Ian Moore and John Cheever show that competition begins at an early age.

"The Club Has Something for Everyone" Says Director Tom Haine

By Frank E. Walton

The Haine family has enough medals and awards to start its own trophy shop. For over 35 years, Tom has been collecting trophies for paddling, surfing and volleyball, especially volleyball. He is a mentor of an athletic family which has added to the store he started. His wife Marilyn, not wanting to be a volleyball widow, took up the game and proceeded to contribute even more to the hoard by winning a number of State Championships and representing the Club at several National Championships. Their son Marc and daughter Kisi got into the act with multiple inputs. Since then, the harvest has skyrocketed.

Born on a subzero day in Minot, North Dakota, Tom wasted little time making it to the warm climate of Hawaii, where he graduated from Roosevelt High School and attended the University of Hawaii. Going to the Mainland, he graduated from San Jose State College with a degree in Business Administration.

Having worked his way through the ranks, he is now, after 27 years, a Vice-President and Manager for First Hawaiian Bank. During this period he spent 20 years as a pilot in the Hawaii Air National Guard, retiring with the rank of Major.

His Club affiliation began back in 1948 when he commenced his distinguished athletic career. It is in volleyball that he has made his major mark. He played on Outrigger State and National Championship volleyball teams for many years. He was ranked as an All-American for 20 years. Highlights of his career include Captain of the 1968 U.S. Olympic Team; Gold Medal winner at the 1967 Pan American Games in Winnipeg; Silver Medal winner at the 1963 Pan American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Over the years he has served as Club Captain and as a member of practically all the Club committees. He was a member of the Board of Directors from the late 1960s to the early 1970s, serving terms as Vice-President and President. He is presently in the second year of a new term on the Board. Fittingly enough, because of his banking connection, he is in charge of Finance.

"The two most important things the Club has ever done," Tom says, "were to move from the middle of Waikiki to our present location and to get more youngsters involved in Club activities. The wisdom of the move is clear now but there was serious controversy over it at the time the move was made.

"The Club now offers so many things for so many people that there is something for everyone, no matter what their inclinations are. Club activities helped both our son and daughter get athletic scholarships to college.

"The Club is founded on athletic principles. We try to give the best guidance and support to the younger people coming up and to help them along. We try to equip the kids to face life. I think a majority of the Club membership approves.

"But the Club is for both young and old. I believe we have the proper mix now and intend to keep it that way. Because of the physical constraints of our present location, I think we should keep the membership at about the present level. I believe we've reached the maximum membership we can serve efficiently at this location. We should, at some time, try to acquire an additional site, looking to the day when our lease expires here. Of course, that is some 70 years away, but even so, it is not too soon to be considering the future.

"We can't build much more here because of the building restrictions. We intend to upgrade the existing facilities to keep them up and to continue to offer our membership the finest Club of its kind in the world.

"We have good leadership coming up so that I feel comfortable that the present policies and practices will be continued when we turn the baton over to them."

In the meantime, our volleyball maestro is still collecting trophies. He played in the Haile Church Event on Maui in April, where he and the Club have played for the past 27 years, winning the tournament in 26 of those years.

Tom Haine, who believes that the Club has something for everyone. And who wants to keep it that way.

Summer Open-Ocean Swim

By Ian Emberson

The 7th Annual Outrigger Canoe Club/Waikiki Swim Club ocean swim race will be held on Saturday, June 15 at the Club, starting at 9:00 a.m. Register at 8:15 a.m.

There will be a short course and a long course. The long course is approximately two miles; the short course, for anyone 50 and over, is approximately one mile (swim course is posted on bulletin board in tunnel).

Historically this has not been an easy swim due to currents and surf, so proper conditioning is recommended for anyone planning to compete. The entry fee of $10 includes a brunch, race T-shirt and awards. There is a late entry fee, so register early. A sign-up sheet is available for Club members at the front deck.

Swimmers are encouraged to provide a friend or relative as a personal escort, either on a paddleboard or in an outrigger canoe. Anyone who is interested in escorting is welcome and will receive a brunch, compliments of the Club, and a T-shirt (depending on supply).

