Hui Nalu takes Kaupiko, stops Outrigger's win streak

by Dave Pierson

"Beat Outrigger" was the banner headline in the Honolulu Advertiser sports section prior to the John D. Kaupiko Regatta held in Waikiki's surf on June 23rd. Hui Nalu, the regatta sponsor, was charged-up and ready to take on the previously unbeaten OCC crews, and the other clubs were "up" for this one too.

Races at Waikiki differ greatly from the open-ocean races, for they finish toward the shore in the surf, thus making the waves and lane selection primary factors in every race. Most paddlers enjoy these races, as they are wide open affairs with surprise winners common.

The OCC lanes were "away from the break" most of the day, which made winning seem improbable at the outset. However, our crews turned in some superlative performances, especially our Men's Masters and Open Mens four crews. The crew of four, steered by Bruce Ames, included: Tom Conner, Jim Kelly and John Finney. They "won" by twenty-five yards, but were later disqualified for a false start.

Winners, 15-Girls— $\frac{1}{4}$ mile, Donna Kahakui, Lissa Guild, Tiffany Bova, Mollie Brink, Reeney Dorsey and steersman Keoni Downing.

Girls, 17- $\frac{1}{2}$ mile: Linda Lalakea, Kirsten Morrow, Kehau Kealoha, Cassie Senner, Tracy Newhart and steersman Alan Rosehill.

The Men's Masters $\frac{1}{2}$ mile pulled the greatest upset of the day as they simply out-gutted the rest of the crews despite being in a totally waveless lane. The crew: Jaren Hancock, Jim Peterson, Hank Lass, Buddy McGuire, Norm Dunmire, and super steersman Mike Holmes. Hui Nalu scored 52 to OCC's 43.

Summer Swimming News

by Ian Emberson

The Outrigger Canoe Club has again been invited to participate with the City and County's Executive Committee in planning for the 9th Annual Roughwater Swim, scheduled for September 3 next.

The OCC customarily provides the outrigger canoe escorts for this event, which begins near the Club, in front of the Kaimana Beach Hotel, and ends at the Hilton Hawaiian Village Hotel, 2.375 miles (3.8 kilometers).

Swimmers are divided into age groups: under age 24; and Masters Division, age 25 and over. The entry fees and starting times are not yet established, but a later issue of The Outrigger and the swimming bulletin board will have the details. However, the date is always Labor Day.

Outrigger places Second in National Volleyball Association Championships

by Dave Pierson

Dayton, Ohio was the scene of this year's National Volleyball Association championships, and the OCC repeated its second place finish, losing only one match in the single-elimination tourney to the Nautilus Club of Los Angeles (led by OCC member Jay Anderson).

There were four pools of five teams each, with elimination for four of each five upon the first loss in a best 2 of 3 game battle. OCC powered past Condor Realty, Columbus (OHIO) YMCA, Dallas V. C. and Drake University. We then defeated the Armed Forces all-stars, the Dallas YMCA and the San Diego Evening College in the best of five competition, before losing to the champion Nautilus Club, 12-10, 15-8 and 15-13.

Charley Jenkins of OCC was again honored as the first team All-American, as was Jay Anderson of the Nautilus Club. Peter Ehrman gained second team All-American status, along with another OCC member playing for Nautilus, John Anderson. Honorable mention All-American honors went to Randy Shaw.

Our team: Coach Dave Shoji, Jim Iams, Charley Jenkins, Randy Shaw, Ilmar Tarikas, John Zabriske, Peter Ehrman, Peter Balding, Scott Rigg, Kahea Chock, Ralph Smith, and Jon Haneberg. Congratulations!

OCC hosts UIN-NA-MARA for the TransPac

by John Langenheim

As for Sweet Okole two years ago, Outrigger will again host a local yacht for the TransPacific Yacht Race. The UIN-NA-MARA (bird of the sea), a 43 foot Farr designed 2-ton, has been purchased by local businessman Neville Crichton just for this Transpac. Originally built in New Zealand in 1977 to be raced in the Admiral Cup (in England), it was subsequently sent to Hong Kong to compete in the China Sea and around Hong Kong races, winning both. In early May of this year the boat was shipped to California for TransPac preparation.

