HOLD HARD WORKOUT

The University of Nevada basketball team which plays the Outrigger Canoe club team and the National Guard team early next week at the National Guard armory, is taking no chances of losing any of its games.

This morning at the Y. M. C. A. the Sage Hen basket squad worked behind closed doors. It has a lot of trick stuff that it will not be ready to give a peep to until the time is ripe.

Record crowds are expected to attend the two games for both of the local teams slated to meet the Nevadans are strong outfits. The National Guard team is the Waikiki club team of last year. The team is strong on passing. The Outriggers are rated as wonder shots.

This is the first time that a mainland basketball team has competed here and it means that local talent will get a chance to compare itself with the brand of basketball staged on the coast.
