Splashes From Waikiki Pool

The generous people of Honolulu are back of the Hawaiian Olympic swim trials, you bet! Close to 2000 fans saw the events of the opening night. It was a bigger crowd than was anticipated, and for a beginning it was certainly a pleasant surprise for the swimming promoters and backers.

The opening event came some 45 minutes later than was scheduled, but the crowd was happy and didn't mind it a bit. They were probably giving the time to admiring the fine structure of the natatorium. And it looks great, too, with everything completed.

Among the improvements were the colored electric bulbs on each side of the tank, and these served to guide the swimmers in a direct path. It was easy for splashes to keep in their own lanes if they remembered the color of their lights.

Buster Crabbe is the same modest, shy lad. After breaking three records in the 1500-meter grind, the Outrigger ace took a lot of coaxing before he finally faced the movie camera.

Lily Bowmer May is not yet through as a swimmer. Her victory over Miss Wehselau showed she still

HARTLEY IS WINNER OF HILO GOLF

(Special to The Advertiser)

HILO, Apr. 16.—Eric Hartley won the ace honors of the Hilo Country club monthly handicaps Sunday afternoon when he checked in a card of 68 playing with a 25 handicap.

Roy Blackshear, who won the club championship last week after a hectic battle with Bill Low, turned in the low gross card of the day. His 39 and 42 gave him an 81 for low gross honors.

A. J. Lafferty with a net 74 won the Class A, Frank West with 70, won the Class B low net, while Bert Smith with his 71, won the cake in the Class C.

is capable of stepping the sprints in fast time—just 1/5 behind the American record held by E. Lackie. Mrs. May won by a powerful 20-meter drive.

Huihul sounded funny to the crowd and they howled with glee, but the lad won his race and the crowd gave him plenty of applause.

M. Kalili, only a dusky youngster, under the tutelage of Harvey Chilton, has a bright career ahead of him. This lad surely made a fine showing against Buster and Bill Newport in the 1500-meter swim. The crowd cheered him plenty.

Sik Fun Tsui, Y's youthful swimmer, was the reason why the Y boys' medley relay team beat the Outrigger trio. Tsui was some eight yards behind when he started off, but he breaststroked splendidly to give the Y's anchor man an even break with the Outrigger man.

RAPID RISE

The Varsity Grads of Toronto, Canada's world-famous hockey club, was organized less than three years ago. The team is composed of former University of Toronto players.
