

CROWNING GAME SET ON TONIGHT'S CARD

Hilo Boarding School Alumni will Clash with Oahu's Invaders for Honors; Big Dance Follows

Battling to a whirlwind finish, the Hilo All Chinese tried in vain to cut down the early lead gained by the Outriggers and last night's game ended in a close victory for the visitors, the score being 35 to 31.

In the first half, it looked like a walkover for the surf-board Vikings, when they ran up 23 points to the local quintet's 13, but in the last part of the game the Chinese boys had the crowd on their feet with their fast play. C. Chu played a snappy game for the Madarins, scoring 20 of his teams 31 points, while "Skeeter" Swan was in the limelight for the visitors, running up 16 points. The game was rough in spots as both sides were in to get the scalps of their opponents.

The line ups were as follows:

OUTRIGGER ALL CHINESE

Forwards

Nolan, Huffman C. Chu, U. Chu

Centers

Nottage Lai Hip

Guards

Swan, Quinn Chock, Goo

Substitutes

Quick Chang

The game played as a curtain raiser was between the Hilo High Frosh and St. Mary's was a nip and tuck affair with the Freshman nosing out their opponents in the home stretch. The score was 15 to 16.

Tonight's games will be the crowning event of the series as the Waikiki boys are to clash with the Hilo Boarding School Alumni and this game will be the deciding one of the series, the Outriggers having lost one and won one. As all local followers of the game know the Alumni are hard fighters and have the reputation of coming from behind and winning games, so every fan is figuring on a banner night of entertainment. In the first game of the evening, the Luke Field Aviators are to take on the fast playing Paauhau team, and it is expected that this game will be well worth attending. The soldiers are coming in en masse tonight to cheer the soldiery on to victory. After the games a dance will be given with the Luke Field Jazz orchestra dispensing the syncopation.
