OCC Paddlers Prevail in Championship Regatta

By Jack Wyatt Special to the Star-Bulletin

Watch out, Outrigger Canoe Club. Your friendly Oahu Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association competitors are out to sink you.

Kailua Canoe Club's cocoaches, Beanie Heen and Kathy Erwin, were quick to concede that Outrigger won yesterday's OHCRA Championship at Keehi Lagoon fair and square.

But the Kailua coaches also say that their crews have just begun to fight and that they're peaking for HCRA's State Championships in two weeks. "The states should be our best regatta yet," Heen said. Added Carleen Ornellas, skipper of Kailua's winning junior women's crew: "We haven't beaten Outrigger's junior women in two years. But we sure did today." They had waited a long time for that moment Ornellas said gleefully.

OUTRIGGER, UNBEATEN this season in OHCRA's "AA" big-club competition, was "held" to 101 points in yesterday's championships. "That's our lowest score this year," Outrigger Coach Henry Ayau said with some concern.

Perennial runnerup Kailua finished second to Outrigger with 63 points. "Scores like ours won regattas in past years," Heen said. ...Hui Nalu (56) came in third and Healani (30) was fourth. Hui Lanakila topped OHCRA's "A" (small club) division with 18 points.

Of yesterday's 30 OHCRA events, Outrigger won 14, placed second in nine and scored one third. "I look for it to be tougher in the states," said Ayau, a master of diplomacy. The HCRA State Championship is scheduled Aug. 3 at Keehi Lagoon.

Kailua's junior women prevented an Outrigger massacre. That meant Outrigger won 'only' nine of the final 10 adult races instead of scoring a sweep," paddler Tad Wadsworth said. Included in Outrigger's adult victories were the prestigious men's and women's senior perienced. "We'll be back on top," he promised. Eddie Hoopii, Healani Canoe

HAS OUTRIGGER'S power discouraged its Double-A foes? Not at all. Said Hui Nalu's president Darryl Hara, "Canoe racing, like other sports, has its peaks and valleys. Outrigger is on a high and we're struggling."

Although Hui Nalu is considered a big club, Hara said that many of its paddlers are inex-

Club's first year coach, doesn't mind finishing fourth in OH-CRA's four-team "AA" division. 'I could bench some paddlers and compete in the less-competitive "A" division," he said, "but I won't do it."

Hoopii said that anyone who turns out for Healani practice, races. "I'd rather finish fourth against the big clubs than win in the weaker division," he said.

are rated "AA" (clubs entering 16 or more crews). Hoopii said Healani is on a five-year building program. "We'll eventually get them (Outrigger)," he said.

OHCRA'S PRESIDENT Joan Malama said most clubs are short of paddlers. "Except for the big three (Outrigger, Kailua and Hui Nalu) it's a real problem and I have no answer," she said. OHCRA, and the Hui Wa'a Association, have several small Malama was critical of those high school coaches who discourage their athletes from paddling during the summer.

Surfer/canoe paddler Rell Sunn of Makaha suggested that small clubs consolidate their paddlers't to fill out crews. "What we don't need are more inactive clubs," she said. Mayor Frank Fasi said yesterday that something should be done about the derelict ships

Only four of OHCRA's 20 clubs inactive clubs on their respective which litter Keehi Lagoon. "Remove those boats," he said, "and move those boats, he said, and you could set several more (racing) lanes." Fasi also said that crushed coral, or sand, might spruce up Keehi's rocky beachfront. "Canoe racing is important to our people," he said, "and we want to preserve it."

Outrigger continues canoeing dominance

It has been Outrigger Canoe sophomore, junior men and men Club's season. And what hap- and women seniors. pened yesterday accentuated that fact.

Outrigger amassed 101 points to win the Oahu Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association championship at Keehi Lagoon. Kailua was second with 63 points, Hui Nalu third with 56 and Healani fourth with 30. Outrigger has averaged 107 points and a 39-point margin of victory in winning all seven of the association's races this season. Kailua has finished second in six of those races.

Last season, Outrigger lost to Kailua in the association's championship race after winning all the regular-season races. But two weeks later, OCC came back to win the Hawaii Canoe Racing Association state championship. This year's state championship regatta will be held Aug. 3 at Keehi La-
