CANOE PADDLERS ARE IN TRAINING

Outrigger Canoe Club Will Put Three Canoes in Each Event

The Outrigger Canoe club paddlers are busy these evenings preparing for the two outrigger canoe paddling races in the regatta in the harbor September 15.

Edric ("Big") Cook, K. Karratti and Ernest ("Small") Cook will be the pilots of the three crews in the senior and junior events. The senior is a six-paddle canoe race, and the junior is a four-paddle race. The same skippers will be in the steering seats for both events.

The Edric Cook crew will consist of veterans including George ("Dad") Center, who has been instrumental in keeping the sport of outrigger canoe paddling living for many years. Time and again the veterans have beaten the younger crews, but this year the other crews are doing more training work and promise a surprise.
