

Swimmers Show At Newark Park

Johnny Weismuller's victory in the special 100-meter free style exhibition was the feature at the Olympic swimming events at Olympic Park yesterday for the benefit of the Olympic fund. Weismuller, who is considered the best swimmer in the world, sped down the lane, using the powerful Australian crawl, which has carried him to several Olympic titles. He was scarcely extended, winning by three yards from a clubmate, Paul Sampson, and Johnny Wood of Honolulu.

A majority of the mermen and mermaids who will sail for Amsterdam Wednesday to represent Uncle Sam in the Olympic swimming events, made their pre-Olympic showing. The meet was held under the auspices of the Newark Athletic Club and was viewed by about 5,000.

A special 100-meter free style exhibition for women members of the team was won by Mariechen Wehselau, Honolulu, after a stirring duel with Eleanor Garrati of San Rafael, Cal.

Two New Jersey championships, the first of their kind ever held under the recently organized New Jersey State Championship Committee, of which Carl G. Lehmann is head, resulted in victories for Jack Ready, of the Newark A. C., in the men's event, and for Louise Van Anglen of the Ambassador Swimming Club, Atlantic City, in the women's event. Both races were 100 meters, free style.
