

Surfers Make No Headway In Soccer Contest

The protest filed by the Outrigger Canoe Club on last Saturday's soccer game against the Rangers, which the latter won by a score of 2 to 1, was gently but firmly ousted from the order of business at the meeting of the executive board of the Honolulu Soccer Association last night.

The grounds for dismissing the protest were that neither team had registered all their players. The complaint was originally based upon the allegation that the Rangers had used two Healan players in the Saturday battle at Makiki Field.

Esmond Parker, Fred Bailey and Elmer Davis appeared for the plaintiffs, while the defense was ably handled by Sam Muirhead, captain of the Rangers.

The affair is now, as they say in the best law offices, in statu quo.
