

SWIMMING SPLASHES

As usual, Duke Kahanamoku makes a hit, no matter where he goes. Charles West, Los Angeles writer, telling of Duke's recent exhibition, starts out "Rumors to the effect that Duke is slipping were permanently quashed last night at the L. A. A. C. tank when, etc."

W. T. Rawlins, Hui Nalu representative on the Hawaiian A. A. U., who recently made a trip to New York, has a long report to make about his trip for the next meeting.

"Fearless Duke Shows Class" is the headline given to a story of Duke Kahanamoku's swimming in Los Angeles recently.

"George "Dad" Center, coach of the Outrigger Canoe club swimming team, is giving his mermaids a once-a-week workout in Punahou tank just to keep in shape.

Island girl swimmers are apt to take on weight quickly if after a hard training season they drop their work entirely.

High tide in the afternoon this week has been spoiling what otherwise would be good surf at Waikiki.

Ernestine Renzal, San Francisco swimmer, was out in the surf Saturday, being coached in the art of board riding by "Dad" Center.

The kids are already starting to use the canal, near Ala Moana road, as a swimming pool. A springboard has been attached to the pile driver at that point.