Approximately a month later, on Sunday, July 28, Waikiki Swim Club and the Hui O He'e Nalu Surfing Association will be sponsoring the 3rd Annual North Shore Challenge Swim from Pupukea to Waimea Bay. This was a highlight of most swimmers' calendars last year as conditions were beautiful. The ocean was crystal clear, offering fabulous views of the coral and marine life below. The distance is approximately 2½ miles, from Ehukai Park (pipeline) to Waimea Bay. Details and entry forms are available at the front desk.

Start training now and we look forward to seeing you in these two exciting open-ocean events. These are excellent training swims for the Waikiki Roughwater Swim on Sept. 2nd.

Swim Calendar: Ocean Events

June 15	OCC-WSC Roughwater
June 29	Bluewater Classic
	2 Mile Swim, Queen's Beach to Makapuu

Information or results on above events will be posted on swimming board in tunnel at the Outrigger. Entry forms are available at the Front Desk.

Water Polo: OCC's Newest Sport

By John Nielsen

What is the oldest team sport in the Olympic Games? If you said water polo, you're right. It was contested first in the Olympics of 1900. Most recently, in the 1984 Games in Los Angeles, the U.S. team received a silver medal, with the gold medal going to the team from Yugoslavia.

The game of water polo is often likened to soccer played in the water. It tests one's quickness and strength as a swimmer, dexterity at ball handling and mind for team-game tactics of offense. Although many of the best water polo players come from California, numerous Hawaii players, including Outrigger members, have distinguished themselves in Mainland college competition.

The Board of Directors recently allocated funds for registration of an Outrigger team with United States Water Polo, the national governing body. An organizational meeting will be held in the near future to form a team for competition and in tournaments locally. A sign-up sheet is at the Front Desk. Those signing up for the team should be strong, quick swimmers or have prior experience playing water polo. Other Club members interested in assisting as officials or referees are also encouraged to sign up.

Sailing News

By Juli Haig

Sailing should be fun this year! Each Saturday, weather conditions permitting, one of our Club Sun Fish boats will be rigged and ready for sailing. For those already qualified to sail a Sun Fish, just see the Beach Captain to sign the boat out. If you are not yet qualified, see Tom Vesey or Bruce Plasch and they will be happy to qualify you on the ropes (rigs!) of Sun Fish sailing!

Also on the sailing agenda for this summer are "one on one" sailing lessons for those interested in the sport. Just see anyone on the Sailing Committee for details.

New PR Consultant Named

Does your committee have an event coming up that should be publicized beyond the Club? If so, the Public Relations Committee can help you.

At the request of PR, the Board of Directors approved a Community Relations Consultant to assist with getting interesting Club news out to the newspapers, radio and television stations.

Marilyn Kali will serve on the PR Committee in this capacity. If you have an event to be publicized, leave information for her at the Front Desk or call her at 833-4970 or 548-2268.

Haili Volleyball Tournament

Outrigger's Open, Masters and Golden Masters volleyball teams were invited to play in the 27th Haili Easter Week Volleyball Tournament, in which 91 teams took part, Tom Haine was voted as most valuable in the Masters division. On the all-tournament team were Bill Baird and Dan Oredson of the Masters. Marc Haine, Peter Balding, Elgin Calles and Jon Stanley of the Open.

The Open team lost to Lokahi in the finals of the winners' bracket, then came back to win their next matches and to play Lokahi again and win. Members were: Peter Balding, Jr., Hugh Foster, Jr., R. D. Gray, Trevor Schirman, Elgin Calles, Scott Rigg, Kenny Morrow, Marc Haine and Dan McNerny.

Master team members: Chris Crabb, Dave Shoji, Tom Madison, Dennis Berg, Charlie Jenkins and Jon Haneberg.

Golden Masters: Tom Haine, Bill Baird, Hugh Foster, Sr., Dan Oredson, Peter Balding, Sr., Bob Kashare, Fred Hiapo and Dave Hendrickson.

"Poof!" Another ball is blocked by Tyler Herich and Diana McNerny.

"Whack!" Another ball is hit to the floor by "Killer" Marcie Wurts, Sandra Stanley and Paula Jenkins.

"Ahhhhhh!" Traci Phillips and Pam Rigg make diving saves for the OCC.

"Whiff!" Kisi Haine spikes the ball with her fingernails.

