200 yards boys, junior relay—Hui Makani; Outrigger Club. Time—2:43.

SPLASHES

A larger crowd filled the benches last night than on any previous night of the meet.

The 220-yard Men's Junior event was started promptly at 8:10, and each event throughout the evening was pulled on schedule time.

Masao Mori, swimming unattached in the 220 Junior event, was taken with a cramp in the seventh lap and had to give up.

Kelii Kanoa surprised the crowd, judges and men with whom he was swimming when he won the furlong event. He swims a trudgeon-crawl combination.

Sam Kahanamoku was a post entry for the 100-yard swim. He took the place of Bill Harris of the Outrigger club, who has an infected hand.

Sam's sprint in the final lap of the 100 was something to talk about. He would have had Kealoha had the swim been one yard longer.

The 50-yard event for girls under 13 was unusually close. It was so close that mere spectators sitting along the sidelines were afraid to pick the winner for the reporter who didn't happen to see the finish.

Little Harrison Cooke of the Outrigger club made good again in the event for boys under 15. No one yet, however, has come close enough to Bill Harris' record made in 1913. Bill's record of 26 1/5 seconds still stands. Time made last night was 29 seconds.

The Men's springboard diving gave the spectators a little rest from the excitement and at the same time a good exhibition of work from the board.

Judge Sanford B. Dole, who was for a long time president of the Outrigger Canoe club, presented the medals to the winners last night.

Jim Rogers of Fort De Russy, entering unattached, grabbed off a lot of applause last night for his fancy diving.

"Kewpie" Bill Simerson, the world record plunger, showed off and shoved off after the plunge for distance in order to give the girls who were swimming the special 50-yard back stroke time to rest.

Dies After Bout

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Walter Welsh died tonight following a boxing bout.

Ksar Winner

PARIS.—Madame Edmond Blanc's Ksar, with Bullock up, won the 300,000 francs Arch of Triumph race at Longchamps.

The big race had only French entries. Much amusement was afforded by Baron de Rothschild's Mont Blanc which threw Magee, his jockey, at the starting post, and then led the field throughout the race, coming home ahead of the winner.

When one recalls, only a few years ago, what gala days Labor Day and Thanksgiving Day were in the annals of fistiana, it becomes evident that the fight game is come to somewhat evil days, largely due to the fact that in the heavyweight and lightweight divisions the title-holders are too good for any of the present crop of challengers.

Battling Siki rather put the kibosh on Jack Dempsey's contemplated trip to Europe in order to have another pick at the handsome Georges Carpentier. At all events that little jaunt has been called off by the world's champion. Meantime, after all the talk of matching him with Willard, Wills, and others, the net result of it is nil, nothing, zero, but plenty of free publicity for the gents mentioned.
