It's Regatta Time!

By Emary Lucas

The dawn broke most beautifully; the water a still blue and the wave action, gentle. In the hearts and minds of the OCC paddlers only one thing was of importance: win the prestigious Walter Macfarlane Surfing Regatta. Firecrackers were going off in most of the OCC paddlers' stomachs as OCC had to come from behind to take this regatta, 74 points vs. 65 for Hui Nalu.

Hui Nalu has just come off a win in their regatta the previous week and it was up to Outrigger to do the same. And they did. What a victory! Saving the best for the last, OCC pulled away with wins in the upper divisions, and the Senior Men's two-mile event put Outrigger on top to stay. Head Coach Walter Guild said, "It always feels good to win the Walter Macfarlane Regatta, and this year's victory was very rewarding since we last won this regatta in 1979."

No doubt the pressure was on all day. At day's end, however, when OCC was clearly the victor, the standings were tied, 2 to 2. Hui Nalu and Outrigger had each won two regattas. This could be a virtual battle of the titans down to the finish line, perhaps to be decided only in the Oahu or the State Championships.

Conditions were great for the Macfarlane regatta; at times waves were as high as 2-4 feet. On some waves, other clubs took a beating; for instance, the koa-canoe crash between the Hawaiian Warriors and the Waikiki Surf Club during the Sophomore Women's event. This was due to the steersmen losing control of the boat, thus causing the accident. In contrast, Outrigger's steersmen and women are of the highest caliber and are always on the lookout for those dangerous and costly errors that can happen when a boat is out of control. Accidents of any type are kept to the very minimum.

Outstanding performances were attributed to the Men's Masters 40 and over crew, the Junior Women's and the Senior Men's crews. It was the Senior Men who rose to the occasion to win this blue-ribbon two-mile event. The members of this winning crew are: Keahi Farden; Tim Kelly; Donny Mailer; Bob Rieley; John Finny and Kainoa Downing.

In winning this race, the Senior Men won the perpetual Matson Cup, the longest winning perpetual trophy in canoe racing. It can be viewed in the lobby of the Club.

Men's Masters 40: Jim Jones, George Pray, Jack Mattice, Norm Dunmire, Linc Scafe, Jack Beaumont following their victory in the Macfarlane.

Club president Bob Moore congratulates Tim Kelly, a member of the Senior Men's crew, for their winning the Walter Macfarlane Regatta.

Leeward Kai Regatta

The Outrigger Canoe Club really showed its muscle as it accumulated eight first places to capture the team title at the Leeward Kai Regatta in Nanakuli on Sunday, June 21. On this hot, almost windless day, the weather and ocean conditions were perfect for a regatta.

Canoe-racing chairman Jeff Kissel summed it up at the end of the day's racing. "The Outrigger Club won this regatta in the best of canoe-racing tradition that instills in all of us the will to win. And to think that the Novice A men have not yet peaked. This is going to be a great season indeed!"

Head Coach Walt Guild was equally proud of his paddlers, saying, "Our coaching staff has worked hard in preparing the paddlers to do what this club does best—win canoe races." Walt emphasized that this race shows the competition that our younger division has the determination to make steady improvement towards our goal of winning the Oahu and State Championships.

Walt believes that the most improved crews during this regatta were those of the Senior Women and the Junior Men. Members of the 1st place Senior Women crew are Anita Minteer, Tiare Finney, Ann Nicol, Tracy Phillips, Connie Young and Ann Hogan. These superstars are coached by Aaron Young. Members of the 1st place Junior Men crew are Ed Pickering, Bill Bright, Gibb Bintliff, Murry Hixson, Jack Fher and Allan Rosehill. These racers are coached by Mike Lemes.

One crew to watch is the fast-coming Girls 15 crew. This 1st place crew is composed of Reeny Dorsey, Stephanie Smart, Gail Stringer, Malia Snyder, Caroline Stirling, and Jonna Lemes. We can expect some great wins from this group. These paddlers are coached by Didi Guild.

It might be noted, the Freshman Men, romantically known as the "Sultans," set a new course record for their 1-mile race with a record time of 7:52.

Kaupiko Regatta

Earlier in the season, Hui Nalu Canoe Club outclassed Outrigger with an 85-to-55 point victory at the Kaupiko Regatta. This made Hui Nalu two-to-one in the season standings and set the stage for a great showdown on the July 4 weekend.

Although the victor may have drawn some better lanes than Outrigger, OCC hung in there to nail down second place with some great first-place wins. Those crews taking the 1st place spot were: Boys 13 and under, Freshmen Men, Junior Men, 15 year Women, Junior Women.