That's how things went in the 27th Annual Haili Volleyball Tournament in Hilo over Easter weekend. Getting stiff competition from the Rainbow Wahines, U.S. Hilo Vulcans and Steamers, the OCC women's team concluded their season with a strong 4th-place finish out of 20 teams. We won our first two matches, which pitted us against the infamous U.H. Wahines. After losing to them in the semifinals of the winner's bracket, we won our next match against Chaminade University and then played the U.H. Vulcans, a highly skilled team, and lost in two close games.

We would like to extend our appreciation to the OCC administration, Pam Rigg and Dean Nowack for all their organization, help and support. Also, big congratulations to Diana McNerny for making the Haili All-Tournament Team. Her consistent play and leadership throughout the season was appreciated by all, and we're looking forward to another successful season next year.

Try Costa Rica

By Kelly Hutchinson and Bill Kesler

If you get bored fishing here in the Islands, want some adventure, and above all, are crazy, try a trip to Costa Rica. The daring bunch of 'Riggers that recently went were Jackie Maguire, Steve Quinn, Brad Ackerman, Tommy Ackerman, Warren Ackerman, Karl Heyer, Scott Rolles and Bill Kesler.

These eight braved the unknown elements in the jungles of Costa Rica at Costa Mar. Their fishing trip was successful as they challenged wild animals, torrential rains and the equatorial sun. Anyone who goes to Costa Rica to fish is going for the sport of catching Tarpon, in which four out of the eight 'Riggers were successful. And of course they all had a fabulous time.

As the Terrace Turns

Jack and Betty Browns' son, Peter, a Nonresident member, has just been made Executive Vice-President and Creative Director of Ogilvy and Mather ad agency, covering Edmonton, Vancouver, Portland, Seattle, Los Angeles and San Francisco. In June, Peter will be here for the 20th anniversary of his Punahou class. Then in July, Betty and Jack will take the Viking Sea up the Scandinavian coast, visiting six cities . . .

Keith and Polly Steiner hosted John Langenheim at a Club dinner in April. John was visiting, on business, from Seattle, where he and Rose now live . . . Greg and Susan Rudin had a great "spring vacation" in Arizona . . .

Congrats to Karen Jones on her new job at Starr, Seigle & McCombs . . . Riggers participating in the 8th annual Norman Tamanaha Memorial Run (9.3 miles) were Emary Lucas (1:06), Ken Brown (1:16) and Vicki Smith (1:29) . . .

Paula Carbone went skiing in March, and as soon as she returned she had to have foot surgery, putting her on crutches for a few weeks . . .

Professional windsurfer Dana Dawes is competing in Texas and California, and doing very well. She is sponsored by Bolle' sunglasses, Hi Fly Sails, Rip Curl wet suit and several others . . . Patty Wood enjoyed a Royal Viking Cruise in the Mediterranean, stopping at Barcelona, Monte Carlo, Livorno . . .

Executive Secretary Jon Lee Hop won second prize in KUMU's Secretary's Contest during Secretary's Week. She won a $500 shopping spree at Rafael.

The 14th Annual Sandy Beach Bodysurfing Championships were practically run by OCC members. Mike Fox, for example, not only won the Junior Men's Bodysurfing division but also made his debut as emcee of the ladies' bikini contest. He was outrageous and has decided to quit his regular job for his new calling! . . .

Tracy Howard scored in other ways, keeping track and tabulating the judges' renderings . . . "Surfer Joe" Teipel, the "Voice of Surf in Hawaii," was in typically fine form at the announcer's microphone . . . Pat Caldwell picked up a medal, some prizes and some money in the pro bodyboard division. He and Roger Cundall distribute all the Morey Boogie Bodyboards in Hawaii and were among the meet sponsors, as were Dale Hope (Hawaiian Style Clothing), Stephany Sofos (Kuhio Mall), Steve Scott (bodyboards and sandals), Carlton Kramer (Mid-Pacific Airlines) and John Wilbur (Colony Resorts) . . .

Long-time 'Rigger Werner Stoy was married in February and the couple now lives in California, where the new Mrs. Stoy conducts seminars for Federal agencies. They expect to visit Hawaii (and the Club) several times a year . . .

The article in the newspaper was very low-key, headlined Selleck Volleyball. It went on to say that OCC masters, with Tom Selleck, would play the American Samoa national team in a fund raiser on March 30. The price was right, $1.00 admission. The crowd was small; this was a very low-key fundraiser to get the Samoan team to Hilo for the Easter Haili Tournament. Representing Outrigger were Selleck, Tom Haine, Tom Madison, Chris Crabbe, Randy Shaw, Charlie Jenkins, Jon Haneberg and Jon Stanley . . .

