Kamehameha Day Regatta

By Emary Lucas

The Oahu Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association went into action with the Kamehameha Day Regatta at Kailua Beach Park on Sunday, June 7. Coach Walter Guild and his paddlers met the competition head-on throughout the day and although not victorious—OCC tied for fourth with Kailua Canoe Club—Outrigger crews in each group had their own personal victories.

"It's going to be a good season," said head coach Guild as he ran off the names of the crew that did exceptionally well on Sunday. The Freshman Men, the Junior Women and the Senior Men crossed the finish line in first place.

The Freshman men did exceptionally well with a three-boat-length victory; the crew is composed of Keone Downing, Mark Rigg, Walter Guild, Mark Haine, Karl Heyer and Kaiona Downing. It was this returning OHCRA,

State and all-State Championship crew that led the way.

The OCC Senior men looked in terrific shape as they, too, crossed the finish line ahead of the pack. This crack crew consisted of Keahi Fardin, Bob Riley, Tim Kelly, John Finney, Donny Mailer and Tom Conner.

Coach Guild believes that as the season progresses, the power of Outrigger will be felt in each successive race. All crews are training hard and the will-to-win should surface with each race. Crews like the Senior Masters, who placed second in the regatta, Freshman Women and the Boys 18 all have that potential to come across the finish line first. According to Guild, "If we can all work on correcting our mistakes, we will finish in the money."

Coach Guild went on to state, "A change of philosophy has taken place in that we look for a long-range pay-off vs. an immediate pay-off. We don't want to do what we did last year—win early and lose the big ones like the Oahu Championships and the State Championships. Instead, we plan to emphasize the basics of paddling technique and physical conditioning as the foundation for winning the State title." Guild believes that Outrigger has all the potential to win the big ones.

Volleyball Championship

Outrigger Canoe Club Masters' team placed second in the National U.S. Volleyball Championships in May at the University of Texas at Arlington. Gee, that's great? No, that's terrible! They were the defending champions!

The winning team, Legends Restaurant of Belmont Shores, California, has a roster of volleyball greats—the Suwara brothers, Rudy, Ernie and John, also Smitty Duke and Butch May to name a few.

Tom Haine and Tom Selleck of Outrigger were named Honorable All-American Players. Dennis Berg and Tony Crabb were named All-American. In beating Olympic Gold Masters, it was tied one game each when, with the score 2-3, Fred Haiapo came in and served 10 straight points. The big block of Tony Crabb and Tom Selleck made 5 of those points.

It was a great game, as Outrigger won 15-2 to win the match 2 out of 3 games.

Members of the OCC team were: Coach Jon Stanley, Manager Fred Chuckovich, Dennis Berg, Tom Haine, Andy Homan, Fred Haiapo, Tom Selleck, Tony Crabb and Bill Baird.

Mountainball League

By Dave Pierson

Auwe! Here we are, the Tenants, being full of aloha for the Landlords—a.k.a. the Elks Club—and proposing membership for them in the Surveyor's Mountainball League. And how do they express their appreciation? By walloping us 6-2 and winning their first eight games! Outrigger trails with a 7-1 mark with M. E. Pacific and Belt-Collins at 6-2.

Coach Bill Kilcoyne has a 16-man roster, plus his son, Brian, suited-up and ready to go every week. The return of swift Dave Shoji from the volleyball wars, and the hard hitting of Mike Ciacci, Dan West and Colin Chock led the early season victories.

Post game "cold-ones" in the park leave the subs in a relaxed state of mind as the spirit and fun of the league often belies the keen competition between the Elks, Kamehameha, Bishop Estate and Outrigger—all old friends (and getting older) but deadly serious on the field.

Outrigger recently purchased the 1978 Hawaii Islanders uniforms, which will look mighty classy (when patched up) come neighbor island tournament time.

Catcher Levi Stanley has managed to terrorize runners approaching the plate. Pitchers Bill Head and Dave Pierson even combined for a no-hitter, and Bill "High Price" Erickson and Hank Ayau are making super efforts every week.