Introducing the Weight Room

By Emary Lucas

Another improvement to the club is now open—an improvement that can be enjoyed by both male and female members of the Outrigger Canoe Club.

Located on the mezzanine level of the parking garage, just under the grandstand of the volleyball court, is the new body-conditioning and weight room. Here $12,000 worth of equipment waits to be utilized by those who are into body-building or just body-toning.

According to weight-room coach Hank Lass, "Everything you could possibly use or need in weight-training is located here." All the custom-designed equipment by World Class Gym Equipment, Inc. was customized for the room by Lass and Norm Crum, due to the various height limits imposed by the nature of the parking garage.

In this room, Lass feels that the upper division men and women canoe-racing crews can gain additional overall intensive training and body strength. He is not alone in his estimate that this particular room will enjoy the most use, probably only second to that of the Hau Terrace.

During July, the room was undergoing an evaluation period. New rules and hours will be announced soon.

Transpac Entry

The "Libalia Too," a 41-foot Davidson made in New Zealand and owned by Art and Libbie Kamisugi, was hosted by the Outrigger in last month's Transpac race. The 3-year-old boat participated in the Class C division of the race and was co-skipped by the owners. OCC member George Norcross was a member of the crew.

Cinnie-Belle Ayau was coordinating sponsor in charge of arrangements for the Club's party honoring the crew. Co-sponsors included the Dennis Mahoneys, Alfred Goldman and Dr. Robert Flowers.

Late Results

Results of the 1981 Masters National Swimming Championship meet held in Irvine, California, in May, were received too late for publication previously. This was the short course meet, 25-yard pool, and OCC members placed as follows:

Lloyd Osborne; 4 first places, including 3 new national records, 1 second place, 1 fourth place.

Jimmy Dean: 1 fifth, 1 eighth, 1

Diane Stowell: 2 thirds, 1 fourth, 1 fifth.

Fred Rohlfing: 1 sixth, 2 sevenths.

Joan Osborne: 1 first, 3 seconds, 1 third.

Richard Sylva: 1 fourth, 1 fifth, 1 sixth, 1 eighth.

Harry Huffaker: 1 fifth, 2 sixths, 1 seventh.

From the Terrace

By Jorgen Skov

It is not only for divers the "buddy system" works. Rumors swept the Hau Terrace that Bruce Lloyd was way behind in getting his house ready for rental while he spends a year at the Marrakesh Country Club in Palm Desert. So an enthused crew consisting of Jay Pease, Buddy McGuire, Dave and Sandy Pierson, Alika Burso, Darnell Davidson and yours truly played carpenters for the day and installed new gutters, siding, doors and did a lot of painting. Unfortunately the host, while hanging a lamp, stepped through the ceiling after everyone had left! . . . Well, back to the drawing board . . .

Speaking of buddies, it was my happy fortune some 25 years ago at UCLA to find a roommate by the name of Chuck McCrary. For the annual Macfarlane Regatta, Chuck provides a corner suite at the Outrigger Hotel, and what a way to watch the races, and what delicious pupus everyone brought. Tom and Patty Sterling as well as Diane Snyder knew who had won the Borg-McEnroe match at Wimbledon, but were good enough to keep it to themselves while the rest of us watched . . . Jan Hansen announced that she is entering medical school this fall . . . Marsha Thoele was there with a new look and longer hair, which really becomes her . . . At the end of the races we were all spared carrying food home as the Junior Men's team led by Jeff Davis appeared and made short order of the remaining edibles . . .

The party which followed on the Terrace is mostly history now, but Anzai had a hard time finally closing the bar at midnight . . . I made an awful lot of notes during the day but somehow they got washed in the bathing suit pocket, and that is probably just as well . . .

Peder and Ginny Odgaard are visiting from Copenhagen and enjoying the company of their many friends here. Maggie Thompson was joined by Nancy Buttler in hosting them for our country's birthday . . .

And that brings us to Sunday the 5th, when Jay Pease and Ernie Ford arranged an Outrigger bus to the annual Johnny Walker Day at the polo field in Mokuleia. Such stalwart funseekers as Bob Kashare, Kathy Christiansen, Carolyn Nicholson, Kent Bowman, Kim Woolaway and many others enjoyed a fine day in the sun watching Kent Giles dispense his finest products. It is always nice to go to polo with a good group of friends, but as John Linkie, Joe Rose and Sam Kress wisely discussed, it would be wiser not to have Macfarlane Day and Johnny Walker Day back-to-back . . .

