

NATIONAL GUARD'S SOCCER TEAM OUT OF LOCAL CIRCUIT

The National Guard soccer team has dropped out of the Honolulu soccer league on account of the inability of the players to be present at practises and games. There are still five teams in the league, namely, the Healanis, Rangers, Outriggers, Schofields and the Palamas.

There will be two scheduled games at Alexander field Saturday afternoon when the Rangers meet Schofield at 3:30. The Healanis tackle the Oturiggers at 2:15. If the Outriggers win this game they will cinch the championship and a win by the Healanis team would tie them with the Outriggers for first honors.
