews raced each other when Hui Nalu and Waikiki Surf Club withdrew just prior to the starting of the event.

In 1954, there was high summer surf and in the senior girls race, the winning canoe paddled by Waikiki Surf Club finished stern first. It had swamped about 100 yards off the finish line, and instead of giving up and bailing, the girls kept paddling with only the ama above water until they crossed the finish line.

In 1956, the races were postponed because of really high surf and held four days later when the ocean calmed down.

In 1969, the 4th of July was also First Break and at times the entire Waikiki Beach closed out. At least 30 canoes swamped during the day's races. For those that got out through the surf, caught a wave and stayed dry, there were some spectacular rides to shore. However, few did. The junior men caught the biggest wave of the day, an 8-footer, which wiped them out. "We were in the tube with no place to go," paddler Henry Ayau was quoted as saying.

In 1977, 12 canoes swamped or capsized, or both, in the heavy surf and two of the koa boats suffered structural damage as well. Bailing buckets replaced paddlers in several events.

In 1979, Waikiki Surf Club's 46-year-old koa canoe, Malia, lost its bow in a collision with another canoe. Miraculously, with temporary repairs, she finished the regatta. She was repaired and is still being used today.

In 1980, OHCRA decided to allow clubs the option of using koa or fiberglass canoes in the Macfarlane race. The newly repaired Malia was the only koa canoe in the regatta.

In 1981, the Malia was damaged again when another canoe rammed into her causing four 30-foot and three 20-foot cracks in her side.

In 1985, Fred Hemmings was steering the Boys 18 crew when he yelled at them to jump out of the boat just before they hit a big wave. The canoe, suddenly some 1,000 pounds lighter without its crew, eased over the wave. The boys scrambled back in and won the race. ☺

OCC Team Challenges Mauna Kea in 200 Mile Enduro Race

By Al Serafin

The Mauna Kea 200 poster tells it all: "Quality Riders Only Need Apply, Sea Level to 12,000 feet and More Lava Than Anyone Should Have to Ride."

After two days of rain, this year's 200-mile, two-day, timekeeping, enduro got off the blocks to a scrambling start for the OCC team. Jimbo Beaumont had one very unwilling motorcycle and Team Captain Walter Guild had a flat tire on the starting line.

The first day took its toll on 20 riders of the 75 that started the race. Father and son team Beaumont were among the day's casualties. A broken radiator and fuel problems in the toughest section caused John and Jimbo to exceed the one hour grace period allowed per section.

Our other team riders, Brant Ackerman, Mike Sheehan and Walter were working their way through bowling ball size rocks, mini-lakes and more rain in tree planners section.

This is where Walter had a surprise meeting with a downed tree that put a little road rash on his right arm. Thanks to our traveling MASH unit and pit crew chief Tiare Ma-Moto Finney, Walter was cleaned up, bandaged up and after lunch took off on a fast trip around Mauna Kea.

Second day started at Pohakuloa

Military Reservation and after a morning of lava roads, went into miles of water crossings. The number one killer lake was appropriately named, "The Koi Pond" by our host, the Rock Island Riders.

This is where the OCC pit crew really got to see our team in action and watch a bunch of other riders turn their motorcycles into very unwilling submarines.

At the end of the second day and the finish of the race, both riders and bikes looked as if they had been dragged across the 200 mile course.

The overall winner was City Councilman John DeSoto, his sixth 200 win. Second was Steve Zoll of the Big Island and third went to David Amarin, Kauai's hot rider.

A very special award was presented to John Beaumont as the most seasoned rider in this year's race.

Also picking up some wood was Walter who placed third in the open class. Brant finished sixth in the 250 cc class, Mike was sixth in the 200 cc class and the OCC team came in fourth overall.

A very special thanks to an outstanding support and pit crew. 🙏

OCC Swim Invitational

Lifeguard Chris Moore won the 10th annual Outrigger Invitational Swim, May 21 at the Club. He covered the two-mile course from the Club beach toward Waikiki and back in 42 minutes, 55 seconds.

Forty-eight swimmers entered from Outrigger, the Waikiki Swim Club and Hawaii Swim Club Masters.

It was a beautiful day for a swim, however, a strong current forced three swimmers to drop out.

Ian Emberson won the men's 35-39 division and Richard Sylva, the men's 50-59 division. Diane Stowell won the women's 50-59 division. 🏆

Weights in Women's Locker Room

By Gerry DeBenedetti

At long last, the mini weight room in the Women's Locker Room is completed.

Thanks to the long deliberations of the House Committee, the Weight Room Committee, the Management and the Board, we have finally put the pieces together.

In place are the mirrors on the wall, an ergometer, the ski machine (which folds up to save space), the bicycle, the free weights (dumbbells) and a wooden bench and three floor mats.

Soon to come (or it may be in by the time you read this) is a ballet bar.