Neville Crichton, former auto racer, has a broad background in sailboat racing. Hailing from New Zealand himself, he will skipper the UIN-NA-MARA. His crew will include two other New Zealanders, Graham Eader and Rhett Jefferies, plus five of the regular crew on local boat Carrie Ann: Larry Stenek, Dean Ho, Joe Dolan, Tom Wilson and Frank Brandt.

UIN-NA-MARA, built of a light synthetic material called Kevlar, stands to perform well in Transpac, and Outrigger is pleased to be able to host this noted yacht.

All Aloha arrangements are being handled by the Sailing Committee.

Outrigger Canoe Club Crews have rolled up a great Regatta win record

On Sunday, June 10, Coach Nat Norfleet's well-trained crews paddled their way to their third victory of the summer Regatta Season, netting a total of 48 points to Hui Nalu's 46 and Lanikai's 45.

We had no story on the Regatta from anyone in the Club, but the Honolulu Advertiser listed the following winning OCC crews: Women Novice B, 1/4-mile: Anita Minter; Mahealani Riley; Robin Ballentyne; Berlyn Hendrickson, and Liz Perry. Time: 3:36.7. Women Novice A, 1/4 mile: Mary Lee Neal; Pua Maguire; Lynn Nork; Kaiulu Downing; Carol Wilbur; Pat Mowas. Time: 2:59.5. Sophomore Men, 1 mile: Dale Hope; Bill Bright; Jack Feher; Murry Nixon; Rick Lemke; Steve Scott. Time: 8:56.6. Men Open (4 paddlers), 1/2 mile: Tom Conner; John Finney; Tim Kelly; Bruce Ames. Time: 4:47.6. Women Masters, 1/4 mile: Marilyn Haine; Geri Pedesky; Sue Oldt; Diana Smart; Gerry Senner; Billy Baird. Time: 2:48.5.

On the following Sunday, June 17, again according to the Advertiser, Outrigger Club crews "won the first two events. . .and four out of the first six to take a commanding lead" in the Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association's Pop Waialeale Regatta at Waimanalo. "In all, Outrigger took seven first places to out-point Lanikai, 57-52 and take the championship." The Advertiser account did not list the winning crew members, but the events in which OCC crews were victorious were listed as: Boys B quarter mile; time: 3:22.6; Women's Novice A quarter mile; time: 2:47.6; Boys 14, quarter mile; 2:29.7; Men's Sophomore mile; time: 9:02.1; Men's Open half mile; time: 4:53.1; Women Masters quarter mile; time: 2:46.6. (No seventh event was listed, and it is possible that OCC crews took only six first places which, combined with four seconds and one third added up to 57 points; a fine record, either way.)

Mountainball News

OCC versus Park Engineering

The sleeping giant came to life yesterday at the OCC mountainball team, which has been a little sluggish in the last four of five games, pounded Park Engineering for 41 hits in a 45-8 thrashing. Playing without 5 starters, OCC was led by Kenny Wood who had 8 hits, 6 runs, 8 rbi's, 1 triple, and a homer. Following close behind was "rookie" Mike Ciacci, who had his best outing thus far. Mike hit three homers, had a total of 6 hits, scored six runs, and had 6 rbi's. Bill Breeden had 5 hits, six runs, 1 homer, and 5 rbi's. Danny West and Stu Brissette had 4 hits and scored 7 runs apiece. Bill Head and Mike Rodrigues had 5 hits apiece, while Head scored 4 runs and 2 rbi's. Mike scored 5 runs; had 4 rbi's and 1 homer.

OCC vs. Bishop Estate

Peter Balding's diving catch for the third out in the bottom of the last inning enabled pitcher Bill Head to record a one hitter as Outrigger shut out Bishop Estate 14-0. Also sparking the victory was the hitting of Ken Wood who went 3 for 3. It marked the second game in a row that Kenny has been perfect at the plate (he is now 11 for 11 in the last two games) Ken also scored 3 runs and got a triple. Bill Breeden went 2 for 3 and Mike Ciacci got a home run to lead the team in that department with 4.