Stephanie Bannick, a Seattle, Washington, non-resident B member is welcome at the OCC, anytime! She came in March to find some sun and went to the manager's office to ask some questions because she "didn't want to break any rules." Those in the office found her refreshing, because the requests are usually the other way around. A member of the Washington Athletic Club, Stephanie said, "OCC is so nice. It's wonderful. It's well-maintained, it's just beautiful." Such a conscientious visitor who appreciates our wonderful Club is always welcome.

Friends of Alan Beall gathered for a sunset cruise to celebrate his birthday aboard his yacht "Vida Mia." Alan recently restored the Stevens motor yacht to the original plush and elegant condition it was when it was built in 1929 as the sister ship to Roosevelt's "Sequoia." Among the OCC members present were Colleen Moore, Gordon Hess, Paige Vitousek, Jim Stahl, Dewey Millar, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pagluiso, Bill Stricklin, Christie Adams and Bruce Buckman. The party theme was "tape and grape," where everyone brought a birthday present of a cassette tape for the boat and a bottle of their favorite wine. Delicious hot and cold Mexican pupus were served to guests as they cruised on a glassy sea. A fabulous time was had by all! . . .

Veteran wine connoisseur Bob Kashare and his lovely bride, Gail, exchanged vows on April 14, and had a great reception at the Club. Congratulations and many happy years to come! . . . Juli Haig became an instant addict to aerobics when she started the sport recently . . . so much

Tommy Thomas

Whenever the history of our Club from the late 40's to the mid 50's is talked about on the Hau Terrace, all of these legendary names will appear in the stories at one time or another. Though now approaching middle age, there was a time when all hell would break loose when these members got together. They recently had a reunion of sorts in the Club dining room, when stories and rare pictures were shared. And...not one thing was broken or stolen. Though well-behaved and well-mannered, there is still a lot of sparkle in their eyes. The little boy is still in them...maybe just better controlled(?). Front row: "Kid" Campbell, Buzzy Trent and Ronnie Sorrell. Back row: Pat Wyman, Donnie Lord, Pat O'Connor and Barry Prichard.

so, in fact, she was asked to become an instructor, which role she assumed thrice weekly in her homeland of Hawaii Kai . . .

Exciting things are happening at the Bishop Museum these days as the Service League gears up for its Festival '85, which opens on October 19th. Haunani Ackerman and Auwe Morris have been chosen as this year's co-chairmen and they are looking for volunteers to help with the planning and running of the Festival. Nicky Black has been selected as the poster artist and logo/theme creator. Mark your calendars and get ready for a fun-filled weekend.

Alex Anderson was honored at the recent Na Hoku Hanohano Awards when he received the Sidney A. Grayson award for distinguished achievement. In his acceptance, Anderson said he wished there were a category for the best male singer over 90 (Last year, at 90, he recorded his first album!).

Surf's Up

By Adrian Rosehill

Once again, surf rats, it's time for the annual Outrigger Canoe Club Summer Surf Meet, to begin on Saturday, June 8, surf permitting. Competition will be held at "Old Man's" fronting the Club premises.

Entry blanks will be available at the Front Desk or Beach Captain and entrants may sign up for more than one division. A non-refundable entry fee of $3.00 will be assessed and may be paid by check or charged to a member's account. The divisions include the following: Boys, Junior Mens, Mens, Masters, Womens, Boogie-board (Men and Women), Longboard.

Each entrant will be given a meet T-shirt, and will potentially have the opportunity to surf Old Man's with a minimal number of bodies to contend with (especially the body and board, or should I say barge, of the infamous "Daddy" Haine). Trophies will be awarded to the top finishers in each division.

We are hoping Mother Nature will cooperate and provide us with a good swell to hold the competition in. The month of June, in past summers, has seen the best surf, which is the reason for that month being selected for the meet.

The meet will be run under the format followed by the Hawaii Surfing Association. Judging and scoring will be based on wave size, positioning on the wave, nature and difficulty of maneuvers performed, and length of ride.

