Sports Afloat and Ashore

Reported by Jerry Ober

This year's regular summer regatta season will be directed for the Club by Fred Hemmings, Jr., who has assumed the duties of head coach. Fred will coach all of the Outrigger's crews through the State Championships on August 5th. An assistant coach will be named at a later date.

The action got under way earlier than usual this year with a general meeting for all interested paddlers on April 30th. Training started the following day, though it had already started for those interested in the long distance races which immediately follow the State Championship Regatta.

The regular summer season regattas have been expanded this year to include three new events, for a total of 18 events for the complete regatta. The new events are: Sophomore Men and Women, and a Men's Novice "B". These new events will allow more members to compete than ever before, and the more the merrier.

The two white fiberglass training canoes have been completely refurbished and are in excellent condition. New paddles are on the way as well as general repairs to the two koa canoes, Kakina and Leilani. Pre-season interest has been high and many are anxious to get with it. This summer, physical conditioning will be stressed by Fred and Dr. Jack Scaff, who will be assisting Fred with advice and programs to attain maximum physical output.

Kuhio Day Race on Kauai

Saturday, March 17, saw the first action of the season for Outrigger paddlers. The occasion was the 8-mile Kuhio Day open sea race from The Coco Palms to Nawiliwili Harbor on Kauai, an event sponsored by the Kauai Canoe Club.

The race was held in flat kona seas quite different from the normal strong onshore wind conditions of that area. The OCC crew took fifth place overall but came in only 2½ minutes behind the winning Hui Nalu crew. This race is paddled by one crew, start to finish. The Outrigger crew comprised: Bill Burso; Henry Ayau; Bob Mist; Kent Giles; Roger Cundal, and Bruce Ames. It was coached by Fred Hemmings, Jr., with the assistance of Dr. Jack Scaff and Mike Holmes.

Volleyball Season in Review

The Outrigger AA volleyball team turned in a fine performance in the Haili Tournament in Hilo early last month. Outrigger's A team came up through the losers' bracket in this 14th Annual Haili Tournament to defeat previously undefeated Central Y for the Tournament Championship. Forty teams, including two from the mainland, played in the 77-game, six-day invitational which is considered Hawaii's biggest volleyball tournament.

The State Single A Men's and Women's Championships were held on Friday and Saturday the 14th and 15th of April at the Otto Klum Gym at the University of Hawaii. It was a double elimination tournament in which the Outrigger Single A's won over the Outrigger Masters (35 and over), who came in second. The Out-

No News is Bad News for The Outrigger

The old cliché has it that “No news is good news,” but that just ain’t so as far as your Club paper, The Outrigger, is concerned.

Conversely, for The Outrigger, no news is very bad news indeed. The only reason for having a Club paper is to let our members know what’s going on in the Club. Not just what has happened, either. What’s going to happen is the really important thing, in the editor’s opinion.

For example: It may be interesting to read, in June, details of something that happened back in May, like a volleyball game, canoe race or Club party; but by then it’s no longer news, just a word picture of what occurred. Of interest, if the event was important, but not what you’d call “useful” information.

On the other hand, news of an event that is coming up, like a golf tournament; a special Club bash of some sort; canoe races or other sports events that members might want to witness—that is news that most members want and many can use. (As one member plaintively wrote: “Why tell me about a golf tournament when it’s all over and I can’t get into it?”)

Okay. So we’re crying for news of what’s coming up. Unfortunately, not being set up like a daily paper, we need to have that news about a month in advance. Like news of what’s ahead for July, in our hands soon after you read this in May—or sooner if possible. And why can’t we put The Outrigger together and get it printed and distributed faster? Largely because that would call for the kind of near full-time operation that the Club couldn’t afford to underwrite.

All Committee Chairmen have been alerted to the need for feeding in advance news well in advance; but they are busy people and can’t do everything. Perhaps if each committee had an official “news correspondent”, news items would come through faster. And if you, personally, have other suggestions, let’s hear them. We want to make The Outrigger a really useful Club paper; not just a report of what has happened.

igger Single A’s beat the Outrigger Masters in the finals of the winner’s bracket. The Masters beat the Central Y for the right to play the Singles A’s once again in the finals, where again they lost to the Outrigger A’s, giving that team the championship.

Tournament players’ honors went to Outrigger team members Dave Shoji and Buster Chapman from the Single A’s, and to Tommy Haine and Billy Baird of the Masters.

There is always intense rivalry between the competing Outrigger teams and this makes for exciting play. This tournament win for the Outrigger A’s over their fellow Club members was the first in this year’s series of tournaments and climaxes an all-out effort on the part of the A’s.

The last tournament of the season prior to the National Championships will be the State AA Championships. The Outrigger AA team has been pointing for this important series on the way to the Nationals and it will climax a fine productive season of play for the Outrigger at all levels of play. This year has been especially gratifying in the number of members who have turned out for volleyball for all groups. Coach Dennis Berg programmed a maximum membership participation effort and was highly successful in his effort from the youngest through to the Masters.

The season to date has not been without its regrettable incidents. Unfortunately, in highly competitive and serious tournament play accidents can and do happen. At the Haili Tournament in Hilo the Outrigger teams suffered the loss of two outstanding players who are out for the season. Charlie Jenkins of the AA team took a very bad fall in a diving attempt to save the ball, which resulted in a severely broken arm which will be in a cast for 6 to 8 weeks. In the same tournament, Tom Conner of the A’s broke his ankle. However, he managed to play out the match. The loss of these two outstanding players will be felt by their teammates.

Participating Outrigger teams in the Nationals to be held April 28, 29, and 30th at Orange Coast College at Costa Mesa, and at the USVBA National Championships at the University of Utah at Provo, Utah, on May 3rd through May 6th, will be the Outrigger Masters and the Outrigger AA’s. Outrigger pins its hopes for victory on the AA teams for another Open National Championship.

New sports- and style-oriented items are now in stock at the Club's refurbished Beach Shop—ground level near the men's locker room—and have caught on well with both members and guests. Among the newest items on display at the Shop are tank tops, towels, swim trunks and other swim and beach accessories, all exceptional values at Beach Shop prices.

Profits realized from this Club service operation go to help support the OCC athletic program, so members who buy at the Shop not only enjoy convenience and reasonable prices, but in addition, give the Club a big assist in maintaining the kind of athletic program in which we can all take pride.

Voting Men Members may use Board Room and Gentlemen's Lounge

Our Directors extend to all voting Men Club Members a cordial invitation to utilize the Board Room for special meetings and other functions which they may be planning.

The only "strings" attached to this invitation are: 1) Contact Manager Riede before setting the date of your affair, to avoid conflicts with regular Board and Committee meetings; and, 2) Remember that the invitation is necessarily limited to voting Men members of the Club.