Canoe Racing Boosters and Parents!

There will be a bus to take OCC canoe racing fans to the State Championships at Kaneohe Marine Air Base on Saturday, August 4, 1979. There will be a maximum charge of $3. per person. . .possibly less if enough members sign up. Come spend a pleasant day watching Outrigger crews repeat last year's championship performance! Please make your reservations at the front desk, and make them EARLY. Mahalo!

Members are requested to please:

Log in and out when using a boat;
Report any equipment problems or damages;

Do not use any club boat equipment for their own private boats;

Stow the boat and its equipment at the end of the day (if last user);

Be cautious when near swimmers and people on the beach.

Twenty-three years ago, in 1956, Outrigger's Boys 13-and-under was one of our winning crews in the Macfarlane. Its members were: Paul McGlauphlin; Bobby Beck; Mike Lemes; John Robertson; Fred Hemmings, and Bill Danford.

Dr. Sharon Bintliff heads new nutrition sub-committee

The Food and Beverage Committee has appointed a health and nutrition sub-committee headed up by pediatrician Sharon Bintliff. We may be the first club of this kind in the country to address this timely issue.

Suggested changes include removal of such sugar laden items as fruit pies and chocolate cup cakes and the addition of natural peanut butter, honey, wheat bread, natural juices, etc. at the Club's snack bar. Your comments will be welcomed. Suggestions should be addressed to: Outrigger Canoe Club, attention Jeanne Dean.

Ian Emberson swims the Molokai Channel

by Rick Davis

May 29, 1979, 1:30 P.M. Rick Davis backs his 37 foot motor sailer Kanaloa out of slip 68 at the Ala Wai Yacht Harbor to begin his voyage to Molokai. Objective: to escort Ian Emberson in his attempt to swim the treacherous, unpredictable Molokai channel from Molokai to Oahu. . . Accompanying Emberson is professional hiker Mike Miller. They have flown over to the Sheraton Molokai and are awaiting their escort vessels for a 2 A.M. departure.

We arrive 8:45 P.M. to find Gordon Wilkinson, with his Wailau already anchored, enjoying dinner. He is also carrying support crew and food for the swimmers. Conditions appear ideal with no wind and flat seas. However, we have found in the previous attempts these conditions can change in a moment.

12:30 A.M., we upped anchor and Wailau picked up Emberson and Miller, who swam out from the beach. We then headed south to Laau Point where the swimmers indicated they wanted to start. Seas were still flat, no wind, no moon.

At approximately 1:55 A.M., the swimmers headed for the beach, and at 2:00 A.M. exactly, they signaled they were on the beach and starting the swim. They were accompanied by two paddlers on surfboards. Kanaloa set the course, Wailau brought up the rear. Our first sighting at 6:00 A.M. put us approximately 6 miles west of Laau Point. Personally, I was happy with the progress, but for the swimmers, it was a bit different. From their vantage point, they didn't feel as if they were moving. Molokai still looked very big to them.

For the next 8 hours it was routine; swim 55 minutes, rest and feed for 5 minutes. The only scare we had was between 10:00 and 11:00 A.M. when a navigation fix showed no progress for the hour. We still are not sure if it was a navigation error or if indeed a current did have us in its grip. In any event, we resumed normal progress, about 1¼ mile per hour, at the next fix and were able to relax again.

Around noon, we were entertained by a Japanese Zero which put on a 15 minute air show for us. The inter-island air taxis made us a point of interest and were always circling us.

At 4:30, all aboard Kanaloa knew we had it made. Psychologically, the swimmers had had it. They just couldn't see the progress we were making and were becoming very discouraged. And then—Walter Guild, Jimmy Dean and Emberson's girl friend Coco to the rescue, along with Jim Caldwell, who came racing up yelling and screaming in 25 foot outboards. How can you be a mile from shore and not finish with Walter Guild urging you on? If he got mad because you didn't finish, that would probably be a lot worse than the pain of that last mile.