In addition to surfing and boogieboarding, competition in canoe surfing may be added, depending on the interest in such a division. A bathing suit contest for men and women (the Outrigger "Hardbodies" Contest) will be held, with prizes to be awarded to the finalists. So all of you with bronze, nubile bodies, get your nastiest suit ready (Mike Fox please wear a Speedo that fits, okay?).

So fellow surf punks, chicks, grems, geeks, surf stars (where are you Gordie Quigg?) and former surf stars, get your favorite board out and start practicing. If you have any further inquiries please direct them to Adrian Rosehill (735-2635) or Robby Farrow (732-5959).

Out of the Past

By Joan Cooper Kaaua

Probably a lot of members are aware of the magnificent photo collection at the Bishop Museum. Photos taken by Ray Jerome Baker, Alonzo Gartley, and many other photographers of the past are there, and copies may be ordered for a reasonable charge.

I recently stopped by to check on the Baker collection. My grandfather, Edwin A. Cooper, and Baker were close friends and he had taken some family pictures of us in the 1930s. I really had hoped to find some of these, to have copies made . . . but found something else, much to my delight!

On December 31, 1914, the founder of the Outrigger Canoe Club, Alexander Hume Ford, arranged an expedition to Haleakalā. There were perhaps 30 pictures taken by Baker of the people that joined Mr. Ford, and shots of the interior of Haleakalā.

What caught my eye was reference to Mr. Edwin Cooper and son (my father) and so I looked up the picture, and a combination of feelings really hit me. There was my father at 16, sitting with the others, holding a camera . . . smiling at me. There he was again with his father, sitting under a tree resting before hiking back down to Olinda . . . pictures taken 70 years ago. Pictures I could order copies of!

I guess the main purpose of this is to alert all of you who love the past as I do, that you can bring it to your home or office by ordering from this vast collection. Pictures of perhaps your family members, old homes that have been torn down, areas of Waikiki we never knew, pictures of places and a time long past. Take an afternoon off sometime and visit the Museum, which is open to the public on Wednesday and Thursday from 1 to 4 p.m.

OCC Skiers Tackle Utah Mountains

The Outrigger Ski Team went "steep and deep" the first of March. Hardcore skiers Jaren Hancock, Ron Sorrell, Jody d'Ebau and Kent Giles, joined by Jim Peterson, spent a week or so tearing up five ski resort mountains throughout Utah.

Hancock, Sorrell and d'Ebau spent a few days at Snowbird and Solitude before being joined by Peterson. The four were soon joined by last year veteran Kent Giles. When they went to the airport to pick up Giles, bets were made as to the odds on his actually appearing. A bundle of cash was placed on the airport floor with three betting that he would show and one covering the bets with a no-show.

Giles not only appeared, he was the first one off the plane. And in tow was non-resident OCC member Gen. (ret.) Art DeBolt. Art had just returned from a ski trip in Europe and invited the gang to join him at Snowbasin, just outside Ogden (his home). In a few days, the team did put their tips-over- the-edges with Art, and all agreed that Snowbasin was the best area in all of Utah—long, hard, wide runs with no other skiers to speak of.

No, this isn't the James gang—but it is James Peterson and Ron Sorrell all masked up before skiing in 15° weather on top of Utah's Alta Ski Resort.

The team skied Solitude, Snowbird, Alta, Park City and Snowbasin. A couple of storms came through the mountains, and at times the temperature at the tops of the ski areas dropped to 18 below. As they rode up the ski lifts they could see the wind throwing the new powder around like a sandstorm. No one dared stay long at the mountaintop. Led by Hancock and d'Ebau, the team found themselves on intermediate runs at times, and sometimes on the black-marked expert runs. Because of their aggressiveness, a few bumps and bruises were brought home, with Ron Sorrell limping in with a pulled calf.

Jim Peterson showed the boys a few tricks by doing unique pirouette pull-outs, followed by a crash-and-burn cloud of powder. Giles was carefully selecting his own trails to burn up, while Sorrell followed coaches Hancock and d'Ebau down some of the more questionable runs. On the final day—final run—d'Ebau and Hancock took Giles and Sorrell down an expert black run. Sorrell had made the run once before, but he says that didn't make it any easier. From the top of the run, the highway below measured about a half-inch wide. After a couple hundred mogels and some steep-and-deep turns, everybody made it home safe and sound.

The gang is already planning their next trip, and welcome any members who desire to "hot dog" some of the greatest and steepest runs in the U.S.

