whereby enlisted men will be able to make the trip and sit in a special rooting section, Klum stated, if the demand was expressed by the followers at the Army posts.

Cecil Benny was appointed to take charge of the ticket sale for both meets, and other sub-committees were set in motion by Chairman Klum, all of which indicates that the meets this year will be run efficiently and for the benefit of the public as well as the individual athletes.

As a special feature, a tug-of-war event between the police and stevedores may be arranged, following out a suggestion made at the meeting last night. Sam Fuller, athletic officer of the National Guard was appointed to handle arrangements for this match, and a trophy will be offered as a perpetual challenge cup.

NO LONG WAITS

As a word of warning to coaches, Klum stated that the events would not be held up for any reason whatsoever.

"We will not wait for anybody to rest up from one event to another," said Klum. "When the event is called, it will be run off and those who do not answer roll call will be left at the post."

With prospects for a pair of fast and well managed meets it is expected that the fans will turn out in numbers large enough, this year, to insure the financial success of the undertakings.

The executive committee, appointed last night to handle arrangements for the meets, consisting of Klum, Lehman and Fuller, will meet shortly to perfect the details. Entry blanks for the Rainbow Relay Carnival may be had at the sports rooms of The Advertiser or at the Central 'Y' main desk.