Please look in the tunnel or on the bulletin boards by the ladies locker attendant or by the running/swimming charts for information about classes.

We want to have instruction on how to use the equipment, classes for Nifty Fifty and Over, and the types of exercises recommended. If you have thoughts or ideas for classes or equipment instruction, please put your comments in the suggestion box in the lobby, identified Mini Weight Room--Women's Locker Room and we'll work with you. Please, no anonymous remarks, we need all the identifiable help we can get.

A mini weight room committee composed of Gerry DeBenedetti, Tiare Finney and Genie Kincaid has been formed to field questions, take suggestions and watch out for glitches. They will be receiving instructions on how to operate the equipment, so they can teach you what to do.

After waiting so long to clean up after our locker room fire, and trying to upgrade all of our facilities, we want to take care of our new adult toys. The floors are tiled, the air is circulating, the new lockers are here, large and small mirrors are everywhere, and it's looking good.

The last word--this is a dangerous place for children. Small babies should not be crawling about on the floor. Just one weight on one small child could be disastrous. We will put up a sign that says "No Children Allowed", but you have to read it and watch your children, or ask someone to watch them while you shower. Please be careful. ☺

The Women's Weight Room is now equipped with a mini weight room.

Volleyball Team Off to Jr. Olympics

By Ron Li

In the world of junior volleyball, the opportunity to compete in the annual USVBA Junior Olympics is the goal of hundreds of youth teams throughout the country.

Last year, our boys finished fifth out of a competitive field of 32 teams entered in the 18 and under division and narrowly missed the chance of playing in the championship game before an audience of 200 teams.

On the return flight home, the boys vowed to return this year and make a stronger showing against great competition. This year's tournament will be held in Fort Collins, Colorado, July 4-9.

Since February, the boys have been living up to their vows by working out three times a week, including scrimmages with the Outrigger Open, Masters and Golden Masters teams, plus great showings in the weekend A tournaments and a trip to the Haili Tournament in Hilo.

On May 21, the hard work and team intensity paid off with their convincing wins over three other boy's teams for the Aloha Regional Championship, thereby assuring themselves of a high seed in the opening rounds of the Junior Olympics.

Daily workouts began in June, along with daily work projects to earn $4,000 to cover trip expenses in excess of the Club sponsorship. Jobs to date include house moves, major yard cleanups, warehouse restocking, staffing for the Pro Beach Volleyball Tournament, etc.

If you have a work project this summer, if only for a few hours, and would like to make a donation for the team services, please leave word at the Front Desk or contact one of the boys. Work can be performed in July and August after they return from the tournament.

The core of the team are the Punahou varsity boys who live on the sand courts at the Club and include the State Player of the Year. To this team have been added Brad Stewart, runner-up Player of the Year from state second place team, University High School, and Dave Williams, Maui Player of the Year.

As a tribute to the Club's volleyball environment, it should be noted that three of the Punahou seniors on the team have been recruited by colleges in the national final four. Stevie Li will be entering UC Santa Barbara and David Stackhouse and Jeff Stevens will be teammates at George Mason University.

Other members of the team are John Cheever, who will be an architectural student at Cornell, Ryan Gilbert, Rick-ey Humphreys, Deke Kilpatrick, Lee LeGrande, Kanoa Ostrem and Wayne Seligson.

The coaches are Chris McLachlin, Peter Balding Jr. and Bob Riley for weight training. Dr. Bill Stevens will be a dorm chaperone and Robbie Ostrem is investing in a new VCR camera to record all the action.

Last year, the boys were recognized as the best dressed team and gained respect and popularity from the spectators for their sportsmanship which was an example to younger teams at the tournament.

This year, Club member Bill Thompson has emerged as the major donor by arranging for Asics Tiger to provide the team with a complete uniform, including the latest model of volleyball shoes. Asics Tiger is associated with the top collegiate volleyball teams, including the UH Rainbows, and the Outrigger boys are the only boy's team they are sponsoring nationally which is a credit to the Club program.

Other clothing sponsors are Jon Andersen, Riggers Hawaii; Dale

Hope, Hawaiian Style; Vik Watumull, Happy Shirts plus a work project; and the Cheevers of The Bikeway with water bottles.

Following the Junior Olympics, Stevie Li will be reporting to the USVA Elite Junior Training Camp to be held at the University of Colorado at Boulder. He was one of 36 boys and 36 girls who are high school seniors selected nationally, and the only Hawaii representative.

To add fun and a sharp edge to playing skills, players from last year's team who went on to play in college have formed a scrimmage team. They include Leon Devaney, a member of the USC national championship team; Tony McInerney and David Porteus, San Diego State; Hoku Swartman, Loyola-Marymount, and Russell Nitta, Menlo. ☺

Fashion Shows

There will be two Fashion Shows at the Club during July. On Friday, July 1, Princess Kaiulani will present their fashions, and on Friday, July 29, there will be informal modeling of items from the OCC Beach Shop.