The Many Careers of Frank Walton

By Bill Capp

The first time I saw Frank Walton he tried to kick my teeth out and I tried to drown him. It was all in fun, of course, a water polo game. I was playing for USC and trying to keep Frank from scoring a goal for the Hollywood Athletic Club.

Since then, Frank has distinguished himself in so many careers that you wonder how he's managed to crowd them all in. His listing in the 1979 edition of Who's Who In America covers the bare facts:

"National Swimming Champion, 1929; world record holder, 1930; member U.S. Olympic Water Polo Team, 1948; Life Guard; Deputy Sheriff, Los Angeles County; Deputy Chief, Los Angeles Police Department; Colonel, U.S. Marine Corps; Foreign Service Officer, U.S. Department of State; Author."

After five years as a life guard on the Southern California beaches of Santa Monica, Manhattan and Hermosa (he wrote a book about his life guard experiences), Frank joined the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office.

"My most vivid recollection of that period," recalls Frank, "was a call my partner and I got when we were working the graveyard shift in a radio car out of the San Dimas station. It was 3 a.m. and our call was: Mexicans fighting with axes. Hurry!

"When we got to this place, lighted only by lanterns, out in the boondocks, we found half a dozen people down in the yard, some dying, and a killer hiding in a shack with an axe."

"It gets the adrenalin flowing pretty good to walk into a pitch-black house to arrest a killer lying in wait for you with an axe.

After two years in the Sheriff's Office, Walton joined the L.A. Police Department and began a career that was to span 21 years.

When Pearl Harbor came along, he signed on as a First Lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps.

"It was the greatest show on earth and I wanted to get in and do my share," says Walton. "The mood among young men then and today is entirely different. Young men were jamming all the recruitment centers. Now, they run for cover.

While Frank was in the Marine Corps, his wife Carol, who had won a medal in the Women's National Water Polo Championships and who did stunt work and doubling in the movies, went to work at Lockheed as a rigger on B17s.

Walton was on active duty for three years, 16 months of it in the South Pacific (Guadalcanal, Munda, Bougainville) as an Air Combat Intelligence Officer. His service as Intelligence Officer for the famous Black Sheep Squadron, led by the legendary Pappy Boyington, is one of the highlights of his life.

"In the 84 days they were in combat, the Black Sheep pilots shot down 97 Japanese planes against our loss of just 11 pilots. Those were days of intense, high adventure. I can't say enough about those Black Sheep pilots who racked up that fabulous record."

The squadron received the Presidential Unit Citation and Frank was cited by Admiral Halsey for his job as its Intelligence Officer.

Released from active duty as a Major, Frank returned to the LAPD where he progressed through the ranks to Deputy Chief of Police, managing to earn a Master's degree in Public Administration and to become a member of the 1948 U.S. Olympic Water Polo Team. Because of his hard-charging insistence on getting things done, he was called the "Red Jet" by his co-workers.

In 1959 Walton retired from the LAPD to accept an appointment as a Foreign Service Officer with the U.S. Department of State. He was sent to Vietnam as chief advisor to the National Police of that country.

"Carol and I spent altogether seven years in Vietnam," he says. "They were tough, exciting, demanding, sometimes frightening years. We ate everything from bats to bugs, from monkey brains to eyeballs; some things still crawling. We've often said, to paraphrase Nathan Hale, that we regret that we had only one set of insides to give to our country.

"We were shot at; bombed; went through several coups. I recall driving to Vung Tau for a Police Academy graduation exercise with my deputy and our wives. I had a Thompson submachine gun on my lap and my deputy had a sack full of hand grenades. Not what you'd call tranquil living.

"I eventually built up the National Police to 120,000 men. They did everything that U.S. law enforcement agencies do and more, including fight. They lost 6,000 killed.

Walton retired as a Colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve in 1969 and from the Foreign Service in 1971.

"My first trip to Hawaii was in 1927 while I was still in high school," he recalls. "I came out as a member of the Olympic Club swimming and water polo teams to compete in the Midwinter Swimming Carnival. I decided that, some day I'd like to live in Hawaii."

And that is what Frank and Carol have done. They recently celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary. They live next door to the Club at the Colony Surf, where Frank is president of the Board of Directors. He also serves on several Club committees: Golf, Swimming and Public Relations.