Book Displayed

Copies of The Outrigger are now being displayed in several strategic spots in the Club lobby, handy for perusal by visitors. This definitive history of the Club makes an ideal souvenir of an Island visit or an excellent gift for members to send to Mainland friends. It's on sale in the Beach Shop.

What About Your Family Tree?

By Sharon J. Bintliff, M. D.

John Musclebound lifted weights for three years prior to permitting himself to father a child—he wanted to insure the birth of a strong son.

Nani Plutarch, a young tourist guide of only average intelligence, read Plato's Republic aloud throughout her pregnancy in an attempt to give her unborn child an intellectual head start.

A mother is convinced that her child has a red birthmark on the forehead because she had a craving for strawberries throughout her pregnancy.

These and other myths are not uncommon even in today's world of the Carl Sagans as the war between nature and nurture, heredity versus environment continues to be waged on the reproductive front. Genetics is the science that analyzes the transmission of hereditary factors from one generation to the next. Although this science is extremely complex, its laws remain consistent throughout all levels of the biological phylum, from fruitflies to your family and mine.

In the midst of the scientific explosion of recombinant DNA, the argument of nature versus nurture seems ludicrous . . . and it always has, for both your genetic endowment and the environment influencing its expression are critical to you, the end product. From the same parents have come giants and dwarfs, idiots and geniuses, single births and triple births, blonds and brunettes, etc., etc., etc. Brothers and sisters sometimes resemble each other or their parents; sometimes they do not clearly resemble anyone in the family (what?). For those of you interested in an update on the latest fashion in "gene," read on.

Traits are passed on from generation to generation by a tiny protein structure called a gene. Within the nucleus of every cell in our bodies are chromosomes, composed of long strands of genes, the agents of heredity. These strands are actually highly concentrated packages of DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid). The coils contain the blueprints for the body's production of proteins, which can produce DNA when necessary, engineer the body's chemistry and provide an individual with his or her characteristic shape, size, internal functions and external appearance. Even though each cell contains a complete set of blueprints, not all cells have the same function; some are assigned to be blood, liver, lung, kidney or skin. Given a different direction during development, a skin cell could just as easily have become part of the heart.

Genetically speaking, then, there are only two kinds of cells in the human body: (1) germ cells, which are the sex-determining cells destined for the next generation (egg or sperm), and (2) somatic or body cells, which form all the other body tissues. In each germ cell are 23 single chromosomes; in each somatic cell are 23 pairs of chromosomes or 46 total. Well, what does all this have to do with the price of gold or future investments? Actually very little, unless you consider your future children or grandchildren truly an investment.

Many cultures past and present place a great value on the family tree of a potential spouse and future parent, looking not only at their societal position but at health, physique and intelligence. A combination of myths, fear and shame continue to fill many a family closet with the skeletons of mother nature's mistakes. Family members who are retarded or in mental institutions are not discussed, and this is most unfortunate, for many times they do not have the hereditary problem feared by other family members. If they do, however, this is vital information that needs to be accurate, clear and shared.

Our technology today enables us to diagnose many hereditary diseases that in recent years were unknown entities. This aspect of genetics is called genetic counselling. With accurate diagnoses, families are able to understand the methods of transmission of hereditary disorders and act responsibly toward their prevention.

A word or two about genetic engineering. This is the science of taking genes and reshaping them so that they produce a different sort of offspring. So far, genetic engineering has been practiced only with tiny organisms such as bacteria and viruses. Some progress is being made toward the treatment of hereditary diseases with genetic engineering. The limits of human genetic change are not clearly known, but the ethical considerations are mind-boggling and hotly debated.

After this somewhat lengthy dissertation, what advice would I have for the parents of tomorrow? That they seriously consider looking at, rather than in, each other's genes.

Memorial Services

The sea off the Club was filled with flowers after the Outrigger's first Memorial Day service on the beach. Volunteer paddlers carried canoe-loads of leis and blossoms as the finale to a brief service conducted by The Rev. Kaina of the Kaunakapili Church. Those who attended, approximately 100, were enthusiastic about the ceremony which was initiated by Pat Olds and his co-chairpersons, Dory Maxey and Jack Beaumont. A photograph of the ceremony is shown at right.