And so, at 6:49 P.M., 18 hours and 49 minutes after they entered the water, Club members Ian Emberson and Mike Miller became the 4th and 5th persons to swim from the Island of Molokai to Sandy Beach, Oahu. It was fantastic.

Additional recognition is due Club members Peter Wilson, who paddled alongside the swimmers for the better part of 11 hours and Paul Manaut, who was probably paddling, his board for 16 hours. Manaut was so determined to land at the surfing beach at Sandy that he did. It mattered little that the swimmers landed closer to Makapuu Point, and he found himself all alone. Jody Pollock swam alongside Miller and Emberson for almost 5 hours and came out of the water not even winded.

June Tennis Tourney

Rick Fried and Nancy Bannick bested the men and women respectively in a field of twenty-five tennis enthusiasts last month on the Fort Ruger courts. Mens doubles champions: Peter Balding and Rajan Watumull.

Runners-up in the men's singles division were, in order of finish: Balding, Watumull, Jon Haig, Chuck Swanson. Nancy Bannick swept the ladies singles round robin finishing just ahead of vacationing University of California at Irvine tennis team member, Maria Francis. Other ladies with high point scores were Cherry Steiner and Joy Cartier.

Swanson and Haig were the runners up in the men's doubles division followed by Fried and Monte Goldman, Frank Byrne Sr., Frank Byrne, Jr., Richard Coons and Harry Steiner.

More tennis is scheduled for this summer and a sign-up list for the C league is posted on the bulletin board next to the Beach shop on the lower level.

Summer Sports Program Update

by Dave Pierson

Coco Somers, Director of the OCC Summer Sports Program, reports that 60 children, ages 8-14, have been participating in surfing, volleyball, "boogie-boarding", body surfing, soccer, kickball and numerous field trips.

Coco and her able staff; Kisi Haine, Lori Fagothey, Craig Davis, and Gib Bintliff, will continue teaching those skills that have made Outrigger Hawaii's number one athletic club.

In the early 1960's, about 1963, Outrigger Beach at Waikiki (not Diamond Head!) looked like this. Really?

Motorcyclists at Mauna Kea 200, John Beaumont leading.

The Mauna Kea 200

by John H. Beaumont

In May, OCC motorcycle teams attacked the Mauna Kea 200, a two-day, 200-mile, time-keeping enduro. A time-keeping enduro is much like a road rally in which the rider is expected to maintain a designated speed over a specified distance. Along the course are hidden check points that the rider must pass. If he is early, he is docked 2 points for each minute early, and one point for each minute late. He is also docked points for riding off the course and at the end of the two days, he is docked points if any of his equipment such as headlights, horn or stoplight, etc. fails to work. The object is to finish the two-day, 200-mile course with as few points as possible.

May 26th, at 7:00 am, the race started in one of the undeveloped subdivisions about 8 miles up the Saddle Road above Hilo. Riders started two at a time, one minute apart and disappeared into the first trail. During the entire 200-plus mile course we had only 5 or 6 miles of paved road, 20 or 30 miles of jeep road, and the rest was strictly cross-country through the mud, cinders and lava.

The first day kept us at the lower altitudes. Trails were mostly single track through the Waiakea and Puna forest reserves, along the beach near Kapoho and back up the Saddle through the Ohia Lehua forests to the Mauna Kea state park at Pohakuloa, where we spent the night. Our entry fees included the bed, food and beer for the two-day ordeal. Most of the riders came in about 4:00 pm and we had two hours for repairs, flat tires, etc. before the pits were closed at 6:00 pm. The State Park has numerous 6 bunk cabins and a large messhall that took care of us for the two nights of the race.

The second day was the high altitude lava and cinder portion of the race. We started at the park and went cross-country until the top of the volcano. At the top, about the 13,200 foot level, we left the road and headed across the crater through the cinders and lava. In some places the cinders were so deep that you had to keep the power on to down hill. The high altitudes took its toll; a few of the bikes wouldn't run above the 10,000 foot level and some riders got light headed and nauseated up there. None of the OCC riders had any of these problems, so we pressed on. After about 60 miles of riding through lava rock, cinders and snow, we got back down to the Saddle Road for lunch. That afternoon we took a jeep road up Mauna Loa almost to the observatory and then came back down straight across 18 miles of lava fields and back to the finish at the park. A total of about 225 miles in the two days.

