SPORTS ISLANDS

S TRACK STRENGTH SPREADING IN HONOLULU
TRENGTH in the sport of track and field is gradually spreading in Honolulu to include more than the usual "big three" of Hawaii track circles, Varsity, Outrigger and Palama.

This year, according to the entries for the Rainbow Relay Carnival, two more teams have been added to the list of powerful factors, and while the newcomers may not figure in the struggle for first honors, it is not unlikely that within a few years, the latest acquisitions to local trackdom will become contenders for major honors. At least it is a step forward and the closing meets of the year, scheduled for Saturday and a week from Saturday should develop into the keenest contested exhibitions on record.

While dopesters favor Varsity, Palama and Outrigger, with particular emphasis on the two former, the Army and National Guard are looked upon as unknown quantities and therefore are attracting their share of interest.

ARMY ENTRY LIST FEATURE OF RAINBOW RELAYS

The entry list offered by Captain Lehman of Army will go down as one of the features of the second annual relay carnival, 89 having been filed with the registration committee last Monday night.

Heretofore Army's entrants have been scattered and have not enjoyed the benefits which come from being well organized. This year Army has stepped out with a concentrated effort to make a showing in the championship meets, and it is possible that a few surprises will be sprung Saturday at Kamehameha field.

We do not figure Army as a first place team this year, but we do look for point winners from Schofield and the local clubs will have to step out to defeat some of the best from the Inland Post.

PALAMA POPULAR FAVORITE

DESPITE the strong showing of the Deans last year when they romped off with the inaugural relay carnival, and even in view of the fact that many of last year's stars are back in fine fettle, Palama is the popular favorite downtown, to win the meet Saturday.

The Pals have organized a mighty strong, and well balanced track and field squad, and will make a fight for points in every event. The relay combines appear to have the necessary speed and stamina to hold their own with those from the other camps, and in all there is good reason to believe that the Pals will finish ahead of the field in the second relay meet.

While we are reserving our personal opinion, we will grant to the dopesters who favor the Winged P's that they stand an even chance to win.

OUTRIGGER CLUB STRONG

THE Outrigger club, while not regarded as a first place winner in the meet, is strong enough to make things interesting for the Deans and Pals. It is certain that the individual stars from the beach club will gather in many points for their squad, and several of the Outrigger relay quartets are looked upon as possible winners.

The half-mile, two-mile, four-mile and medley relay teams from Outrigger are better than the average, and at least two of them are looked upon by Outrigger backers, as winners.

Dick Gartley, Carter, Gannon, Ault, Harvey, Ross, the Cruickshank brothers, Ray Melim, McGuire, and a few other youngsters are running under the O. C. C. colors. Harold Harvey is captain of the beach squad.

The pace setting Palama Settlement junior basketball quintet approached another closer to the Honolulu Junior A. A. U. championship last evening at the Central "Y" floor, when they defeated the small, but speedy Spaldings 23-17.

Sugar Factors recorded its second victory after throwing a upset in the early series, this time defeating the University of Hawaii recruits 21-7, in a farcical contest, marked by easy playing and several comical attractions.

Palama midgets are the only invincible cageball combination in the Junior series, as the result of last evenings verdict, and the defeat of their closest rival, the Delta Frats, at the hands of the Bachelots a few nights ago. To make the remaining series merrier, the diminutive Spaldings and the "lanky" outfit from the Bachelots club, are now deadlocked in third place, while the Sugar Factors and the Aala club are paired in the following position. Then, the University lightweights and the Normals cadets are trailing the parade, the former with one victory to the good.