From the Terrace

By Jorgen Skov

We apologize for the fact that some of the items we receive do not appear until much later. This is unavoidable due to deadlines . . . so please be patient . . . Prior to his participation in the Boston Marathon, Hugh Murray tuned up in the Maui Marathon with a time of 2:42:44 and captured third place, Congratulations . . .

Dapper Bank of Honolulu president Jack Corteway was all smiles when he brought his five-years-and-longer employees to the Club for dinner. With the infant bank's continued growth even in the present market, it is no wonder the party was a merry one . . . Speaking of Bank of Honolulu, its former president Frank Cooper has moved to Southern California. More Republicans up there . . .

Our able sommelier Cheryl Costa got a workout when the Hawaii chapter of the Confrerie des Vignerons de St. Vincent, an international wine society, held its Spring tasting at the Club. "Wines of the World" was the theme, and about half of the "Confrerie" are also OCC members, as the chapter was formed by Bud Modlin. Fourteen wines were tasted, and Al Goldman added Chivas from the bar . . .

Anyone interested in a wine tasting tour of New Zealand and Australia at a reasonable price, contact Jorgen Skov. The wine society is sponsoring a tour in late October, and would gladly include Riggers . . .

Visiting from their temporary home in Huntington Harbor, California were Jim and Susan Caldwell for daughter Lisa's graduation. Jim is on Mainland assignment for Oceanic Properties, and the children stayed behind to finish school. "It's like being sweethearts again," says Jim . . . While on romance, the dining room was the setting for Sam and Tia Waxman to celebrate their 20th anniversary by repeating their wedding vows. The Monday evening ceremony was followed by cocktails and dinner for their many friends . . . Incidentally, don't forget that the Club is available on Monday nights for private functions. See Manager Ray Ludwig to schedule your event . . .

Bemused residents of Hawaii Kai witnessed a large number of sweaty Outrigger Canoe Club members running around their neighborhood one Sunday in May. The Hawaii Festival of Running and Coca Cola relays presented a challenge to such young, fast members as Tommy Iversen, and such older, slower members as Norm

Dunmire and Colin Chock . . .

It seems ironic that Leighton Taylor, who works a few yards from the ocean here at Waikiki Beach, feels it necessary to travel to Baja California for a diving vacation. But that is what he and wife Linda did in June as guests of frequent Outrigger visitor Ed Jans . . .

OCC members scored big wins at the annual Wheeler Equestrian Show. Riggers David and Jeff Eith, Jeffrey and Leslie Skov and Doctor George Henry, all training at Koko Crater Stables, captured 46 ribbons, including David Eith's big win of the prestigious Hunter Championship . . .

Surfing members will be seeing more of Steve Scott's exciting new product, Sof-Ski, which is a combination surfboard/kayak, made from close-cell polyurethane foam (like Boogie Boards). It's the latest surfing innovation to hit the Pacific . . .

Dr. Sharon Bintliff took part in a month's seminar on Contemporary Perspectives in Medical Ethics at the Kennedy Ethics Institute at Georgetown University . . .

Frank Walton and Bruce Matheson authored articles in the May issue of the Marine Corps Gazette. Both were members of Pappy Boyington's famous Black Sheep Marine Corps Fighter Squadron. Surviving members of the squadron were honored last Fall when one of their planes, a Corsair, was "inducted" into the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum. Matheson's article is a transcript of his speech at the evening ceremonies; Walton's describes the history of the squadron . . .

There is no truth to the rumors that Des and Pauline Brooks are building a monorail system between the Hau Terrace and Trappers . . . And the reason you don't see Tom Selleck's name in this column is that we let Dave Donnelly and Don Chapman use him on a daily basis, but we are sure happy to have him as a member.

WINE TASTERS: Bob Kashare, Kathy Christiansen, Bob Wilson, Julie Wood and Marjorie Wilson enjoyed the "Wines of the World" tasting.

