

A Rivalry That's Hot

OCC Outduels Rival Hui Nalu

"I'm happy that we won but the scoring was far too close for comfort," sighed Nat Norfleet, coach of the victorious Outrigger Canoe Club team in yesterday's King Kamehameha Regatta at Kailua Beach.

"We still have a few gaps to fill in our crews but the youngsters came through for us. We'll be at full strength in a couple of weeks and then watch out."

Outrigger CC edged Hui Nalu Canoe Club by a scant two points to further fuel the canoe paddling rivalry that seems to grow with each meet.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS: 1. Outrigger Canoe Club 48 points; 2. Hui Nalu Canoe Club 46 points; 3. Lanikai Canoe Club 45 points; 4. Kailua Canoe Club 38 points; 5. Waikiki Surf Club 34 points. Twelve Oahu canoe clubs competed in the 24-event Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association regatta.

"Outrigger entered and placed high in just enough events to win," said one confident OCC booster rather smugly. "We won last week at Waimanalo, and we plan to win next week at Nana-kuli. It's a matter of putting your power where it counts."

Both Outrigger and Hui Nalu canoe clubs failed to field crews in 10 of the 24 events, but both scored high in the remaining races to paddle off with the regatta's two top places.

The wind was blustery and the seas were choppy making canoe paddling difficult, but the warm Hawaiian sun brought out the spectators by the thousands. Kailua Park yesterday, looked like a Windward Oahu Waikiki Beach.

COMPETITION WAS INTENSE in the Men's Open-four event. "I looked over at the Hui Nalu crew and they resembled Outrigger East," remarked Bruce Ames, Outrigger Canoe Club's winning steersman. "Two of the four Hui Nalu key crewmen—steersman Fred Hemmings and stroker Brant Ackerman—are former Outrigger paddlers. Beating them today meant something special to me."

OCC's four-man team consisted of Tom Conner, Tim Kelly, John Finney and Ames.

However, in the men's senior race—considered by many to be the regatta's blue ribbon event—OCC failed to field a team and left the winning to rival Hui Nalu.

"I'm disappointed that Outrigger didn't see fit to enter," said Myron Thompson, the Hui Nalu steersman. "I feel confident that we could have beaten them today. Perhaps they (OCC) will give us that opportunity later in the season."

A minor collision, a least four swappings, several false starts, a disqualification, or two, plus many uncontrolled sailboats romping through the race course added excitement to the day-long regatta.

The meet's closest racing came in the women's master event when Outrigger Canoe Club nipped Kailua Canoe Club by less than one second. Waikiki Surf Club topped the women's senior event.

Hui Nalu fans Julie Franco and Lesley Iltzky (bottom photo) had a lot to cheer about, too, as their club scored 46 points.

Crabb to coach isle in PacRim

Tony Crabb, a former all-American and professional volleyball player with a long list of coaching successes, has been chosen to lead the Big Isle boys' team into this summer's Pacific Rim International Junior Volleyball Championships.

And, Crabb said, one of his main concerns now is to assemble as much local talent as possible, keeping Big Island standouts here rather than losing them to the Honolulu team he has coached since 1974.

Crabb will kick off his quest for a Big Isle PacRim title with a meeting for all prospective candidates Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the MPR room at Hall Church. All boys aged 20 and under are eligible.

Crabb's appointment was announced this week by Lyndell Lindsey of the tournament committee. He brings some 17 years of experience as a volleyball player and coach, a career that dates back to his prep days at Punahou in 1962.

Crabb went on from Punahou to play for University of Oregon and was a member of Outrigger Canoe Club's 1967 and 1975 National AAU champion squads.

In 1968, he was named a collegiate all-American at Church College (now BYU-Hawaii) and was selected as an alternate to the U.S. Olympic team the same year.

He made the U.S. national men's team in 1970, was an alternate to the U.S. team at the 1971 Pan American Games and was again an all-American choice in 1975 as a member of the Outrigger national championship team.

In 1975 he joined the professional ranks and played for the Southern California Bangers.

Crabb launched his coaching career in 1968 with the Church College junior varsity and headed the Kailua High School program from 1969 until 1972. In 1973, he headed Kamehameha Schools to second place in the state and has coached the Hawaii All-Stars in the PacRim since 1974. His 1977 Outrigger 18-under team finished third in the nation and he was chosen to the U.S. Olympic staff in 1978.
