

ANGELENOS PUT SHOW ON FOR PALS TONIGHT

---

The Los Angeles basketball team will play an exhibition game at the Palama gymnasium tonight with the Palama team. The regular scheduled game between the Braves and the University of Hawaii teams in the lightweight league will also be played this evening but the game between Palama and Outriggers was forfeited by the Outriggers because some of their players are sick.

Thursday evening, at the National Guard armory, the Palama team will play the University of Hawaii quintette as a preliminary to the Maui-Los Angeles game. The Maui team gained the right to meet the Los Angeles five by defeating the Hawaii team two games out of three. Part of the Hilo basketball team is in Honolulu and it is probable that they will get an opportunity to tackle the champions from the states some time next week.

---