Tax help is still available for senior citizens, others

QUESTION: Kokua Line usually prints a schedule of places where senior citizens can get help in preparing their income tax returns without charge. Is this service still being offered? I have been watching the papers but haven't seen anything on this yet.

ANSWER: The information was published in Kokua Line two months ago, several days before the statewide program got under way to assist senior citizens, people with lower incomes who do not speak English and the physically handicapped.

Hundreds of volunteers have been trained and certified by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers until April 15 when federal returns are usually due. But because April 15 is a Sunday, the deadline will be Monday, April 16. State returns must be filed by April 20.

Be sure to take along your 1989 return, the 1989 packets mailed you by the IRS and state tax office, and pertinent documents. To find out the site nearest you, call 523-4545 or 541-1040. Neighbor is landers may call the toll free number, 1-800-424-1040.

Assistance will be given those with simple returns, such as Forms 1040EZ, 1040A and 1040. Taxpayers with businesses, farms or rental income will not be helped.

Q: When I was let go from my job last year, I received severance pay. Must I include that money as income on my tax return?

A: Yes. Severance pay is taxable income. A lump-sum payment for cancellation of an employment contract is income in the year received and must be reported with other wages and salaries.

Q: Are there special tax rules for active duty military personnel?

A: Yes. There are several areas of federal income taxation that apply specially to members of the Armed Services such as automatic extensions of time to file tax returns for overseas personnel and special rules when you sell your home.

You can find out more about these rules by ordering the new IRS Publication 3, Tax Information for Military Personnel.

Call toll-free 1-800-424-3676 to order your free copy. If you are overseas, contact your nearest U.S. embassy or consulate.

from Local 5 who yelled "Go home tourists" while picketing during the strike in Waikiki. No class! Auwe also to their leaders who just laughed about it. Don't blame our visitors for your labor problems. You're biting the hand that feeds you."

Auwe!!!

"Auwe to the MTL bus drivers who took part in recent slowdown tactics. I had to stand in the rain for an hour waiting for a bus and finally had to call a taxi to keep my appointment. You are not gaining anything but animosity from many riders who were inconvenienced by your silly games."

Auwe!!!

"I am a card-carrying union member who thought the hotel workers deserved a raise and better working conditions until they took the law into their own hands with police support."

"We had the green light to turn into the Sheraton-Waikiki Hotel driveway on Kalakaua Avenue but had to wait while the pickets slowly shuffled to the other side of the road. When the light turned yellow, they turned around to cross the roadway again, and the two officers just stood there looking at each other."

"One officer finally had the guts to stop the mob rule long enough so that we could drive through. Auwe!!! I hope you have nothing but 90-degree days as long as you choose to walk!"

Mahalo!!!

"A special mahalo to beach attendant Don Isaacs and the Outrigger Canoe Club crew for rescuing my 78-year-old mother when she was bashed by the surf while naively wading off the club."

"Isaacs, a Magnum-type guy, assisted her to shore and later took her home. Since then, my mother says Hawaii has trumped anywhere as the land of aloha." — Dr. Robert F. Raultis.

Oahu's best win at Haili

Outrigger Canoe Club's Silver entry captured the men's open division and Local Motion/The Shack of Honolulu claimed the women's open Saturday in the 33rd Haili Easter Volleyball tournament in Hilo.

The event, the largest invitation tournament in the country, drew 132 teams from Hawaii, the Mainland and Guam.

Outrigger defeated Lokahi, 16-14, in a sudden-death match for the title, with Kaneohe finishing third and Kamalii fourth.

John Stanley was chosen the tournament MVP and Pedro Velasco was named most outstanding.

In women's play, former UH-Hilo star Flo Alo was the MVP and led the Honolulu entry past Larry's Chevron/Willock's Construction, 15-3, 15-12. Edna Togiak of the losers was chosen the outstanding player.

Other women's winners were:
● Kamalii I of Honolulu over Poi Pounders of Honolulu in the A division.