Golfers Enjoy Navy-Marine Tourney

By Frank E. Walton

Favored by a fine day and a course in great shape, 85 Outrigger golfers (including 12 wahines) enjoyed a most pleasant outing on June 2 at Navy-Marine Golf Course.

Top honors in men's A Flight were taken by steady Sam Kaaua with a 76. Men's B Flight went to Paul Leong's 83, while Steve Foytich annexed C Flight with a 95.

Perennial champ Pam Anderson easily won the ladies' trophy with an 80.

The foursome of Chris McLachlin, Mike Dorsey, Paul Leong and Mike Lam were the low net team winners with a team net of 284, just one stroke better than the team of Guy Harrison, Tuck Siegfried, Sam Kaaua and Jack Maguire.

A good mix of quality golfers and fun golfers turned out to enjoy the course, the weather and the companionship. Scores ranged from the 70s and 80s of the top golfers to numbers in the 120s, including one who shall be nameless who shot a 72 on the front nine and then lost his concentration, causing his game to collapse.

A special prize was a gracious gift from Outrigger guest Blanche Simpson of Kent, England, who donated a ladies T-shirt from the 1981 British Open. Mrs. Meile Smith, a guest of Mr. & Mrs. Charles Robertson, won the drawing for this unique memento.

Next tourney is planned for late August at Hickam AFB. Watch your Club bulletin board and The Outrigger.

Still It's Me

I grip the club like Palmer,
Address the ball like Snead,
Relax like Julius Boros,
To gain full clubhead speed;
I follow through like Player,
Get set in traps like Wall,
I concentrate like Nicklaus,
About to putt the ball;
I imitate the top-flight pros
On fairway, green and tee;
In spite of all my efforts,
I hit the ball like me.

Your Kokua Requested

Considerable concern has been expressed to the Board of Directors and management regarding nonmembers' use of the Club facilities, i.e., guests of members who have exceeded their twice-a-month privilege, guests who are on the premises and not in the company of their member-host, uninvited trespassers and members on the delinquent list.

Your House Committee has discussed this matter at length and is appealing to the entire membership for assistance.

We are not asking members to challenge or apprehend anyone. We are requesting that members notify the manager on duty of any observed violation; management will then follow through and take whatever action is necessary.

Outrigger Canoe Club members, this is your club. Your contribution in aiding and supporting our efforts will be greatly appreciated. Please help us to retain our traditional aloha spirit and the free and open architectural concept of our physical plant. We don't want to be fenced in to keep intruders out!

Also, please remember, the bylaws require that members sign the register upon each daily first visit to the Club.

These photographs of the House and Swim committees are fourth and fifth in a series of the 23 committees that plan and carry out the many activities of the Club. The members do a fantastic job and deserve your recognition and appreciation.

Club Luau Set

The annual Club Birthday Luau, one of the most eagerly anticipated events of the year, will be held Saturday, August 22. Cocktails start the festivities at 6 p.m., dinner at 7, great Hawaiian entertainment throughout the evening. The tab . . . just $10.95. Bring the whole family and friends.

Anyone for Tennis?

By Joe Teipel

Who's got the most devastating serve? The most sizzling tops in forehand? The most untouchable backhand underspin lob? These questions, as they pertain to Club members, will be answered at the OCC 1981 Championships scheduled for July 25 and 26 at the King Street Courts.

Events include a place for everyone—men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles, all governed by the 4-point, no-ad system and USTA-rules. Within an hour time limit, the victor(s) will be yielded in a best of 3-set fashion.

So you think your timing is good? If you show later than five minutes past your posted start time, you forfeit the match and get to sit out the tournament. Another point of fairness and timing—please sign up at the front desk or on the bulletin board by the Beach Shop by July 10 at 6 p.m. Then, after a blind draw, on July 15 look for your name with the posting of start times. Only two categories of entry per person, please. And it's free, so why not participate! I'll see you there!

Another upcoming tennis event is OCC vs. Waialae on Sunday, Aug. 30 on the opponent's home turf. Members of both clubs must represent Waialae. For entry in men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles, call Jeannie Lum at 734-4647.