Not content to let his arteries harden, he has embarked on still another career: freelance writing. He has had several articles and short stories published in national magazines and is now trying to find a publisher for his book about the Black Sheep Squadron.

That is Frank Walton, six careers since I tangled with him in a water polo game more than 50 years ago.

A Night in Asia

By Stephany Sofos

The beauty, grace, and culture of Asia's most fabulous countries were brought together when the Outrigger Canoe Club presented "A Night In Asia." Highlighting the countries of Japan, China, Thailand and the Philippines, the Entertainment Committee created a successful blend of Asian culture, treating the sell-out crowd of Club members to an evening of exotic foods and entertainment.

With Ray Ludwig's entire staff in costumes ranging from geishas to samurai, the evening began with a traditional Chinese Dragon Dance for good luck. The entertainment continued with a Japanese Bon Dance, Thai dancers, and finally the well-known bamboo dances of the Philippines.

Throughout the evening, the Asian buffet tantalized guests with dishes such as sashimi, sushi, tako and shrimp tempura from Japan; Peking Duck, Won Ton, and Gau Gee Mein from China; and meat sticks, mussels, noodles and the most unusual desserts from Thailand and the Philippines.

The event culminated in an evening of dancing, as the Ebb Tides played a variety of songs for all ages. An entertainment bonus was provided by Andy Jones and his daughter, Karen, as they blazed across the dance floor.

A big Mahalo to Jim Stackhouse and the Entertainment Committee for this tremendous party.

'Riggers really enjoyed the lavish buffet.

From The Entertainment Committee

By Kelly Hutchinson

We have a full 1985-'86 year planned, with exciting monthly events in which we would like everyone to participate.

To start off the summer excitement, we are organizing, a Sporting Night, which will begin in June and run through August. It will be on the last Wednesday night of the month. This event is for the whole family to enjoy—volleyball, softball, etc., with a picnic in the park to follow.

In July, look forward to a cruise party during Transpac '85, and to OCC's annual luau in August. In September, we will have a Letterman's Ball, along with the Winged "O" awards banquet; October: a Wine Tasting; November: a post-Halloween costume party. December, of course, will be filled with festive events, including Christmas decorating.

In January, look forward to the second Asia night. How does a formal dinner dance sound for February, and a Block Party in March? Also a possible Keiki Fashion Show in April.

Please join in the fun. The Entertainment Committee for the '85-'86 year is led by Chairperson Sue Oliver, Kimo Austin, Coordinating director, Maria Drey, Al and Julie Franco, Kelly Hutchinson, Ann Martin, Rodman Muller, Ann Perry, H. Cecil Sharp, Doris Smith, Stephany Sofos, Jim Stackhouse, Marilyn Thompson and Laura Van Leir Ribbink. If you have any suggestions or comments, feel free to contact any of us.

Paddling Kick-Off Party

By Lisa Siggers

It's paddling season again, with the Kick-Off Party on April 4th starting the summer-long paddling events. Canoe Racing Chairperson Darcy Ames and her committee members did a great job, with "Michael Jackson's Other Glove" as the party theme.

Registration began at 5 p.m. with many new paddlers signing up as well as lots of old-timer's—those who have been through the action-packed season at least once before.

An ono spaghetti dinner kept the opus full, and hours of music kept everyone dancing. This year's paddling theme song, "The Heat Is On," had the dance floor packed with prospective paddlers. Many door prizes were given away in the "Michael Jackson's Glove" contest, including a new paddle, generously donated by Walter Guild and Hank Lass of the Fiberglass Shop and won by Ian Moore. Future paddler Aaron Ackerman collected many of the gloves discarded from the door prizes, thinking they were the niftiest prize of all.

The night, enjoyed by paddlers, supporters and spectators, was a great success. Let's all keep up the good work and good fun throughout the paddling season!

Tragic Event

Our sympathy goes to Paige Vitousek, whose beautiful home high on Tantalus Mountain was recently destroyed by fire. Paige had just left the Club on her way to teach her real estate class when she looked up and saw the smoke. Her friend Jeff Tilley and Gordon Hess raced up the mountain to ascertain if it was in fact her house. Alas, they reported back, it was. In the meantime Gerri and Jack Pedesky and Di Guild went to the site to see if they could find Paige and assist. Grady Bintliff was also there to help, and since he is her next-door neighbor he was equally concerned about his own home. Had there been a breath of wind that evening, it would have taken his house, too.

