Second-Half Surge Gives Hui Nalu Oahu Title

By Jack Wyatt

Special to the Star-Bulletin "Break up Hui Nalu!" was the chant heard across Keehi Lagoon's windswept waters yesterday as Hui Nalu Canoe Club paddled off with the Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association's Oahu Championship-their third straight regatta win.

'Yes, I'd say its been a nice day," smiled Hui Nalu CC's President Laura Thompson, as humbly as possible. "Being temporarily on top is fine, but at Hui Nalu, we stress fellowship before winning. But now that I think about it, it's rather nice to have both.' Hui Nalu, displaying strength in the regatta's second half, won five the 24 events, scored 41 points.

BUT FOR THE Lanikai, Healani, Hui Lanakila, Waikiki Surf and Kailua canoe clubs, which placed third through seventh, respectively, competition was intense yesterday. Only a single point separated each of the four clubs. The pebble-lined shore of Keehi

Lagoon Park looked like Tent City,

Hawaiian-style, as many colorful sun protecting shelters dotted the

And the noise? Even the roar from the crews. The paddlers are just letevents and placed second or third in the jetliners departing from the eight other races, for a total of 56 nearby Honolulu International Airpoints. spirited paddlers and spectators. 'The crews got pretty excited,' conceded Mel Kalahiki, the meet's race director. "This regatta serves as qualification to the State Chamting loose.' IN ADDITION TO Hui Nalu and Outrigger canoe clubs, nearly every team tasted victory. Healani Canoe Club won three events, including back-to-back races in the Men's Masters and the Mixed Open heats before calling it a day.

Hui Lanakila won four events-the Boys 14 and 18 as well as the men's Novice-B and Junior-while Lanikai Canoe Club stroked to four wins, in three women's races, plus the Men's Waikiki Surf Club and Kailua pionship. To qualify means a lot to Canoe Club scored a pair of first places each, while Honolulu Canoe kai was WSC's winning steersman Club topped the Boy's 13-year-old

The regatta's two blue ribbon heats-the men's and women's senior races-were won, as expected, by Hui Nalu (men) and by Waikiki Surf Club (women).

"IN THE SENIOR Men's, we're coming closer," sighed Nat Norfleet, Outrigger Canoe Club's coach. "Hui Nalu beat us only by seven seconds. Just wait, we'll get them.'

But the ladies of Waikiki Surf Club really did a job on their rivals, as they beat second place Hui Nalu by a whopping 29 seconds. Shirely Pele-and Luana Froiseth held the stroking position. But stealing the hearts of paddlers and spectators yesterday was Waikiki Surf The six-man crew, consisting of Randy Chun, Kimo Hollinger, Michael Tong, George Downing, Blue Makua, Jr. and Wallace Froiseth, was the most experienced, but oldest, team of canoe paddlers in the regatta. But with all of their knowledge, and their desire, father-time took its toll in the grueling two-mile contest. The veteran crew couldn't compete with the younger men and they fin-
