

Quadruple Tie In Casaba League Championship After Last Evening

University and Guard Teams Clean Up On Out- rigger and Palama, and Make It Necessary To Play an Extra Game to Decide Title Award

A FOUR way tie for first place is what faces the Honolulu Basketball League as a result of last night's battles at the Armory. Guard and University, defeated last week, came back last night and put a plaster on the Outrigger and Palama teams respectively. Now all four of the teams in the championship play off are even up with one win and one loss.

This means that an extra game will be necessary to determine the league championship. On Monday night the first game will be between University and the National Guard. The second will be between Palama and Outrigger. With the present tie up it will be necessary for the winning teams in each of these games to meet one another in a special play off of the tie.

In last night's first game, William Chung and Chung Wong were features with remarkable shooting. They shone in the first and second quarters respectively. Fuller showed up wonderfully at guard.

In the second affair, Bittle and Blaisdell staged a remarkable come back. The long legged center for the guards, men heaved eight fine baskets. Blaisdell scored six for himself. They were both well fed by the remainder of the team. Skeeter Swan, after missing his first free throw, proceeded to take his spite out on the citizen soldiers by dropping eight free throws into the old ring and hitting the bullseye every time.

A Good Go

Doc Adams: The Royal school juniors defeated the strong Central Grammar team by the score of 20 to 21. The Central Grammar played a good game, but the Royal school team was superior in shooting and showed better teamwork. The Royal school juniors have a few more games to play and Coach Youlivo Abe expects the team to go through the series without a single defeat chalked up against its name. "Caruso" Wah Teong was the star for the winners. This junior
