

LOOKS LIKE SNOW in the left foreground, but anybody who has ever been to Waikiki knows it is just the sunbathed sand and the foaming waves against the sea wall in front of the Seaside hotel. The Outrigger pavilion, the Moana hau trees, the Moana hotel itself, the pier, and the buildings adjoining "Heinie's," a favorite beach, are visible.—Star-Bulletin photograph.