

HAWAIIAN GIRL WON CENTURY

Mariechen took 100-meter Freestyle Race: Ederle Out

Mariechen Wehselau, Hawaii's only girl entry in the women's Olympic swimming trials in New York, won the 100 meters open race, the blue ribbon event of the meet, according to the first details of the trials which reached Honolulu yesterday.

Gertrude Ederle, Gotham flash, did not enter the century, having previously won the 400 meters; and Mariechen did not swim against her in the 150 meters, so the two contenders for world premier free style swimming honors will probably not meet in an open race unless Mariechen swims on her return from Paris.

Mariechen decisively defeated the pick of America's girl swimmers in the race, however, winning by a yard from Ethel Lackie, Chicago sensation who had been expected to give Miss Ederle her stiffest competition.

Following are the complete details of the meet:

400-meter swim—Gertrude Ederle Helen Wainwright and Martha Norcius, New York. Alternate—Margaret Ravior, Philadelphia.

200-meter breast stroke — Agnes Geraghty, New York; Eleanor Coleman, Milwaukee; Matilda Shurich, New York. Alternate—Ruth Thomas, Atlantic City.

100-meters (free stylé) — Mariechen Wehselau, Honolulu; Ethel Lackie, Chicago; Euphrasia Donnelly, Indianapolis. Alternate—Josephine McKim, Panama Canal Zone.

100-meter back stroke — Sybil Bauer, Chicago; Doris O'Mara, New York; Frances Schroth, San Francisco. Alternate—Frances Clarke, Philadelphia.

Fancy diving — Aileen Riggan, New York; Elizabeth Becker, Atlantic City; Carol Fletcher, Pasadena. Alternate—Eva Schultz, Portland, Or.

Fancy diving (high board)—Helen Meany, New York; Caroline Smith, Cairo, Ill.; Alma Mann, Panama Canal Zone. Alternate—Clara Hunsberg, San Francisco.

Miss Bauer outclassed 12 competitors in breaking her record in the 100-meter backstroke. The time, 1:22 3-5, bettered her former mark by 3 4-5 seconds.

In winning the special 150-meter free-style event, Miss Ederle was five yards ahead of Helen Wainwright. It was the first time the event was contested in this country and the time, 1:58 3-5, established a new world's record. Miss Wehselau won from Miss Lackie in the 100-meter free-style by less than a yard.

Miss Meany was the unanimous choice for first place in the fancy dives from the high board, an event also featured by the excellent performance of Miss Smith.

Rain all during the tryouts hampered the swimmers.
