

A. A. U. Notes

The annual track and field meet of the Hawaiian A. A. U. showed a net profit of approximately $60.

Bill Melnecke moved and D. L. Conkling seconded the nomination of Mrs. E. Fullard-Leo as chaperon of the Hawaiian Olympic swimming team.

Mrs. Leo stipulated that she would not accept the appointment unless she is acceptable to the girl or girl swimmers who go on the team.

The committee which got the permission from the chamber of commerce to raise the Olympic fund was discharged following the report of that body.

The meeting adopted a resolution asking the chair to appoint a special committee to raise the Olympic fund.

D. L. Conkling was appointed chairman, Milo Vanek and George "Dad" Center, the other two members on the committee, to raise the $12,000 necessary for the Hawaiian Olympic team.

"Consistent performance" was recommended as basis of picking the members of the Hawaiian Olympic team.

D. L. Conkling urged the meeting to give John Watt, hurdler, and Dick Gartley, pole vaulter, a place on the Hawaiian Olympic team.

D. L. Conkling pointed out that the U. S. Olympic committee would refund the expenses of successful athletes to the trials.

B. H. Robbins moved that the chair appoint a committee to watch and judge athletes and recommend a list of candidates for the team to the board.

Mrs. E. Fullard-Leo, Victor Ligda, and Colonel P. M. Smoot were named a committee to judge Olympic candidates and report to the board.

A. E. Minvielle's entry as an R. O. T. C. man in the service swim event caused a lot of discussion.

The meeting held that the word "service" in A. A. U. meets means regular service in army, navy or marines and excluded National Guard and R. O. T. C.

It was brought out that the purpose of service events is to encourage swimming in the army, navy and marine corps.

Minvielle's entry in the service event was thrown out. That left him entry in seven events as an O. C. C. member.

No medals will be given at the harbor meet. Ribbons will be the prizes. This is due to an effort to raise money for the Olympic fund.

A cup will be given Arne Borg by the A. A. U. as a souvenir of his visit. The races he wins will be engraved on it.

Borg's bill for rubber-work as part of his training here was okayed by the meeting.

The 100 meter breaststroke for women was eliminated from the harbor meet, there being only one entry.

The 100 meters breaststroke for service will be held Sunday and the 100 meters free style for service will be held Friday. A 50-meter free style for service will also be held Sunday with post entries.

Post entries will be received for the 100 meters breaststroke for service on Sunday.

The Friday program of the harbor meet will start at 3:30 p. m.

Mrs. John Buffum was added to the list of chaperons of the swimming meet.

Victor Ligda brought up that no diving events were included in the meet and suggested that divers show their ability later at Punahou tank.

Those present at the meeting last night were Paul Rice, W. Melnecke, Mrs. E. Fullard-Leo, Lieut. Col. H. L.

explained the Master Mind. "It is the club's dish this spring."

The Master Mind promises to pull a comeback this year. "A mind may be blank but it is never dumb," is one of the Master's snappy spring slogans. Another is, "Nothing matters but gray matter."

The Master tells you he likes that one. "It sounds so scholarly."

The Master holds classes in advanced mental callisthenics every day. Questions are fired at the wide-eared students with machine-gun speed.

"What is three and two?" the Master shouts at Heinie Groh. "A tough spot wit. Alexander against you," is the form answer.

"Who is Judge Landis and why?" Any kind of a jocular answer to this is correct.

"What is the proper way to address an umpire?"

(The Master makes this tough by adding, "Suppose you can't get a baseball bat soon enough?")

"You can see how I am working to improve the mentality of my ball club," said the Master, turning to our Mr. O'Goofy.

"Trying to harpoon whales in a gold-fish bowl is another way to waste your time," suggested the one-punch person, ducking a whirling left hook.

The Master, going from the sublime to Casey Stengel, expressed the belief that the race this year would be closer than Ben Turpin's eyes.

"I like Wise Counselor myself," admitted Mr. O'Goofy.

"Don't be ridiculous. Sarazen's a cinch if he gets a good ride," shot back the Master.

Now that we are on the subject who did win the last six-day bike race, anyway?

PHILLIES GET GOLD BRICK

LEESBURG, Fla.—It begins to look as if the Braves put the old needles to the Phillies in the deal which sent Ray Powell and Horace Ford to the Quakertown in exchange for Cotton Tierney. Powell reported with a bad knee and it is troubling him at intervals, while Ford is habitually addicted to charley horses of the most persistent sort. Tierney is at least a healthy guy.

KITE DAY AT MILLS

Mid-Pacific Institute will observe its 14th annual Kite Day next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Damon field, Manoa. Prizes will be awarded to contestants who build the smallest, largest and most durable kites.

AUXILIARY MEETING

The women's auxiliary of St. Andrew's cathedral will hold its monthly meeting in the gull room of the parish house tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

PUT OVER

The Hawaiian A. A. U. gymnastic meets has been postponed until April 17.

Landers, Victor Ligda, Col. P. M. Smoot, D. L. Conkling, Wallace Saffery, B. H. Robbins and Norman Ross.

The diving events were cut out in order to cut down costs of the meet—the diving platform being an expensive affair.

The Hui Makani will invite the divers and friends to come to Punahou tank next week and hold trials.

Ligda admitted that the only Olympic diving possibility is K. Makinney of the Outrigger Canoe Club.

It was decided to hold the diving trials at Punahou tank in the near future.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Tarleton, Ligda and Center to arrange a diving meet at Punahou.
