

Outrigger Canoe Club Swimmer Defeats Glancy In Spectacular Contest

Arai, Third; Takaishi and Kojac Give I. A. C. Champion Strong Battle in Century Race

a losing fight all of the way. Buster led by a yard lap after lap.

Finally Glancy tired, he started to fight the water and his stroke broke. Buster never wavered in his steady arm movement and powerful kick. A long steady stroke gradually pulled him farther and farther into the lead until, after passing the three-quarter mile mark, it was apparent that the local star had the race sewed up.

Arai of Japan was third—fully 100 yards behind the winner. It was Arai that worried Crabbe most—that is, if he was worried at all. A year ago, almost to the day, Arai defeated Buster in Japan. The Japanese distance star finished a yard ahead of Buster in the half-mile race.

But last night it was a different story. At the half-mile mark Crabbe was almost half a lap ahead of Arai—and he increased the distance steadily.

After the first half mile there was only one time that Glancy was able to hold his own with Buster. That was on the seventh lap of the 220 yards. On that lap Glancy fought hard—sprinted for a bit and increased his stroke for the entire distance. The result was that Buster did not increase his lead. But on the next and final lap Buster increased his speed and pulled farther ahead.

Ran to Dressing Room

At the finish Crabbe waited only a moment—and then pulled himself out of the water and ran to the dressing rooms. He was still fresh—or at least fresher than a swimmer is expected to be after winning a mile race with time that was within six seconds of a world's record.

Johnny Weissmuller's record in the 100 meters came as a result of close competition. For the first time in years Weissmuller was forced to the limit to pull ahead. Kojac of New York, Takaishi of Japan and Woodd of Honolulu gave the Illinois flash the race of his life.

He finished with a comfortable lead for the 100 meter race. But the lead came to him during the last 30 yards.

For half of the length of the tank Johnny Woodd, Hawaii's best sprinter, gave the fans a thrill by plowing through the water neck and neck with Weissmuller. But the terrific pace finally told—and Weissmuller pulled ahead.

Before the race Weissmuller announced in the dressing tent that he would set a new record of 58 seconds. His estimate was exact—as the timers clocked him in 58 flat.

The old record was 58 1-5 seconds—and was less than 24 hours old. Weissmuller made it Tuesday night during the trials, lowering his own old mark of 59 seconds.

The Illinois A. C. star showed wonderful form. A long, slow stroke with a very powerful kick. He worked so smoothly that it made the others look as though they were threshing the water frantically in an effort to keep afloat.

When it comes to the 100 meters freestyle there is only one Weissmuller. The spectators at the trials realized this Tuesday night and last night the main question was whether or not Takaishi could beat Kojac. He couldn't—but he gave the New York lad a close run.

Kojac a Real Threat

Kojac finished close on Weissmuller's heels, showing that he is a swimmer who is a real threat to Johnny's reign in the sprint events.

The two events listed above were the features of the meet—but there were others which also proved very interesting.

The 100 meters freestyle for boys under 15 years of age resulted in victory for Tom Ling of the Nuuanu Y. M. C. A. who finished in the remarkable time of 1 minute 8 2-5 seconds.

Ling has come to the front rapidly during the last six months and is the most likely looking prospect for a future champion that Hawaii has produced in a long time. Harris of the Central "Y" was second and Huihui of the Hui Makani was third.

The 100 meters freestyle for Orientals resulted as was expected with a win for Ted Kawamura. His time was one minute 10 1-5 seconds. Kawamura led all of the way and finished with a fair lead. Young of the Chinese Amateur Athletic club was second and Kurumoto of Nuuanu "Y" was third.

anu "Y" was third.

Mariechen Wehselau, Hawaii's champion woman swimmer, showed that she is still a contender for championship honors when she won the 440-yard freestyle swim for women in six minutes and 12 seconds. Miss Wehselau took the lead from the start and kept increasing it until she was 40 yards ahead at the finish. She was not pressed closely at any time. Had she been forced it is believed she would have cut several seconds off her time. Mildred Slight of the Outrigger club was second and Beatrice Newport of the same club finished third.

Des Jardins Winner

The springboard diving, national championships, were held during the afternoon because of the poor lighting at night. Mickey Riley of the Los Angeles Athletic club was second and Clarence Pinkston of the Hollywood Athletic club took third place.

Dave Fall of the Athens club was going strong when he made a miscue during one of the compulsory dives and his foot hit the board, resulting in an injury that forced him out of the competition.

Rather than disappoint the spectators last night all of the divers were on hand and gave exhibitions of the same dives performed during regular competition.

The dives made a big hit with the spectators—few of whom had ever seen such experts perform before. Des Jardins was at top form and got off some wonderful dives. Mickey Riley was another big favorite with the crowd.

The 220-yard service race was won by Dufour of the marines in 2 minutes 51 2-5 seconds. Brotz of the army was second and Eurist of the marines was third.

Walter Spence of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., holder of the American record for the 100-meter breaststroke swim, won that event in 1 minute 19 1-5 seconds, four-fifths of a second back of his record. Tsuruta of Japan finished a close second and Kirschbaum of Hawaii was third.

The summary of results will be found in other columns of The Star-Bulletin sports section today.
