

WATCH HARRIS IN 220 IS TIP FROM CHILTON

Harvey Chilton, Hui Makani coach, has been watching W. W. Harris, Jr., of the Outrigger Canoe club in his training work and Harvey comes to bat with a tip:

"Watch Harris in the 220 yards on the first night of the Hui Makani meet May 26 at Punahou tank."

In that event will be entered besides Harris, Johnny Weissmuller, Illinois Athletic club star, who holds the world record of 2:17.2 for tanks.

Chilton declares that Bill Harris has been coming forward all unnoticed and that he has caught Bill in 2:19 for the distance regularly. That is fast work, as fans will admit, and if Harris is actually making time like that he will certainly bear watching. The only question as to Harris is whether he will have recovered entirely from his operation some months ago. Whether that will bother him or not is the problem. If it doesn't hamper him he is apt as not to trim Weissmuller in the 220 yards, for Harris is the one lad in local swim circles who is full of surprises.