This year the OCC was edged out for the team trophy by the Surfline, Hawaii team headed by Dave Rochlen. The individual winner was John DeSoto of Makaha, an ex-professional motocross rider. His brother Ron was second. Next was Malcome Smith, a very famous (in motorcycle circles) rider from California. There were five riders from the mainland and one from Tahiti riding in this event.

Tom Conner was the only OCC rider to win a trophy by taking a first place in the 250 CC class. The point spread was 2 points for the winner, DeSoto, to well over 200 points for those who just survived.

This year's course was considerably harder than prior years but didn't produce any serious accidents. This year there were lots of bruises, scrapes (road rash), sprains and minor cuts. Motorcycles took the beating this year, at least 30 flat tires and numerous broken parts and pieces.

Swimmers invited to enter Maui Channel Swim

Jim Caldwell would like to organize an all-Outrigger Canoe Club team to enter in the Maui Channel race this year. Swimmers must be 25 years or older. Each person swims a first leg of 30 minutes and thereafter, 10 minute laps, with all six swimmers participating in rotation, over a 9 mile course. If interested, please leave message for Ian Emberson at OCC.

RIGGERS

by Jeanne Dean

Surrounded by family and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Harden celebrated their 50th anniversary, Saturday, June 17th, with a gala dinner, here at the Outrigger Canoe Club. Jay and "Muff" met and were married in Glendale, California. They have a son and a grandson who were both here to join in the festivities. Jay has been an OCC member for 24 years and has "chaired" the Judges of Election committee and has served on Building and Grounds, Entertainment and Public Relations Committees. . . Turn about is fair play—Jolie Cartier celebrated her birthday here on the OCC terrace with a luncheon where she gave the guests presents. . . Fay and Ernie Morgado sent warm Aloha and a chatty letter about their European tour. The Azores were a bit of heaven, unspoiled and relatively inexpensive, but not the place to go if you thrive on "night life". London was expensive and crowded; Southern France and Wales charming and pleasant. . . Bill Capp reports that Ted and Mae McCarthy arrived safely in Boston after their air-evac flight from here (Capp pulling some strings again?). . . Reservations are going fast for the next entertainment committee function, a real hoedown with a country menu, for only 7.50—people are already planning their Western costumes. . . Please make your reservations early, for tickets are going fast. . . Looks like the Historical Committee is finally going to get its much needed storage cabinet to preserve OCC's priceless archives. . . Everyone is gearing up for TransPac and it looks like our boat is going to be a winner!

August Swim Clinics

by Ian Emberson

Sign up now at the front desk if you are interested in attending swim clinics during August. They are scheduled for Sunday mornings at 10:00 AM, on August 5, 12, 19, 26th.

Escort is provided for swimmers who want to swim 1/2 and 3/4 miles in open ocean water. Clinic participants should meet at the beach by the OCC swim flag. Gatorade will be provided. See Gerry Senner for details.

Summer Sailing Courses

While the Outrigger's annual safe sailing course is now over, the Waikiki Yacht Club's summer sailing program runs each Monday from June 11 through August 24. This is open to youngsters 8 to 18. Tuition is $40.00 and membership in WYC is not required.

Kaneohe Yacht Club will conduct three-week sailing courses starting June 18, July 9 and July 30. Instruction is beginner to advanced. Tuition is $75.00 for KYC members and $90.00 for non-members.

Interested prospective sailors can also check with the Kokokahi YMCA, Honolulu Power Squadron, Coast Guard Auxilliary and City Parks and Recreation Department.

Coming Motorcycle Events

The next motorcycle event is the Kauai Hare 'n Hound on Sept. 1-2, followed by the Kahuku Hare 'n Hound in early December. Training starts immediately. Come and join our team!
