Every one of the advance selection lists published in the San Francisco newspapers picked Mokihana, Hawaiian horse, to win the third race on May 8 at Tanforan track, but instead the Hartwell pony finished fourth. Well, that's what makes horse races!

The Baldwin family of Cleveland, O., related to the Baldwins of Maui, has a young polo star in Henry Baldwin, captain of the Yale polo team. Henry Baldwin led his team to an 8-4 victory over the Pennsylvania Military academy on May 17.

Like Edward Baldwin of the Maui team, the Baldwin of Cleveland is a hard rider and hard hitter. But in size he is more like Lawrence Baldwin, for he is far from tall.

"The brilliant work of Baldwin stood out to such an extent that experts of the game came to a realization that the youngster is one of the most promising players to take the place of America's veterans on the Big Four when the veterans pass out of the picture."

It sounds like a writeup about Edward Baldwin of Maui, but it is a writeup in one of the Eastern papers about Henry Baldwin of Cleveland.

The writer has always held the opinion that the Baldwin family is the greatest polo playing family in the world and that a team of Baldwins could successfully defend the International trophy for America against all invaders.

The question of whether golf is injurious or beneficial to ball players will be settled on the same day that all hole-in-one golfers cease to tell about their lucky feats.

Lieut. Col. J. P. Barney of Schofield sends in a clipping from the Dayton, O., Journal showing the relay team of the University of Dayton. There are five men in the picture and four are Hawaiian, namely, Walter Achiu, August Cabrinha, James Spencer and Samuel Hipa. The fifth man is Charles Pedersen, who hails from Japan.

The team finished third in the half mile at the Drake relays, which is not so bad considering that 15 schools entered the event.

St. Louis college, where these boys used to go to school, is well represented.

It strikes us that the University of Washington is waking up by signing Rusty Callow to a five-year contract. The Huskies let Gil Dobie get away and then Ed Leader. If they had not hung on some eastern institution would certainly have grabbed Callow who undoubtedly is the greatest rowing coach in the game today
