

Outriggers and Hilo Will Clash Tonight At Armory

Championship of Inter-island Series To Be Decided In What Promises To Be Hardest Fought Battle Of Present Season. Langenstein In Game.

By "BOB" SPENCER

WHAT is generally conceded to be the most successful basketball season ever played in Honolulu will be officially closed this evening when the Outrigger and Hilo Boarding school teams meet at the National Guard Armory to decide the championship of the inter-island series. Fans who have watched the performance of the two teams predict that tonight's battle will be one of the hardest fought of the season, and few people are bold enough to make a prediction as to who will be the winner.

The Hilo quintette created a sensation Wednesday night when they defeated the fast University of Hawaii outfit in a game that was a thrill from start to finish. The big islanders kept the lead over Klum's men throughout the contest, but

Benny Braves and Waikikis For Tomorrow

Game Starts At Mollili At 3:00 P. M.; Special Sunday Program

The Braves and Waikikis are listed on J. Ashman Beaven's Sunday afternoon special program this time. The Duck pond demons and the warriors are due to mix it at three o'clock for the edification of the baseball hungry fans of our community.

The Braves are reported to be playing in mid-season form and to have worked all the gimpyness out of their flinging arms and the notes and beams out of their batting eyes. However that may be, though, Bill Inman states that his team is going to make a regular showing against the warriors, and that he is there to remark that while the Waikikis are not really ready to announce their season's lineup there will be big league stuff afoot this Sunday and in the weeks to come.

Sam Ku and South will probably do the hurling tomorrow for the opening spasms of the game.

Ruger Wins In Kaimuki Clash

A lop-sided baseball game yesterday afternoon at Fort Ruger resulted in a victory for the soldiers over the nine from the Honolulu Military Academy. The final score was 11 to 2. The Academy lads showed spurts of fast ball, but were unable to handle the speed which was passed out to them by the army twirlers. The Ruger outfit displayed real class throughout the contest, and if they continue at the same pace, some of the other soldier teams will have to stretch themselves to keep in the running.

Golf Service

Special facilities to care for the spiritual welfare of church members addicted to playing golf Sunday when the whistle blew that lead amounted to exactly one point.

The Outriggers defeated the National Guard Wednesday in the semi-finals and thereby demonstrated rather conclusively that they have the best scoring machine in the Honolulu league. With these two winners clashing tonight it is not probable that there will be many vacant seats.

The general opinion seems to be on the street that the Canoe-men will have to shake themselves in order to make the Hiloites take the count, and it is even predicted by a considerable number of the Crescent City backers that the island title will go back with them to the Big Island. Whatever the outcome of the battle it is sure that the spectators will witness a real game.

The outcome largely hinges upon what the visitors can do with slippery "Skeet" Swan. If they can find a way of smothering the little forward their chances of winning the game will be materially augmented. But it is well to remember that "Skeet" is rather a hard proposition to throttle.

Another stumbling block for the Big Islanders will undoubtedly be found in the person of one Chester Langenstein, lately returned from the mainland, and one of the best guards that ever walked the slippery floor. Chester played no small part Wednesday in accounting for the defeat of the Guard quintette, and it will take a lot of clever shooting and no little luck if the visiting tossers ring any considerable number of goals over him.

The line-ups for tonight have not been announced definitely, but the two teams will probably start the evening about as follows:

Outrigger Positions	Hilo
Nolan .....	Ching
Forward
Swan .....	Grother
Forward
Heggelstine .....	Kaaihili
Center
Bevin .....	K. Kanakaole
Guard
Quick .....	H. Kanakaole
Guard
Referee—Hoch.	