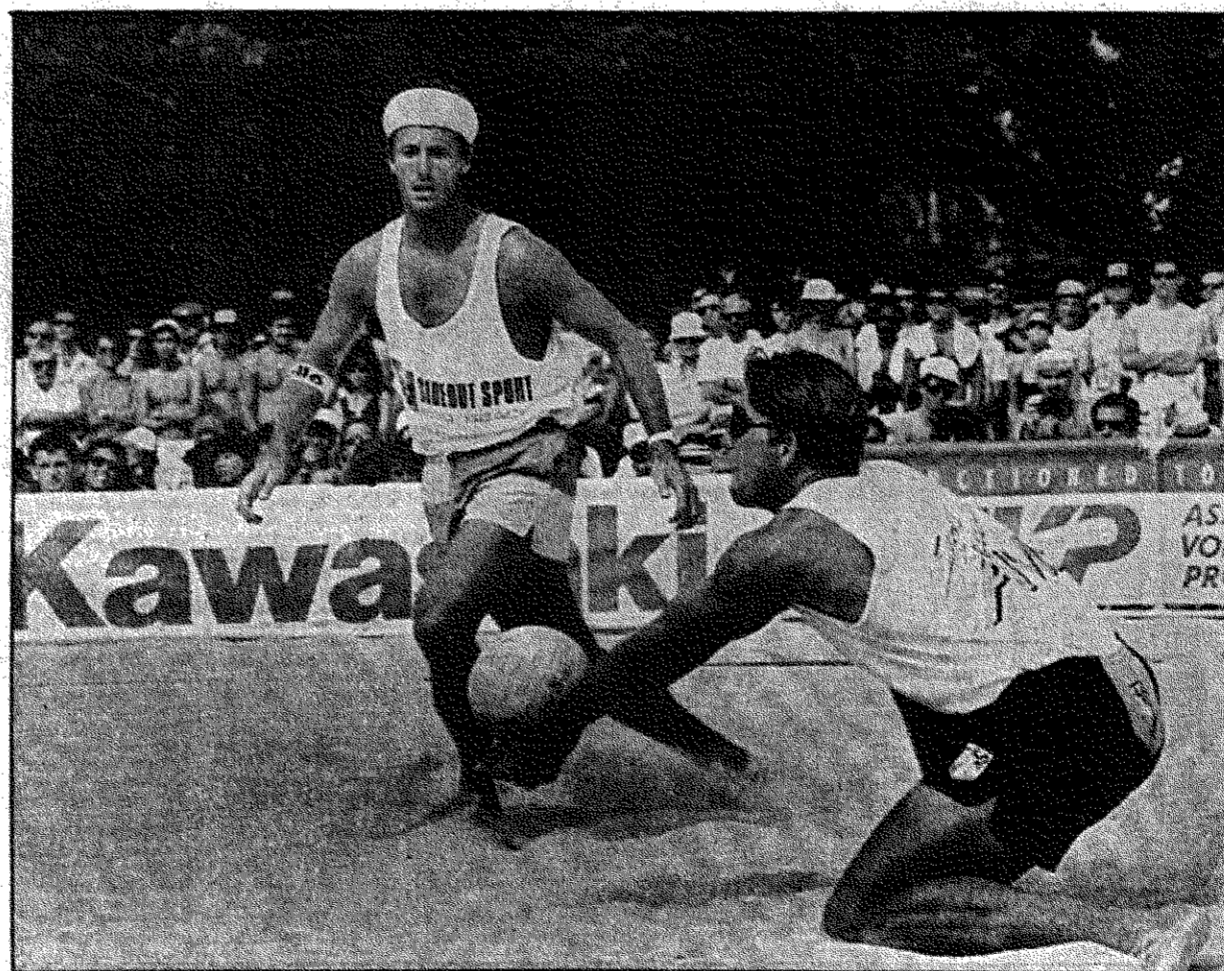

● Molten of Honolulu over the Slamma Jamma of Honolulu, 10-13, 14-12, 14-12, in the novice or B division.

Other men's winners:
● Kaneohe defeated Kamalii, 9-15, 15-13, 15-4, in the men's A to finish the double-elimination tournament unbeaten.

● Us Kauaians defeated Kaneohe, 15-6, in sudden death after coming out of the losers' bracket to force the extra game.

● Keauhou-Kona defeated Legends, 15-1, 11-9, in the masters' title match.

Play began Monday and continued for six days at four sites in the annual slamfest.

Smith/Stoklos win: The top-seeded team of Sinjin Smith and Randy Stoklos split $16,500 yesterday after defeating third-seeded Karch Kiraly and Kent Steffes, 15-5, to win the Miller Lite Pro Beach Volleyball Tournament at Fort DeRussy.

Smith and Stoklos, both of Pacific Palisades, Calif., never gave up more than nine points during the tourney.

Kiraly, of San Clemente, Calif., and Steffes, of Pacific Palisades, split $10,500.

The tournament offered a purse of $75,000.

Angulo, Cochran advance: Defending champions Mark Angulo and Angela Cochran were among those advancing yesterday after the first day of the 10th annual Marui-O'Neil Maui Invitational Wave-sailing Invitational at Ho'okipa, Maui.

QB Club hosts trio: Kalani High School athletic director Al Wills, Radford High's Wayne Ohashi and Charlie Ane, president of the local NFL Alumni chapter, will be the guests at today's Honolulu Quarterback Club meeting, scheduled for noon at the Flamingo Chuckwagon.

Wills is also soccer coordinator to the Oahu Interscholastic Association, Ohashi the OIA's wrestling coordinator.

Basketball tryout: A tryout will be held this Saturday for an all-star basketball team that will represent Hawaii in the Las Vegas Invitational Tournament this summer.

The tryout — which will be held at McCabe Gym at 3 p.m. — is limited to players with high school eligibility remaining next year.

For information, call Sal Barton at 944-1577, 235-1766 or 524-4600.

CAUCASIAN CLUB?

It surprises me that Ron Sorrell, a wonderful surfer and former president of the Outrigger Canoe Club, is totally unaware of the incident that occurred in the late '40s at the Outrigger (Letters, February).

Bill Smith Jr., winner of two gold swimming medals in the 1948 London Olympic Games, had been awarded a lifetime membership by the club for his achievement.

One day, Bill brought Keo Nakama, his old swimming teammate from Maui and Ohio State, to the Outrigger Club for lunch. Keo was a highly respected, many times local and national swimming champion. He also lettered in baseball at Ohio State, was team captain and also one of the most popular athletes ever on the Buckeye campus.

Nonetheless, as Bill related the story to me, he was approached immediately by then-OCC manager Gay Harris (also a former Olympian) and told in no uncertain terms that Smith's guest was not allowed on the premises, and would have to leave. The racial connotation behind the request was manifest.

Bill and Keo left forthwith. And Bill Smith never returned, resigning his membership immediately following the incident.

You see, Ron, like yourself, Bill had no idea such an unspoken, unwritten rule existed. But on that day it most certainly did.

It was known into the '60s that the Outrigger, along with Oahu Country Club, the Pacific Club, the Elks and the Junior League, had unspoken Oriental exclusion rules. And until John Fox fixed it, Punahou was limited to a low percentile of Oriental enrollment.

The Hawai'i Yacht Club and Wai'alea and Mid-Pacific country clubs led the way into the 20th century with open membership rolls.