Talk about fast communications, Paige's nephew, Karl Heyer IV, was watching the event on the TV News, and immediately called his mom, Arden Moore, in Washington D.C., to tell her "Auntie's house is burning, I'm watching it now." All of this before Paige knew it was her house.

Matt Kresser: Our Man to Watch

By Tiare Richert Finney

It was a normal morning, dishes, diapers and the usual weekday routine. The phone rang: "Do you want to see Kresser race?" asks Gib Bintliff. My reply was "You bet" and so began a Sunday I doubt I will soon forget. Being a dirt bike owner, the idea of a motocross race ups my heart 10 beats and makes my palms perspire.

The caravan to the Kahuku track included Gib and myself, (pit crew extraordinaire), Matt's mother, sister Mia and Nina Williams (cheering section par none, better known as the Kresserettes). As we approached the North Shore it was apparent from Matt's expression that he had only one thing on his mind. Racing!

The day's event was an elimination race for local riders wanting to compete in Supercross 2, Hawaii's premiere motorcycle event to be held in Aloha Stadium in late June. Supercross racing is done on dirt tracks built in stadiums across the country, and draws crowds of up to 85,000. Tons of dirt are trucked in and used to build the track, complete with jumps, bumps and hairpin turns designed to test a rider's skill, his machine, and more than anything, reward risk taking.

The "acid test" for the Supercross races is the double jump. The average rider will take each of the two jumps separately. The elite rider hits the first jump with enough speed to clear the second completely. Many times he reaches heights of 15 to 20 feet and passes slower riders in midair. The Kahuku track has two double jumps in a row. (I'll stick to riding on the ranch and on cane roads, thank you!)

The competitors will race in two grueling heats, a semi and a final, each lasting approximately 20 minutes. Of the 50 starters, only nine will qualify. The bikes are all 250cc specialized racing machines, capable of taking the wrinkles out of anyone's face. Minutes before the practice laps are to start, Matt's bike developed a flat tire. If he cannot fix it in time, he will have to race without practice. Matt and his pit crew flew into action, making repairs in less than 10 minutes. Matt jumped back on his bike only to find that in our haste, we had damaged the new tire and he had another flat. Tire change, take two! This time we were done in under eight minutes with no damage.

The flat tires were only a preview of the tests Matt would face as the day progressed. In one of the qualifying heats, he took a fall and broke his clutch lever; undaunted he passed most of the field to finish fourth and move on to the semi. He rode conservatively,

(if that is possible on a supercross track) to qualify and move into the main event.

Matt came off the starting line in the main event against some of Hawaii's best riders, handicapped by a crushed exhaust pipe caused by a high-impact spill. When the starting gate dropped, 10 riders, handlebar-to-handlebar, throttles wide open, accelerated to the first turn. The damage to Matt's bike took its toll. He was at the back of the pack as they came into the first turn. He hit the first jump and passed four riders in mid air. Coming down the back stretch, Matt passed another rider.

As the main event progressed it became apparent that Matt was riding stronger and faster every lap. Only a few laps to go, he closed in on third place. The rider he was chasing suddenly did a "get off" (dirt bike jargon for crash) in front of Matt. Unable to avoid him, Matt crashed also. With only two laps remaining, he fought his way back to take the checkered flag in fifth place.

Fighting back is nothing new for Matt. At 19, he is quite a man. He has successfully come back from drugs and alcohol (he is 100% clean and proud of it), and weathered the untimely death of his father in early 1983. He also sat 2 seat in the undefeated State Champion Boy's 18 crew this past season. Along with being an athlete, Matt Kresser is an academic achiever and a gentleman.

This coming June 29th, Kresser is our man to watch in the Supercross. Don't miss him!

Just 23 secluded suites...on the beach. Steps from the Outrigger Canoe Club.

The quintessence of a Waikiki vacation is a secluded, uncrowded hotel in the European tradition.

Like the Outrigger Canoe Club, we are nestled in the shade of Diamond Head with the same oceanfront vistas that inspired Robert Louis Stevenson.

Here, on the quiet end of Waikiki, on the beach, you'll find our secluded suites. An unspoiled respite from the world, while remaining "close to its heart."

Check us out, (we're almost next door) ask to see a Suite. Brochure also available.