The Back to School Fashion Show is slated for Saturday, August 13, with all OCC children models.

Reservations for the luncheon fashion shows are suggested.

Bourbon League Reunion at the Club

By Neal Ifversen

During the first week of May every two years, the Club hosts the Bourbon League Reunion of Pan Am Airlines crew members. Most are retired captains, but all are either former or active Club members.

We can't thank that fine group of men enough for all they have done for the Club, especially during our "lean years"--the volleyballs, nets and items sorely needed by the Club during the war years, plus the monetary donations to the Employees Christmas Fund and the Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation.

The Bourbon League (don't be alarmed folks, the moniker started out as a joke, but the name stuck) goes back 50 years. Over half still retain their membership, if only to utilize the Club five days every two years.

We have never had a disciplinary or delinquent problem with any of the group (they police their own), and their contributions and support of the Club are immeasurable.

The amazing thing to me, was to see them all (at least 60 of them), on the volleyball court. The eldest was 78 years old, all of them over 60. Our Hau Terrace, Snack Shop and Dining Room were full of Bourbon Leaguers every day.

Logistic support was provided by Thad Ekstrand and his wife Patricia, Wally Young, Ray Ludwig and his fine staff. Yours truly pitched in a bit too.

The original Bourbon Leaguers were crews of the Pan Am Clippers. There was one flight a week. The planes were actually flying boats that landed in Pearl Harbor. The crews had a week layover. The trip from San Francisco to Honolulu took about 18 hours. The crews stayed at the Moana Hotel and came to the Outrigger to play volleyball and take their meals.

The Board of Directors established a special membership arrangement to accommodate them. When we moved to our present location, the Pan Am's had the option to transfer to Nonresident status. ☺

Great Golf Tournament at Olomana

By Frank E. Walton

When Club Golf Chairman Jim Hammons cast the golf horoscope for Spring, he found that Mars and the Moon were in harmonious juxtaposition on May 12. Naturally, he selected that date for the Club tournament.

It turned out that Jim and the stars were absolutely right. The tournament was one of the best ever attended (72 members and guests) and was a resounding success.

The overcast sky and a light breeze made it comfortable to play and the Olomana staff outdid themselves with an ono buffet.

It is obvious that our golfers prefer the shotgun. Theoretically, all golfers start and finish at the same time. Unfortunately, some of our players didn't keep up and finished 1 1/2 hours after everyone else. The ethics of golf require that you keep up with the foreosome ahead of you.

Hammons announced that the stars look good for the next tournament which is to be another shotgun start with 16 tee times at Kaneohe MCAS Course on Friday, August 12 at 7:30 a.m. Play will be followed by another magnificent buffet similar to that which drew raves last February. Sign up at the Front Desk if you want to play.

Winners in the Spring Tournament were:

Fitness Program Offered at OCC

By Dr. Dale Adams

Fitness or optimal health can be achieved in a painless, pleasant, non-stressful way. There are many aspects of optimal health, such as exercise, diet, weight control, stress reduction, good sleep, etc.

Agony, pain and grimacing do not describe a good fitness exercise program.

The OCC Board of Directors has chosen to address the exercise portion of fitness for its non-competitive members, those who are not on one of the Club's athletic teams.

This broad category probably includes most adults who do not have known heart disease and are not exercising regularly.

If an adult wishes to embark on a "logical" fitness exercise program, there are some very basic steps one needs to follow:

- Insofar as possible, be SAFE! This can be accomplished using simple medical tools--resting electrocardiogram, exercise electrocardiogram (treadmill stress test), limited physical exam, coronary artery disease history, and some simple blood tests (hemoglobin, cholesterol, triglyceride, fasting blood sugar).
- Have an individualized exercise prescription, based on conditioning, age, medications, etc.
- Undergo a graded program of exercising with instruction and monitoring.
- Learn how to monitor yourself to evaluate effectiveness, as well as to know signs of danger.
- This program encompassing the above principals has been approved by the OCC Board of Directors for the membership.

A medically supervised group program, to be done at the OCC, is being offered. It is targeted to begin in September/October, 1988. The coed group size will be limited to 25 participants.

The proposed program has two main phases--testing and monitored exercise instruction.

Phase I will include the resting ECG, the TST, blood tests, cardiac/fitness history and limited physician exam. This will take roughly three hours per person and will all be done at the OCC.

Phase II will consist of 10 one-hour sessions over a two-week period. The primary teaching device is walking, but much emphasis is spent on using this system to transition to other more exciting activities.

It is guaranteed that at the end of the 10 sessions each participant will be up to 30 minutes of sustained exercise to the prescribed heart rate and will have gotten there painlessly.