The Polo Game itself was between a local team headed by Jim Reynolds and a team from Chile. The day had some very nostalgic overtones as Fred Dailey turned the field over to a group of new players, whom we wish all kinds of luck. Fred and Murph Dailey over the years have done as much for the sport of polo as Dad Center did for canoe racing.

We are spoiled here in Hawaii, and only here would one hear Barbara Norfleet coming into the lounge and saying, "Isn't that sun just awful!"

Look forward to the September issue, when Emary Lucas will start his new wine column in this magazine. He will be discussing all the wines and spirits served at the Club . . .

Know Your Committees

By Art Emanuel

Here are photographs of the Exercise and Entertainment Committees, two more of those that make your Club tick. They do a great job.

Jimmy Dean Wins Open-Ocean Swim

OCC hosted the Waikiki Swim Club on July 5 for the third annual "challenging" two-mile open-ocean swim. There were 69 entries. Swimmers and escorts enjoyed good weather, some current (!), and a beach brunch following the event.

Because Waikiki Swim Club is organized solely for swimming and competes creditably on the Mainland, it is not surprising that they outnumbered and outcompeted the OCC swimmers. However, our own Jimmy Dean captured first place over-all in a time of 51:20.

At the other end of the spectrum was W.S.C.'s Wally Laury, age 79 (yes, 79) who finished in 2:51:00. Even though it took him two hours longer, "Wally has lots of courage and stamina, and never gives up," according to Jim Howe, OCC member who escorted him on a paddleboard. Let's hope we're all in that shape with that kind of courage at 79.

Thanks go to the escorts for the day. In addition to Howe, paddlers were Grant Senner, Alan Emberson, Steve Somers. In canoes were Gerri Pedesky, Diane Guild, Joan Kaaua, Tom Reiner, Molly Anderson, Matt Anderson, Linc Scafe. Frank Walton was starter, time-keeper, scorer—terrific job, Frank. Course directors were Cline Mann and Wayne Faulkner.

Swim Committee members Gerry DeBenedetti and Ian Emberson extend Mahalos to all of those who helped, and invite more OCC participation for our next events, the Waikiki Roughwater on Sept. 7 and the Castle Swim on Nov. 29.

Complete results are available at the swim bulletin board near the locker rooms.

New Generation

By Scott Rigg

After clinching the Men's "A" Regional Championships at Kamehameha Schools, the OCC junior men's volleyball team left Hawaii in search of what seemed to be "The Triple Crown." First stop was Estancia High School in California, site of the West Coast Prep Championships. Although they represented Outrigger, the team played as Punahou High School, so one of the eight players could not play, since he attends Iolani.

Playing their newly patented brand of "inspired" volleyball, the junior team won their pool and went on to top the 15-team tournament by beating Estancia in the semi-finals and Los Angeles city champs, Chatsworth High, in the finals 15-5, 15-9. During the 2-day tournament, OCC compiled an enviable 14-0 game record, and gained valuable momentum for their final destination—Junior Nationals at Creighton University in Omaha, Nebraska.

At Creighton, it seemed the word was out that "Outrigger was the team to beat," and Fountain Valley, Calif. was sure they would do just that. Not only did the tall Californians boast of assured victory, they also engaged in verbal harassment. This only fueled Outrigger's desire to win, and the "boys from Hawaii" let the scoreboard do the talking. Out of eight matches played, including one against a senior men's team, the juniors dropped only one set to Fountain Valley, and returned the following day to apply the "Aloha" touch to the finals.

The final match saw Outrigger playing the finest volleyball of the 10-day trip, combining reckless defense with powerful putaways—shutting out Fountain Valley 15-4, 15-11. Their style of play was surely the crowd-pleaser of both tournaments.

Returning home as national champions was naturally a momentous occasion for the OCC juniors. Each player seemed to have grasped a new concept of "team volleyball" and its application to competitive team success. Despite All-Tournament and MVP selections, each player realized that without his teammates and the support of the Outrigger Canoe Club, the Triple Crown would not have been possible.

Members of the team were Bruce Ayau, Brian Costales, Arne Lamberg, Pete Mattice, Jon McDermott, Owen McKibbin, Doug Rigg and Matt Rigg. The coach was Scott Rigg. West Coast Prep Championships: All-Tournament selection, Bruce Ayau, Brian Costales; MVP, Matt Rigg. Junior Nationals All-Tournament Selection: Owen McKibbin, Brian Costales; MVP: Matt Rigg.
