

READY FOR OLYMPIC TRIALS

Bert Simmons, former Stanford university track, football and boxing star, is now in Honolulu. Simmons, who once held the intercollegiate heavyweight championship of the Pacific coast, hopes to compete in the far western Olympic boxing trials next month. If Simmons enters the trials, as his present plans call for, he will probably represent the Outrigger Canoe club of Honolulu. He will probably also enter the shotput trials.