Each person will be knowledgeable and safe to pursue their own ongoing exercise regimen. That could take many forms such as weight lifting, canoe paddling, kayaking, jogging, etc.

For a fitness goal, it should be understood that 30 minutes of daily exercise at the prescribed heart rate, done five out of seven days a week, will suffice nicely. It is also a realistic goal for non-competitors.

(Competitive fitness is quite a different matter and can be discussed at a later time.)

The after effects of proper exercise should be a comfortably tired feeling for approximately 30 minutes and then a feeling of invigoration. If one is dragged out and exhausted, then there is something wrong with the program.

Costs for the itemized ingredients would exceed $600. The Board has negotiated a $300 all inclusive price and this amount can be charged on one's OCC bill.

If you would like to participate, a sign up sheet is available at the Front Desk. ☺

Outrigger to Have a Golf Team?

By Frank E. Walton

Should Outrigger have a golf team?

Well, why not? The Club sponsors tennis, softball and even motorcycle racing. Why not golf?

With nearly 300 players a year, the Club golf tournaments have one of the highest levels of participation by Club members of any sport.

Golf Chairman Jim Hammons is exploring the possibility of the OCC and our golfers joining the Hawaii State Golf Association. As members of the HSGA, the Outrigger and its players could take advantage of the U.S. Golf Association's Handicap and Information Network (GHIN).

The GHIN maintains computerized handicap information on all its members. With established, centrally maintained handicaps, Hammons thinks it might be possible to arrange for competitive golf matches for the Club team.

A show of hands at the Olomana Tournament indicated that a considerable number of our golfers are interested in pursuing this plan further.

If you'd like to add your two-cents, contact Hammons or any member of the Golf Committee. ☺

Winged "O": Peter Balding

By Paul Kendall

Winged "O" awarded 1970

A 41-year Outrigger Canoe Club member and former President, Director and perennial committee chairman, Peter A. Balding is also a successful businessman who excels in paddling, baseball, volleyball, tennis and surfing.

Peter is presently vice-president of operations of the Club and treasurer of the Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation which raises funds for grants and scholarships for deserving athletes and students.

Peter exemplifies all that our Jr. 'Riggers might seek to aspire.

During his long and active membership, he has contributed to the Club's innovative and appealing growth with his input on Building and Grounds, Admissions and Membership, Long Range Planning, Nominating and other committees.

He even found time to serve as Club Captain from 1968 to 1970.

After attending Punahou and the University of Washington, Peter returned to Hawaii.

Peter began his OCC sports career as a paddler on the 14 and under crew. A member of many victorious crews over the years, he paddled and raced on different crews up through the junior 4.

Along with several other Outrigger members, he represented Hawaii in Australia as a member of the Hawaii Surf Lifesaving Association team which competed and placed third in the 1956 International Surf Championships.

An active volleyball player, he participated for many years on Club teams in the USVBA nationals. In 1974, he was named All-American Honorable Mention in the Masters Division. In addition, he played on OCC teams entered in AAU competition.

While water sports may be his first love, he has been on many OCC championship mountainball teams over the years.

In 1970, he represented Outrigger in the international surfing championship contests in Peru where he placed ninth overall, and he has competed for the Club in the Makaha International Championships. In the Club surfing championships, he has won many titles, including four Makule Division victories.

In recent years, Peter has been playing a lot of tennis. In 1986, he and his doubles partner won their division in the Hawaii State Junior Vets & Seniors Tournament.

Peter has served six terms on the Board of Directors. He was vice-president of activities from 1971-73, and was Club President in 1974. He was secretary in 1985 and 1986, vice-president for activities in 1987 and vice-president for operations this year.

His wife, Gay, and son Peter Jr. and daughter Gay are all active in the Club.

80 Years Ago

1908--The brand new OCC's first spectacular entertainment was a canoe regatta celebrating the arrival of the U.S. Navy's Great White Fleet. Out to greet it was "the greatest fleet of outrigger canoes since the days of Kamehameha the Great." OCC's first boys' crew met honorable defeat from the paddlers of Prince Kuhio's seasoned Hawaiian crew.

40 Years Ago

1948--Manager Ted Magill and Neil Ifversen were authorized to organize a committee of juniors charged with supervising youth activities and offsetting complaints from senior members about junior conduct.

1958--Club Captain Ron Sorrell became Hawaii regional representative of the U.S. Volley Ball Association. Despite valiant battling by OCC Mountain Ball Stars Bob Clark, Jim Hutchinson, Tom Fink, Clarence Philpotts and Dick Cleveland, the Club placed third in the series, beating only the Bishop Estate. "The trophy will be ours next year," promised Coach Whiskey Barnett. A "Lapalooza of a Luau" featured Chick Daniels as King Kamehameha and Tennessee Ernie Ford as "his peapickin' self."
